Promise Of The Metropolis Bangalores Twentieth Century:

The Promise of the Metropolis Janaki Nair, 2005 The volume provides a comprehensive perspective on the city of Bangalore that relates to three levels of analysis that of the conceived city the perceived city and spatial practice The book also charts the styles and forms of contemporary urban democracy and the city as the site of a continuous redefinition of Indian citizenship

The Future of Bangalore's Cosmopolitan Pasts Andrew C. Willford, 2018-06-30 Bangalore is often heralded as India's future a city where global technologies converge with multinational capital to produce a cosmopolitan workforce and vibrant economic growth In this narrative the city's main challenge revolves around its success whether its physical infrastructure can support its burgeoning population Most observers assume that Bangalore's emergence as a global city represents its more complete integration into the world economy and by extension a more inclusive and cosmopolitan outlook among its growing middle class Andrew C Willford sheds light on a growing paradox even as Bangalore has come to signify progress and economic possibility both within India and to the outside world movements to make the city more monocultural and monolingual have gained prominence Bangalore is the capital of the state of Karnataka its borders linguistically redrawn by the postcolonial Indian state in 1956 In the decades that followed organizations and leaders emerged to promote linguistic nationalism aimed at protecting the fragile unity of Kannadiga culture and literature against the twin threats of globalization and internal migration Ironically they support parochial cultural policies that impose a cultural and linguistic unity upon an area that historically stood at the crossroads of empires trade routes language practices devotional literatures and pilgrimage routes Willford's analysis which focuses on the minority experience of Bangalore's sizeable Tamil speaking community shows how the same forces of globalization that create growth and prosperity also foster uncertainty and tension around religion and language that completely contradict the region's long history of cosmopolitanism Exploring this paradox in Bangalore's entangled and complex linguistic and cultural pasts serves as a useful case study for understanding the forces behind cultural and ethnic revivalism in the contemporary postcolonial world Buttressed by field research conducted over a twenty two year period 1992-2015 Willford shows how the past is a living resource for the negotiation of identity in the present Against the gloom of increasingly communal conflicts he finds that Bangalore still retains a fabric of civility against the modern markings of cultural difference

The Bungalow in Twentieth-Century India Mādhavī Desāi, Madhavi Desai, Miki Desai, Jon Lang, 2012 The primary era of this study the twentieth century symbolizes the peak of the colonial rule and its total decline as well as the rise of the new nation state of India The processes that have been labeled westernization and modernization radically changed middle class Indian life during the century This book describes and explains the various technological political and social developments that shaped one building type the bungalow contemporaneous to the development of modern Indian history during the period of British rule and its subsequent aftermath Drawing on their own physical and photographic documentation and building on previous work by Anthony King and the Desais the authors show the evolution of the bungalow s architecture from a one storey building with a verandah to the assortment of house forms and their regional variants that are derived from the bungalow Moreover the study correlates changes in society with architectural consequences in the plans and aesthetics of the bungalow It also examines more generally what it meant to be modern in Indian society as the twentieth century evolved

The Social Sciences in the Asian Century Carol

Johnson,Vera Mackie,Tessa Morris-Suzuki,2015-09-30 In this collection of essays we reflect on what it means to practise the social sciences in the twenty first century The book brings together leading social scientists from the Asia Pacific region We argue for the benefit of dialogue between the diverse theories and methods of social sciences in the region the role of the social sciences in addressing real world problems the need to transcend national boundaries in addressing regional problems and the challenges for an increasingly globalised higher education sector in the twenty first century The chapters are a combination of theoretical reflections and locally focused case studies of processes that are embedded in global dynamics and the changing geopolitics of knowledge In an increasingly connected world these reflections will be of global relevance

Cities' Vocabularies: The Influences and Formations Nabil Mohareb,Antonella Versaci,Yasser Mahgoub,Sreetheran Maruthaveeran,Francesco Alberti,2021-01-23 This book discusses several topics regarding different vocabularies such as sacred architecture heritage buildings open spaces landmarks and street escapes all of which have a direct influence on the city form The city form is also affected by the indirect impact of the citizens themselves for example their culture which in turn depends on the arts as can be seen and embodied in morals paintings media digital art and sculpture The book also examines the fundamental elements that are responsible for the identity of the city Presenting case studies that demonstrate the how implementing the concept of the responsibility of architecture and arts affects the development of our cities the book offers a new approach that is based on the available features of a city and explores how planners and decision makers can use these features to address the myriad problems that our cities are facing

