Leigh Anderson, Janet W. Looney, 2002-01-01 While a universal definition of progress has proved elusive measures of progress have been defined and grouped into the broad areas of material wealth social relations technical capacity and moral aesthetic and intellectual sensibilities However not until the Progress Project whose results are gathered here has the impact of progress on public policy in these realms been systematically explored In this volume noted scholars in economics government education technology literature culture and religion among other fields discuss the meaning and measurement of progress in their areas of specialty They assess particular policies that have either promoted or retarded progress and provide recommendations for policy processes or instruments that better reflect the nature of forward movement in the current era Making Progress is an important contribution to both the theoretical and practical literature on public policy it is a resource for scholars and students as well as a guide for policymakers analysts and advocates who help craft those policies in the name of progress Divine Transcendence and the Culture of Change David H. Hopper, 2011 Hopper s historical theological study not only illuminates the past but also sheds light on the tumultuous present revealing how a recaptured understanding of God's transcendence can confront the thoughtless tolerance and inward facing spiritual consumerism of our own time and radically transform both theology and culture today Book Jacket

The True and Only Heaven: Progress and Its Critics Christopher Lasch, 1991-09-17 A major and challenging work Provocative and certain to be controversial Will add important new dimension to the continuing debate on the decline of liberalism William Julius Wilson New York Times Book Review Can we continue to believe in progress In this sobering analysis of the Western human condition Christopher Lasch seeks the answer in a history of the struggle between two ideas one is the idea of progress an idea driven by the conviction that human desire is insatiable and requires ever larger production forces Opposing this materialist view is the idea that condemns a boundless appetite for more and better goods and distrusts improvements that only feed desire Tracing the opposition to the idea of progress from Rousseau through Montesquieu to Carlyle Max Weber and G D H Cole Lasch finds much that is desirable in a turn toward moral conservatism toward a lower middle class culture that features egalitarianism workmanship and loyalty and recognizes the danger of resentment of the material goods of others

The Idea of Progress in Eighteenth-century Britain David Spadafora, James Spada, 1990-01-01 The idea of progress stood at the very center of the intellectual world of eighteenth century Britain closely linked to every major facet of the British Enlightenment as well as to the economic revolutions of the period Drawing on hundreds of eighteenth century books and pamphlets David Spadafora here provides the most extensive discussion ever written of this prevailing sense of historical optimism

English Culture and the Decline of the Industrial Spirit, 1850-1980 Martin J. Wiener, 2004-09-13 Drawing upon a wide array of sources Martin Wiener explores the English ambivalence to modern industrial society

Progress in Theology Gijsbert van den Brink, Rik Peels, Bethany Sollereeder, 2024-07-10 This book explores the intriguing relationship between theology science and the ideal of progress from a variety of perspectives While seriously discussing the obstacles and pitfalls related to the notion of progress in theology it argues that there are in fact many different kinds of progress in theology It considers how this sheds positive light on what theologians do and suggests that other disciplines in the humanities can equally profit from these ideas The chapters provide tools for making further progress in theology featuring detailed case studies to show how progress in theology works in practice and connecting with the role and place of theology in the University The book rearticulates in multiple ways theology's distinctive voice at the interface of science and religion

Futures After Progress Chloe Ahmann, 2024-05-14 How do people live in a time after promises of progress have revealed themselves to be empty In Futures after Progress anthropologist Chloe Ahmann examines the grave lethal threat posed by long term air pollution in Baltimore MD Focusing on the industrialized community of Curtis Bay ranked first in the country for air pollutants released from stationary sources she examines competing visions of the future and the severe human toll they can take Examining the rifts between white and Black communities advocates of big industry and environmental activists and older and younger generations Ahmann shows how this community has become a battleground in which lives lost to pollution are seen by some as a regrettable side effect on the road to economic renewal A rigorous moving study of environmental risk and disaster this book offers deep insights for our current condition and the possibility of a postindustrial world

Europe 1850-1914 Jonathan Sperber, 2014-01-14 This innovative survey of European history from the middle of the nineteenth century to the outbreak of the First World War tells the story of an era of outward tranquillity that was also a period of economic growth social transformation political contention and scientific and artistic innovation During these years the foundations of our present urban industrial society were laid the five Great Powers vied in peaceful and violent fashion for dominance in Europe and throughout the world and the darker forces that were to dominate the twentieth century violent nationalism totalitarianism racism ethnic cleansing began to make themselves felt Jonathan Sperber sets out developments in this period across the entire European continent from the Atlantic to the Urals from the Baltic to the Mediterranean To help students of European history grasp the main dynamics of the period he divides the book into three overlapping sections covering the periods from 1850 75 1871 95 and 1890 1914 In each period he identifies developments and tendencies that were common in varying degrees to the whole of Europe while also pointing the unique qualities of specific regions and individual countries Throughout his argument is supported by illustrative material tables charts case studies and other explanatory features and there is a detailed bibliography to help students to explore further in those areas that interest them

Progress and Regression Rahel Jaeggi, 2025-10-07 In the tradition of the great dialecticians Rahel Jaeggi revitalizes the idea of progress by confronting its opposite regression Reckoning with growing inequality ecological erosion and assaults on critical thinking and reason itself Jaeggi argues for a vision of progress capable of transcending difference and promoting universal welfare Lies My Teacher Told Me James W. Loewen, 2008 Criticizes the way history is presented in current textbooks and suggests a more accurate approach to teaching American history

Modernity and Progress Ronald Berman, 2007-03-18 From the 1920s and for a generation thereafter understandings of time place and civilization were subjected to a barrage of new conceptions Berman probes the work of three writers Hemingway Fitzgerald and Orwell who wrestled with one or more of these issues in ways of lasting significance At stake for each is a sense of what constitutes true civilization Back cover
