Maurya's Seed Cathleen Wright-Lewis, 2001-08 Black Literate Lives Maisha T. Fisher, 2008-12-01

Black Literate Lives offers an innovative approach to understanding the complex and multi dimensional perspectives of Black literate lives in the United States. Author Maisha Fisher reinterprets historiographies of Black self determination and self reliance to powerfully interrupt stereotypes of African American literacy practices. The book expands the standard definitions of literacy practices to demonstrate the ways in which minority groups keep their cultures and practices alive in the face of oppression both inside and outside of schools. This important addition to critical literacy studies demonstrates the relationship of an expanded definition of literacy to self determination and empowerment. Exposes unexpected sources of Black literate traditions of popular culture and memory. Reveals how spoken word poetry open mic events and everyday cultural performances are vital to an understanding of Black literacy in the 21st century. By centering the voices of students, activists and community members whose creative labors past and present continue the long tradition of creating cultural forms that restore collective Black Literate Lives ultimately uncovers memory while illuminating the literate and literary contributions of Black people in America.

Maurya's Seed - Why Hope Lives Behind Project Walls Cathie Wright-Lewis, 2021-09-27

As told to the author in a series of spiritual experiences, Maurya's Seed is an Afro futuristic allegory portraying a family of Black community activists living in the Brown's Village section of Brooklyn exactly one hundred years after the signing of The Emancipation Proclamation. An unspoken centennial anniversary of revolution 1963 the perfect setting to depict the continual battle against slavery African Americans endure and the only answer to the question how do we survive when it seems all is lost. Passion unknowingly is a direct descendant of Maurya a legendary African captive best remembered for her ability to escape Gourmand a popular evil slave trader turned slave master. As Passion's ancestor Maurya spiritually guides her through her adventurous and explosive life. Passion is the epitome of black female heroism is the passion of Brown's Village. Her husband Justice symbolizes what happens to justice in the Black community. Justice is murdered and Passion is raising her four children with the assistance of a unique extended family. In the name of Civil Rights she is one of the few parents brave enough to fight for integration and have her children bussed to school in a white neighborhood where they are not welcome. Ironically at the very same time one of her children is being declared the first casualty of war in her beloved Brown's Village community.
