Proletarian Journey:

Proletarian Journey: New England, Gastonia, Moscow Fred Erwin Beal, 1937 Proletarian Journey Fred E. Beal, 1971-03-21 Proletarian Journey Fred Erwin 1896-1954 Beal, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Gastonia 1929 John A. Salmond, 2014-10-27 Of the wave of labor strikes that swept through the South in 1929 the one at the Loray Mill in Gastonia North Carolina is perhaps the best remembered In Gastonia 1929 John Salmond provides the first detailed account of the complex events surrounding the strike at the largest textile mill in the Southeast His compelling narrative unravels the confusing story of the shooting of the town s police chief the trials of the alleged killers the unsolved murder of striker Ella May Wiggins and the strike leaders conviction and subsequent flight to the Soviet Union Describing the intensifying climate of violence in the region Salmond presents the strike within the context of the southern vigilante tradition and as an important chapter in American economic and labor history in the years after World War I He draws particular attention to the crucial role played by women as both supporters and leaders of the strike and he highlights the importance of race and class issues in the unfolding of events Proletarian journey Fred Erwin Beal, 1971 The Malay Labourer Zawawi Ibrahim, 1998 This book explores the ethnography of the emerging proletarian social consciousness and resistance as Malay peasants from east coast peninsular Malaysia find themselves reconstituted as a class not only as an economic category but also as a community in plantation society The plantation as a window to capitalism serves as an excellent small scale empirical ambience and testing ground to probe how Malays respond to both industrial class status authority and wage labouring work The author subsequently analyses how the nuances of Malay proletarian moral economy and dignity are articulated with their notions of class culture ethnicity and humanism LIFE , 1948-06-07 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today s people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use Vital Contact Patrick Chura, 2013-11-05 The book analyzes American literature about middle or upper class characters who voluntarily descend the class ranks to experience vital contact by living or associating temporarily with the poor The motivations of these characters and historical figures such as John Reed and Walter Wyckoff range from straightforward bohemian slumming among the exotics to more complex and psychologically wrought investigations of cross class empathy The study begins by charting downclasing processes in works of canonical nineteenth century authors including Melville Hawthorne James Howells and Jewett It then undertakes an original analysis of John Reed s involvement with the 1913 Paterson silk workers strike as a context for understanding Ernest Poole s now forgotten but then best selling fictionalization of the strike in his novel The Harbor In other richly historicized chapters it analyzes distillations of class radicalism in several works by Upton Sinclair in the early drama of Eugene O Neill and in feminist novels of the 1910s by Elia Peattie and Clara Laughlin The concluding chapter looks at sophisticated treatments of vital contact in fiction of the 1930s by Dos Passos Steinbeck and Richard Wright The book provides Americanists with important new ways of thinking about various forms of class identification as they developed in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries

LIFE, 1948-06-07 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today s people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use

In a Generous Spirit Christina Looper Baker, 1996 Dorothy Markey s family and culture prepared her to be a proper southern lady Yet Markey broke free of her cultural bonds and became instead a feminist a communist and under the pen name Myra Page a radical journalist and novelist Her activism on behalf of social justice racial equality and women s rights spanned the 1920s through her death in 1993 Page s work carried her far from her Virginia home to Moscow Mexico the rural South and New York As a journalist she wrote for the Daily Worker the New Masses Working Woman and Southern Worker Her novels captured workers struggles in an authentic voice The Gathering Storm Daughter of the Hills and Moscow Yankee With consummate skill Christina Baker weaves together historical research her own and others conversations with Page and Page s letters and other writings The resulting narrative is a vivid recreation of the life of an uncommon woman and her more than seventy years of striving for the things she believed in Spatial Revolution Christina E. Crawford, 2022-02-15 Spatial Revolution is the first comparative parallel study of Soviet architecture and planning to create a narrative arc across a vast geography The narrative binds together three critical industrial residential projects in Baku Magnitogorsk and Kharkiv built during the first fifteen years of the Soviet project and followed attentively worldwide after the collapse of capitalist markets in 1929 Among the revelations provided by Christina E Crawford is the degree to which outside experts participated in the construction of the Soviet industrial complex while facing difficult topographies near impossible deadlines and inchoate theories of socialist space making Crawford describes how early Soviet architecture and planning activities were kinetic and negotiated and how questions about the proper distribution of people and industry under socialism were posed and refined through the construction of brick and mortar steel and concrete projects living laboratories that tested alternative spatial models As a result Spatial Revolution answers important questions of how the first Soviet industrialization drive was a catalyst for

Stalin In Power Robert C Tucker,1992-05-05 Explains the motivations personality and actions of the man under whose rulership millions of Russians perished

