

Assessment, record-keeping and evaluating progress in the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

This guidance replaces any previous guidance issued by Islington Early Years Foundation Stage Team. It sets out:

- The principles which underpin assessment and record-keeping processes within the EYFS framework
- The requirements set out in the EYFS framework with regard to observation, assessment and record-keeping
- Advice on how to gather the required range of evidence
- Advice on how to make valid assessments of children's development and learning on entry to the school or setting and throughout the EYFS in order to plan for children's next steps in learning
- Guidance on using information gathered through tracking and evaluating the progress children make in the EYFS as a key part of the school/setting self-improvement cycle and in preparation for Ofsted, including completing the Ofsted self-evaluation form

The principles: the four key themes of the EYFS - A Unique Child; Positive Relationships; Enabling Environments and Learning and Development - have implications for the way in which schools, settings and individuals working with young children approach assessment and record-keeping.

Schools and settings should:

- Recognise that children are competent, influential and should be involved in their own assessment
- Work with all other adults important to the child
- Recognise each child's individual route to learning
- Build a broad picture of the child which ranges widely, incorporating and interconnecting all the areas of learning and development

EYFS requirements: practitioners must:

- Consider the individual needs, interests, and stage of development of each child in their care, and must use this information to plan a challenging and enjoyable experience for each child in all of the areas of learning.
- Reflect on the different ways that children learn and reflect these in their practice.
