This book takes a novel data driven approach to the cemeteries of Paris analyzing a largely text based body of archival material as proxy evidence for visual material that has been lost due to systematic and legally sanctioned acts of erasure This study represents the first full length study of vernacular monuments in France and the entrepreneurs who made them It also provides methodical considerations at the intersection of the computational and digital humanities for managing survival biases in extant historical evidence that are applicable beyond the thematic focus of this book Since extant examples of these more inconspicuous monuments are rare this project employs both distant and close viewing analyzing commercial almanacs work logs and burial records in aggregates alongside detailed case studies to compensate for gaps in the material record The book will be of interest to scholars working in visual culture popular culture digital humanities and French history

Urban Space and Urban History in the Roman World Miko Flohr, 2020-05-25 This volume investigates how urban growth and prosperity transformed the cities of the Roman Mediterranean in the last centuries BCE and the first centuries CE integrating debates about Roman urban space with discourse on Roman urban history The contributions explore how these cities developed landscapes full of civic memory and ritual saw commercial priorities transforming the urban environment and began to expand significantly beyond their wall circuits These interrelated developments not only changed how cities looked and could be experienced but they also affected the functioning of the urban community and together contributed to keeping increasingly complex urban communities socially cohesive By focusing on the transformation of urban landscapes in the Late Republican and Imperial periods the volume adds a new explicitly historical angle to current debates about urban space in Roman studies Confronting archaeological and historical approaches the volume presents developments in Italy Africa Greece and Asia Minor thus significantly broadening the geographical scope of the discussion and offering novel theoretical perspectives alongside well documented thematic case studies Urban Space and Urban History in the Roman World will be of interest to anyone working on Roman urbanism or Roman history in the Late Republic and early Empire

Ordinances and Resolutions of the Corporation of New-Orleans New Orleans (La.),1831      Les promenades de Nice Émile Negrin,1863      The Urban Uncanny Lucy Huskinson,2016-04-28 The Urban Uncanny explores through ten engaging essays the slippage or mismatch between our expectations of the city as the organised and familiar environments in which citizens live work and go about their lives and the often surprising and unsettling experiences it evokes The city is uncanny when it reveals itself in new and unexpected light when its streets buildings and people suddenly appear strange out of place and not quite right Bringing together a variety of approaches including psychoanalysis historical and contemporary case study of cities urban geography film and literary critique the essays explore some of the unsettling mismatches between city and citizen in order to make sense of each and to gauge the wellbeing of city life more generally Essays examine a number of cities including Edmonton London Paris Oxford Las Vegas Berlin and New York and address a range of issues including those of memory death anxiety alienation and identity Delving into the complex repercussions of contemporary mass urban development The Urban Uncanny opens up the pathological side of cities both real and imaginary This interdisciplinary collection provides unparalleled insights into the urban uncanny that will be of interest to academics and students of urban studies urban geography psychoanalysis cultural studies social studies and film studies and to anyone interested in the darker side of city life      The Novel Map Patrick M. Bray,2013-01-31 Focusing on Stendhal G rard de Nerval George Sand mile Zola and Marcel Proust The Novel Map Mapping the Self in Nineteenth Century French Fiction explores the ways that these writers represent and negotiate the relationship between the self and the world as a function of space in a novel turned map With the rise of the novel and of autobiography the literary and cultural contexts of nineteenth century France reconfigured both the ways literature could represent subjects and the ways subjects related to space In the first person works of these authors maps situate the narrator within the imaginary space of the novel Yet the time inherent in the text s narrative unsettles the spatial self drawn by the maps and so creates a novel self one which is both new and literary The novel self transcends the rigid confines of a map In this significant study Patrick M Bray charts a new direction in critical theory      Pompeia Ernest Breton,1855      Promenades poétiques suivies d'odes, épîtres, fables, contes, cantates, couplets, portraits, parallèles, épigraphes, élégies, sonnets, idylles, sorites, épigrammes, etc Louis-Marie Pérenon,1826      Promenade en Amérique Jean Jacques Ampère,1887      Le Tour du monde ,1911      Making Space for the Dead Erin-Marie Legacey,2019-04-15 The dead of Paris before the French Revolution were most often consigned to mass graveyards that contemporaries described as terrible and terrifying emitting putrid miasmas that were a threat to both health and dignity In a book that is at once wonderfully macabre and exceptionally informative Erin Marie Legacey explores how a new burial culture emerged in Paris as a result of both revolutionary fervor and public health concerns resulting in the construction of park like cemeteries on the outskirts of the city and a vast underground ossuary Making Space for the Dead describes how revolutionaries placed the dead at the center of their republican project of radical reinvention of French society and envisioned a future where graveyards would do more than safely contain human remains they would serve to educate and inspire the living Legacey unearths the unexpectedly lively process by which burial sites were reimagined built and used focusing on three of the most important of these new spaces the Paris Catacombs P re Lachaise cemetery and the short lived Museum of French Monuments By situating discussions of death and memory in the nation s broader cultural and political context as well as highlighting how ordinary Parisians understood and experienced these sites she shows how the treatment of the dead became central to the reconstruction of Parisian society after the Revolution Œuvres de A.