Global Happiness Roman Adrian

Cybrivsky,2015-12-14 An authoritative comprehensive and highly accessible assessment of the happiest and least happy countries and cities in the world as well as of the happiest and least happy cities and states in the United States Which are the happiest countries in the world and which nations are the least contented Which cities in the world are considered the happiest and unhappiest Which American cities and states are at the top of the list and which ones rank poorly Presenting findings that are based on solid data and authoritative information this book offers a bold take on the geography of happiness around the world and presents results that are often unexpected It enables readers to make informed cross cultural comparisons between countries and world cities and uniquely synthesizes global information in a way that allows us answer the important question What makes us happy A book like no other Global Happiness A Guide to the Most Contented and Discontented Places around the Globe tackles the complex equation of determining what places offer the happiest living experiences by considering quality of life prospects for the future social relations confidence in good government and many other factors that together constitute critical differences in living experience The author a professor of geography and urban studies as well as a world traveler also takes into account the current events politics and environmental situations of specific regions states and cities and considers what residents of the cities and countries say about their own places to derive accurate and fair assessments

Women at the Threshold of Globalisation Narendar Pani, Nikky Singh, 2014-04-04 The popular perception of globalisation is rooted in its image of dissolving senses of distance and boundaries It is so preoccupied with the technology that enables globalisation that little attention is paid to questions of how and where the circuits of globalisation actually get realised This book attempts a more nuanced view of globalisation by focusing on its less explored non technological dimensions It examines the transformation of the woman worker from a rural woman to an urban one from a dependent daughter wife and mother to an earning member and from a homemaker to a factory worker and the attendant transformation of the home into a base for migrant workers None of these transformations is absolute as the woman worker continues to play the traditional roles of wife and mother at home alongside fulfilling her responsibilities at work In the process of negotiating boundaries in the village city home and global factory she confronts a reality that she fears because of its unfamiliarity coping with which necessarily entails falling back on her kin networks institutions that are rarely seen as enablers of globalisation although they play a critical role in determining how globalisation is sustained Focusing on such workers in Bangalore a city otherwise known for its IT industry the book examines the global garment circuit especially the institutions and processes outside the workplace that influence how the global circuit is completed It will appeal to those in economics sociology gender studies urban studies as well as to those interested in issues relating to globalisation

Cultural Sociology of the Middle East, Asia, and Africa Andrea L. Stanton, 2012 In our age of globalization and multiculturalism it has never been more important to understand and appreciate all cultures across the world The four volumes take a step forward in this endeavour by presenting concise information on those regions least well known to students across Europe the Middle East Asia and Africa The volumes convey what daily life is like for people in these selected regions Entries will aid readers in understanding the importance of cultural sociology to appreciate the effects of cultural forces around the world and to learn the history of countries and cultures within these important regions Key Features Topics are explored within historical context in three broad historical periods prehistory to 1250 1250 to 1920 and 1920 to the present One volume each is devoted to the regions of the Middle East and Africa and then one volume to East and Southeast Asia and a final volume to West Central and South Asia The volumes include extensive use of photographs and maps to explain cultural and geographic content Each volume has its own volume editor with expertise in that particular region Key Themes Arts Culture and Science People Society and Dynasties Religion and Law Family and Daily Life Conflicts and Wars Politics and Government Health and Education Economy Trade and Industry National Geography and History

Whatever Happened to Class? Rina Agarwala, Ronald J. Herring, 2008-10-23 Class explains much in the differentiation of life chances and political dynamics in South Asia scholarship from the region contributed much to class analysis Yet class has lost its previous centrality as a way of understanding the world and how it changes This outcome is puzzling new configurations of global economic forces and policy have widened gaps between classes and across sectors and regions altered people's relations to production and produced new state citizen relations Does market triumphalism or increased salience of identity politics render class irrelevant Has rapid growth in aggregate wealth obviated long standing questions of inequality and poverty Explanations for what happened to class vary from intellectual fads to global transformations of interests The authors ask what is lost in the move away from class and what South Asian experiences tell us about the limits of class analysis Empirical chapters examine formal and informal sector labor social movements against genetic engineering and politics of the new middle class A unifying analytical concern is specifying conditions under which interests of those disadvantaged by class systems are immobilized diffused co-opted or autonomously recognized and acted upon politically the problematic transition of classes in themselves to classes for themselves Nation, Region, Modernity Deeptha

