Towards a regional political class? Klaus Stolz, 2013-07-19 Focussing on professional politicians Klaus Stolz investigates the interrelationship between political career patterns and political institutions in two of the most widely discussed cases of regionalism Catalonia and Scotland The study deals with two different yet closely related sets of questions Firstly how do professional politicians pursue their careers in the regional context And secondly how do they shape and reshape the political institutions in which they pursue these careers The monograph is based on extensive empirical research including a comprehensive data set on the careers of Catalan and Scottish parliamentarians systematic surveys of regional representatives as well as in depth interviews of a wide range of politicians and experts in both regions Exploring the effects of political professionalisation on regional democracy Stolz goes way beyond traditional studies of regionalism and decentralization while his focus on the regional career arena introduces a much needed territorial dimension to the study of political careers Rich original data innovative theoretical concepts and a strictly comparative approach are the basis for a study that considerably deepens and enhances our understanding of the tremendous political changes both Catalonia and Scotland are undergoing Thus the book is of interest to the still growing number of scholars concerned with devolution in the UK the Spanish autonomous communities as well as to those interested in regional politics and regionalisation in general Furthermore its theoretical focus makes it highly relevant for scholars working on political careers political professionalisation and democratic theory

Anatomy of a Professionalization Project Charlotte

Woods, 2014-10-23 Public services have been a target for reform in Western style democracies for more than three decades. This volume documents and examines the case of School Business Managers (SBMs) as an example of a growing but scarcely acknowledged phenomenon: the government-backed creation of new professions within the public sector for groups of support workers not formally recognised as such. The dawn of the millennium saw the beginning of an unprecedented professional project as the New Labour government set about the systematic creation of a pool of suitably skilled and qualified School Business Managers in England. The Government's stated purpose was to support educational leaders in meeting mounting public expectations for state schools in increasingly complex and challenging circumstances. Although the war stories of lead professionals such as teachers and physicians in the context of reform have been extensively documented, the contribution of the army of less high status professionals in public service institutions is poorly understood. Drawing on first hand accounts of people involved in bringing the SBM professional project about and those whose professional lives the project sought to target, the SBMs themselves, the book turns the spotlight on an under-recognised group. It explores the purposes and outcomes of the professionalization initiative, comparing the process to the professional projects of SBMs in other countries and to parallel projects within the health sector. Quantum Leadership Tim Porter-O'Grady, Kathy
