Making Love Modern Nina Miller, 1999-01-21 In the teens and twenties New York was home to a rich variety of literary subcultures Within these intermingled worlds gender lines and other boundaries were crossed in ways hardly imaginable in previous decades Among the bohemians of Greenwich Village the sophisticates of the Algonquin Round Table and the literati of the Harlem Renaissance certain women found fresh powerful voices through which to speak and write Edna St Vincent Millay and Dorothy Parker are now best remembered for their colorful lives Genevieve Taggard Gwendolyn Bennett and Helene Johnson are hardly remembered at all Yet each made a serious literary contribution to the meaning of modern femininity relationship and selfhood Making Love Modern uncovers the deep historical sensitivity and interest of these women s love poetry Placing their work in the context of subcultures nested within national culture Nina Miller explores the tensions that make this literature so rewarding for contemporary readers A poetry of intimate expression it also functioned powerfully as public assertion The writers themselves were high profile embodiments of femininity the local representatives of New Womanhood within their male centered subcultural worlds Making Love Modern captures the literary lives of these women as well as the complex subcultures they inhabited Harlem the Village and glamorous Midtown In the end the book is as much a study of modernist New York as of women s love poetry during modernism

Hot Equations Jesse S. Cohn, 2024-04-23 Inspired by the new diversity of science fiction fantasy and horror in the twenty first century Hot Equations Science Fantasy and the Radical Imagination on a Troubled Planet confronts the kinds of literary and political realism that continue to suppress the radical imagination Alluding both to the ongoing climate catastrophe and to Tom Godwin s The Cold Equations that famous touchstone of hard science fiction Hot Equations reads the crises of our post normal moment via works that increasingly subvert genre containment and spill out into the public sphere Drawing on archives and contemporary theory author Jesse S Cohn argues that these imaginative works of science fiction fantasy and horror strike at the very foundations of modernity calling its basic assumptions into question They threaten the modern order with a simultaneously terrible and promising anarchy pointing to ways beyond the present medical ecological and political crises of pandemic climate change and rising global fascism Examining books ranging from well known titles like The Hunger Games and The Caves of Steel to newer works such as Under the Pendulum Sun and The Stone Sky Cohn investigates the ways in which science fiction fantasy and horror address contemporary politics social issues and more The cold equations that established normal life in the modern world may be in shambles Cohn suggests but a New Black Fantastic makes it possible for the radical imagination to glimpse viable possibilities on the other side of crisis