Achar, Pushpamala N., 2025-01-29 This volume explores the Indian artist K Venkatappa's life 1886-1965 his works and the political and cultural contexts that influenced and inspired his art It looks at the artist's style and examines the question of modernity in Indian art through the interstices of the regional and the national This richly illustrated book contextualises Venkatappa's work in the milieu of Calcutta princely Mysore and later Bangalore in the first half of the twentieth century at a time when boundaries horizons and identities were in great flux It complicates a unitary history of modern Indian art and indeed modernity in colonial India with its engagement with the question of region The volume discusses Venkatappa's engagements with Indian artistic nationalism the Bengal Renaissance asceticism as well as western modernist art and highlights the ambivalences and contradictions in his work Through an in-depth reading of these diverse contexts the essays in this book examine the artist's legacy and his contemporary relevance while showing how the trajectories of regional modernities can unsettle singular accounts of a nation's art This volume part of the Visual Media and Histories Series will be of interest to students and researchers of history of art history modern Indian art visual studies and cultural studies

Popular Culture in a Globalised India K. Moti Gokulsing, Wimal Dissanayake, 2009-01-13 This book explores India's rich popular culture and provides illuminating insights into various aspects of the social cultural economic and political realities of contemporary globalised India It is essential reading for courses on Indian popular culture and a useful resource for more general courses in the field of cultural studies media studies history literary studies and communication studies Brutal Beauty Jisha Menon, 2021-10-15 Brutal Beauty Aesthetics and Aspiration in Urban India follows a postcolonial city as it transforms into a bustling global metropolis after the liberalization of the Indian economy Taking the once idyllic garden city of Bangalore in southern India as its point of departure the book explores how artists across India and beyond foreground neoliberalism as a structure of feeling permeating aesthetics selfhood and everyday life Jisha Menon conveys the affective life of the city through multiple aesthetic projects that express a range of urban feelings including aspiration panic and obsolescence As developers and policymakers remodel the city through tumultuous construction projects urban beautification privatization and other templated features of world class cities urban citizens are also changing transformed by nostalgia narcissism shame and the spaces where they dwell and work Sketching out scenes of urban aspiration and its dark underbelly Menon delineates the creative and destructive potential of India's lurch into contemporary capitalism uncovering the interconnectedness of local and global power structures as well as art's capacity to absorb and critique liberalization's discontents She argues that neoliberalism isn't just an economic social and political phenomenon neoliberalism is also a profoundly aesthetic project

An Urban Politics of Climate Change Harriet Bulkeley, Vanesa Broto, Gareth Edwards, 2014-10-17 The confluence of global climate change growing levels of energy consumption and rapid urbanization has led the international policy community to regard urban responses to climate change as an urgent agenda World Bank 2010 The contribution of cities to rising levels of greenhouse gas emissions coupled with concerns about the vulnerability of urban places and communities to the impacts of climate change have led to a relatively recent and rapidly proliferating interest amongst both academic and policy communities in how cities might be able to respond to mitigation and adaptation Attention has focused on the potential for municipal authorities to develop policy and plans that can address these twin issues and the challenges of capacity resource and politics that have been encountered While this literature has captured some of the essential means through which the urban response to climate change is being forged is that it has failed to take account of the multiple sites and spaces of climate change response that are emerging in cities off plan

An Urban Politics of Climate Change provides the first account of urban responses to climate change that moves beyond the boundary of municipal institutions to critically examine the governing of climate change in the city as a matter of both public and private authority and to engage with the ways in which this is bound up with the politics and practices of urban infrastructure The book draws on cases from multiple cities in both developed and emerging economies to providing new insight into the potential and limitations of urban responses to climate change as well as new conceptual direction for our understanding of the politics of environmental governance

Migration, Racism and Labor Exploitation in the World-System Denis O'Hearn, Paul Ciccantell, 2021-07-29 This book offers a historically sweeping yet detailed view of world systemic migration as a racialized process Since the early expansion of the world system the movement of people has been its central process Not only have managers of capital moved to direct profitable expansion they have also forced cajoled or encouraged workers to move in order to extract grow refine manufacture and transport materials and commodities The book offers historical cases that show that migration introduces and deepens racial dominance in all zones of the world system This often forces indigenous and imported slaves or bonded labor to extract process and move raw materials Yet it also often creates a contradiction between capital's need to direct labor to where it enables profitability and the desires of large sections of dominant populations to keep subordinate people of color marginalized and separate. Case studies reveal how core states are concurrently users and blockers of migrant labor. Key examples are Mexican migrants in the United States both historically and in contemporary society. The United States even promotes an image of a society that welcomes the immigrant while policy realities often quite different. Nonetheless the volume ends with a vision of a future whereby communities from below both activists and people simply following their communal interests can come together to create a society that overcomes racism. Its final chapter is a hopeful call by Immanuel Wallerstein for people to make small changes that together can bring real about real revolutionary change.