Silent Witnesses Jacqueline Ellis,1998 This book shows how the silence of working class women in American culture is constructed and reinforced in photographs by Dorothea Lange and Marion Post Wolcott and in writing by Meridel Le Sueur Nevertheless using work by Esther Bubley and Tillie Olsen to suggest how working class female identity might be represented in more complicated ways Silent Witnesses also reveals a cultural and political context where the creative and intellectual power of individual working class women can be fully expressed

The Anti-Communist Manifestos: Four Books That Shaped the Cold War John V. Fleming,2010-09-06 The books altered the course of history the lives behind them have the dark fascination of fiction The subject of The Anti Communist Manifestos is four influential books that informed the great political struggle known as the Cold War Darkness at Noon 1940 by Arthur Koestler a Hungarian journalist and polymath intellectual Out of the Night 1941 by Jan Valtin a German sailor and labor agitator I Chose Freedom 1946 by Victor Kravchenko a Soviet engineer and Witness 1952 by Whittaker Chambers an American journalist The authors were ex Communist Party members whose bitter disillusionment led them to turn on their former allegiance in literary fury Koestler was a rapist Valtin a thug Kravchenko though not a spy was forced to live like one in America Chambers was a prophet without honor in his own land Three of the four had been underground espionage agents of the Comintern All contemplated suicide and two of them achieved it John V Fleming s humane and ironic narrative of these grim lives reveals that words were the true driving force behind the Cold War

Battling Nell Alexander S. Leidholdt,2009-11 A longtime columnist for the Raleigh News and Observer Cornelia Battle Lewis earned a national reputation in the 1920s and 1930s for her courageous advocacy on behalf of women s rights African Americans children and labor unions Late in her life however after fighting mental illness Lewis reversed many of her stances and railed against the liberalism she had spent her life advancing In Battling Nell Alexander S Leidholdt tells the compelling and ultimately tragic life story of this groundbreaking journalist against the backdrop of the turbulent post Reconstruction Jim Crow South and speculates about the cause of her extraordinary transformation The daughter of North Carolina s most prominent public health official Lewis grew up in Raleigh but her experiences at Smith College in Massachusetts and later in France during World War I led her to question the prevailing racial attitudes and gender roles of her native region In 1920 Lewis began her storied career with the News and Observer Inspired by H L Mencken s scathing criticism of the South she soon established herself as the region s leading female liberal journalist Her column Incidentally attacked the Ku Klux Klan lobbied against the exploitation of mill workers defended strikers during the notorious communist organized Gastonia labor violence mocked religious fundamentalists who fought the teaching of evolution and decried lynch law A suffragist and a feminist who saw women s rights as inextricably linked to human rights Lewis ran for state legislature in 1928 and was one of the first women in North Carolina to be admitted to the bar In the 1930s however Lewis faced repeated institutionalizations for a debilitating bout of mental illness and sought treatment from Christian Science practitioners spiritualists and psychotherapists As she aged her views grew increasingly reactionary and she insisted that she had served as a communist dupe during the Gastonia strike and trials that communists had infiltrated the University of North Carolina and that many of her former progressive allies had ties to communism Finally many of her opinions completely reversed and in the wake of the 1954 Brown v Board decision she served as an influential spokesperson for the South s massive resistance to public school desegregation She continued to espouse these conservative beliefs until her death in 1956 In his detailed retelling of Lewis s fascinating life Leidholdt chronicles the turbulent history of North Carolina from the 1920s through the 1950s as industrialization and racial integration began to tear at the region s conservative fabric He vividly explains the background and ramifications of Lewis s many controversial stances and explores the possible reasons for her ideological about face Through the extraordinary story of Battling Nell Leidholdt reveals how the complex issues of gender labor and race intertwined to influence the convulsive events that shaped the course of early twentieth century southern history

Treason to Whiteness Is Loyalty to Humanity Noel Ignatiev, 2022-06-28 A new collection of essays from the bomb throwing intellectual who described the historical origins and evolution of whiteness and white supremacy and taught us how we might destroy it For sixty years Noel Ignatiev provided an unflinching account of whiteness a social fiction and an unmitigated disaster for all working class people This new essay collection from the late firebrand covers the breadth of his life and insights as an autodidact steel worker a groundbreaking theoretician and a bitter enemy of racists everywhere In these essays Ignatiev confronts the Weather Underground and recounts which strategies proved most effective to winning white workers in Gary Indiana to black liberation He discovers the prescient political insights of the nineteenth century abolition movement surveys the wreckage of the revolutionary twentieth century with C L R James and attends to the thorny and contradictory nature of working class consciousness Through it all our attentions are turned to the everyday life of ordinary people whose actions anticipate a wholly new society they have not yet recognized or named In short Ignatiev reflects on the incisive questions of his time and ours How can we drive back the forces of racism in society How can the so called white working class be won over to emancipatory politics How can we build a new human community

