Using the qualitative IPA (Interpretative Phenomenological Analysis) approach, chapters showcase the lived experiences and subjective perspectives of individuals around the paradox that internationalisation presents: the distorting effects of institutional power and the market, and ethics-based concerns of internationalisation in higher education. Drawing on an in-depth empirical study conducted using participant observation and interviews with participants from three UK universities, the book proposes a framework for redefining the global discourse of HE through the Organic model and urges the need for a compromise between profit and ethics to the benefit of both organisations and individuals. The book thoroughly discusses racist practices and introduces the concepts of xeno racism and angelism, ensuring that the proposed approach is authentic and responsive to the diverse experiences of the student body. Showcasing a model with international potential and ramifications, this book will appeal to researchers, academics and postgraduate students in higher education, internationalisation and international study mobility. Practitioners and policymakers may also benefit from the volume.      The Palgrave International Handbook of Higher Education Policy and Governance Jeroen Huisman, Harry de Boer, David D. Schuetze, Germán Álvarez Mendiola, Diane Conrad, 2012-09-05 Universities have never been static. Even so, it is fair to say they have experienced a most radical transformation in the past twenty years. During this period, the role and responsibility of the state generally have been broadly limited while allowing market forces, private ownership and control more influence. But even where the state is still the main provider or funder, it relies increasingly on market mechanisms, for example contractual relations between state and institutions competition among providers for resources and external assessment of outputs which means the results or impact of what universities do in particular teaching and research The new terminology speaks of price and competition inputs and outputs resources cost and benefits demand and supply provider and customer consumers and investors quality control and accountability Education and post secondary education especially are increasingly seen as matters for markets Formal post secondary education becomes a service commercialized and traded across national borders This volume on changing relationship between state and market contains besides an introductory analytic overview of the issues accounts from different countries regions and thematic perspectives Chapter authors describe and analyze government reforms and other developments that have directly or indirectly affected this relationship Although the geographical focus is on North America especially Mexico South East Asia and Europe the phenomenon is not limited to these regions and countries but worldwide The World Yearbook of Education 1996 Robert Cowen,2012-12-06 This annual summary of educational policies and practices worldwide includes discussion of multi skills and flexibility school work links qualifications and education for skills versus education for status Higher Education: Handbook of Theory and Research J.C.

Smart,2012-12-06 To recapitulate Greeks differ from Independents and from the academy s value priorities but for the most part these differences derive from antecedent characteristics Moreover there are some grounds for speculating that these antecedent differences reflect fundamental temperamental differences extraversion and gregariousness mediated by social interaction as opposed to interaction through ideas Only to a limited degree does the Greek system appear to adversely affect the acquisition and assimilation of the academy s value priorities i.e. students as a whole Greek and Independent alike appear to become more independent liberal socially concerned and culturally sophisticated by graduation However the Greek system s effect on the behavior of Greeks is more troubling an effect largely mediated by the use and abuse of alcohol and the relative absence of direct institutional supervision Assuming the retention of the Greek system then the promotion of the academy s agenda appears dependent on a an understanding and accommodation of the personal characteristics of Greeks using appropriate pedagogical methods to advance the academy s educational objectives and b both educational and administrative regulatory efforts to control the use and abuse of alcohol With or without the Greek system the advancement of the academy s agenda involves these considerations since the characteristics of students as a whole encompass the characteristics emphasized among Greeks Managing Reform in Universities B.