I Am on the Hit List Rollo Romig, 2024-08-06 FINALIST FOR THE PULITZER PRIZE A murder mystery travelogue and deeply felt homage to Romig's adopted country. Reading it will inform and outrage you. It will also make you crave a dosa. Suketu Mehta author of Maximum City. Romig makes for a powerful effective chronicler of this bleak moment in Indian politics. The New York Times A gripping investigation into the mysterious assassination of a journalist in India revealing the courage and vulnerability of those who are fighting the decline of democracy around the world. When Gauri Lankesh an outspoken journalist in the South Indian city of Bangalore was assassinated in September 2017 outside her home it wasn't just a loss to her close knit community of writers and activists the shock reverberated nationwide making headlines and sparking mass protests. Why was she targeted and who was behind it? Following the case to its stunning unsettling conclusion Rollo Romig uncovers a world of political extremists fearless writers organized crime and shadowy religious groups. I Am on the Hit List is an epic narrative that moves between a historic booksellers district and brand new high rises funded by IT wealth to a secretive ashram in Goa and the kitchens of an international vegetarian restaurant chain boldly interrogating whether we can break the cycle of polarization and bloodshed inspiring political murder across the globe.

Urban Undesirables Neethi P., Anant Kamath, 2022-11-10 It redraws rewrites and relooks at Bangalore from the perspectives of the city's female male and transgender street based sex workers.

India After Gandhi: The History of the World's Largest Democracy Ramachandra Guha, 2017-07-13 Ramachandra Guha's India after Gandhi is a magisterial account of the pains struggles humiliations and glories of the world's largest and least likely democracy. A riveting chronicle of the often brutal conflicts that have rocked a giant nation and of the extraordinary individuals and institutions who held it together it established itself as a classic when it was first published in 2007. In the last decade India has witnessed among other things two general elections the fall of the Congress and the rise of Narendra Modi a major anti corruption movement more violence against women Dalits and religious minorities a wave of prosperity for some but the persistence of poverty for others comparative peace in Nagaland but greater discontent in Kashmir than ever before. This tenth anniversary edition updated and expanded brings the narrative up to the present. Published to coincide with seventy years of the country's independence this definitive history of modern India is the work of one of the world's finest scholars at the height of his powers Reframing the Environment Manisha Rao, 2020-09-23 This volume unravels the underlying power relations that are masked in the present discourse of ecological sustainability and conflicts over natural resources Current discussions on environment emphasise the use and abuse of the environment in various ways This book looks at the inter linkages of discourse resources risk and resistance in the contemporary neoliberal world While exploring the experiences of neoliberalisation of nature in India it brings out the intersections of conservation and management science and gender community politics and governance policies The volume highlights the cultural politics of resistance from multiple sites and regions in India in the recent context be it land water forest flora or fauna or urban commons It discusses the ways in which environmental issues have come up and been appropriated while examining the role of the State and actors such as corporates traders consultants ecotourism companies green activists and consumers and consequences of green appropriation and the growth story The major themes of the volume are the interrelations of nature culture and power neoliberal governance and the environment access to and use and management of land natural resources and environment community politics and livelihoods marginalised groups and local communities marketisation and the environment and new forms of re appropriation and resistance This book will be of great interest to students and researchers in sociology environmental studies environmental history environmental anthropology political ecology political science geography law and human rights economics and development studies as well as to environmental activists policy makers and those in media and journalism Narrow Fairways Patrick Inglis, 2019-07-01 India remains a country mired in poverty with two thirds of its 1.3 billion people living on little more than a few dollars a day Just as telling the country's informal working population numbers nearly 500 million or approximately eighty percent of the entire labor force Despite these figures and the related structural disadvantages that imperil the lives of so many the Indian elite maintain that the poor need only work harder and they too can become rich The results of this ambitious ten year ethnography at exclusive golf clubs in Bangalore shatter such self serving illusions In Narrow Fairways Patrick Inglis combines participant observation interviews and archival research to show how social mobility among the poor lower caste golf caddies who carry the golf sets of wealthy upper caste members at these clubs is ultimately constrained and narrowed The book highlights how elites secure and extend class and caste privileges while also delivering a necessary rebuke to India's present development strategy which pays far too little attention to promoting quality healthcare education and other basic social services that would deliver real opportunities to the poor