Strike Songs of the Depression Timothy P. Lynch, 2009-11-12 The Depression brought unprecedented changes for American workers and organized labor As the economy plummeted employers cut wages and laid off workers while simultaneously attempting to wrest more work from those who remained employed In mills mines and factories workers organized and resisted striking for higher wages improved working conditions and the right to bargain collectively As workers walked the picket line or sat down on the shop floor they could be heard singing This book examines the songs they sang at three different strikes the Gastonia North Carolina textile mill strike 1929 Harlan County Kentucky coal mining strike 1931 32 and Flint Michigan automobile sit down strike 1936 37 Whether in the Carolina Piedmont the Kentucky hills or the streets of Michigan the workers songs were decidedly class conscious All show the workers understanding of the necessity of solidarity and collective action In Flint the strikers sang The trouble in our homestead Was brought about this way When a dashing corporation Had the audacity to say You must all renounce your union And forswear your liberties And we ll offer you a chance To live and die in slavery As a shared experience the singing of songs not only sent the message of collective action but also provided the very means by which the message was communicated and promoted Singing was a communal experience whether on picket lines at union rallies or on shop floors By providing the psychological space for striking workers to speak their minds singing nurtured a sense of community and class consciousness When strikers retold the events of their strike as they did in songs they spread and preserved their common history and further strengthened the bonds among themselves In the strike songs the roles of gender were pronounced and vivid Wives and mothers sang out of their concerns for home family and children Men sang in the name of worker loyalty and brotherhood championing male solidarity and camaraderie Informed by the new social history this critical examination of strike songs from three different industries in three different regions gives voice to a group too often deemed as inarticulate This study the only book length examination of this subject tells history from the bottom up and furthers an understanding of worker culture during the tumultuous Depression years The Long Voyage Malcolm Cowley, 2014-01-06 Critic poet editor chronicler of the Lost Generation elder statesman of the Republic of Letters Malcolm Cowley 1898 1989 was an eloquent witness to American literary and political life His letters mostly unpublished provide a self portrait of Cowley and his time and make possible a full appreciation of his long varied career The Heart of Revolution Kathy Cantley Ackerman, 2004 Despite the timeless themes of Olive Tilford Dargan s work and the acclaim she earned with her novels Call Home the Heart 1932 and A Stone Came Rolling 1935 the author who published her best known works under the pseudonym Fielding Burke has been largely forgotten by the American literary establishment In this first book length study of Dargan s life and work Kathy Cantley Ackerman poses these questions Why did Dargan s proletarian and feminist writings fall out of public favor when the literary climate changed in the 1940s and what are the issues raised in and by her work that today s readers should reconsider The Heart of Revolution combines biography and history with a critical reading of Dargan s work Ackerman pays close attention to the proletarian feminist and racial issues in the novels she then examines the ways these issues intersect in the southern Appalachian and Piedmont regions Dargan s aesthetic articulated in her depiction of the southern textile mill strikes of 1929 and the early 1930s defies the party line of the period that privileged the struggle of white working men over the concerns of women and minorities Unlike her male and many of her female counterparts in the proletarian movement Dargan envisions a world in which romantic love can coexist with the fight for socioeconomic revolution a world in which the activist does not have to surrender her individuality Through strong female characters she reconstructs the paternalistic capitalistic marriage and mother myth replacing it with a model based on egalitarian principles an ideology that has only gained relevance over time Ackerman's exploration of class race and gender in Dargan's novels individually and her consideration of Dargan's work as a whole reveal the complicated reasons for the novelist's neglect and present a compelling argument for reevaluation of her fiction A published poet Kathy Cantley Ackerman is Writer in Residence at Isothermal Community College in Spindale North Carolina She lives in Charlotte

Youth Economy, Crisis, and Reinvention in Twenty-First-Century China Hui Faye Xiao, 2019-11-22 This book surveys the explosive youth culture in twenty first century China an active and powerful force catalysing cultural innovations social changes and collective efforts re inventing a pluralistic and multivalent youth qingnian in an age of enormous change division and uncertainty Providing a comprehensive analysis of literary cinematic musical televisual and social media representations about for and by disparate youth groups this book seeks to offer a systematic investigation of a trans medial and multi locale youth culture In so doing it examines contributions from high school dropouts industrial workers migrant laborers and leftover women as well as best selling writers and filmmakers cultural entrepreneurs queer idols and fans and young feminist activists Observing the Chinese youths deployment of small genres such as light novels and short videos in addition to digital media this book ultimately demonstrates the renewal of cultural forms and the transformative power of networked small atomized individuals in reinventing a youthful coalition of silenced belittled and marginalized groups A thoroughly interdisciplinary study Youth Economy Crisis and Reinvention in Twenty First Century China will be useful to students and scholars of Chinese culture and society as well as Literary Studies Cultural Studies Gender Studies and Media Studies
