Promise Or Peril:

Promise and Peril Christopher McKnight Nichols, 2011-04-29 Spreading democracy abroad or taking care of business at home is a tension as current as the war in Afghanistan and as old as America itself Tracing the history of isolationist and internationalist ideas from the 1890s through the 1930s Nichols reveals unexpected connections among individuals and groups from across the political spectrum who developed new visions for America's place in the world From Henry Cabot Lodge and William James to W E B Du Bois and Jane Addams to Randolph Bourne William Borah and Emily Balch Nichols shows how reformers thinkers and politicians confronted the challenges of modern society and then grappled with urgent pressures to balance domestic priorities and foreign commitments Each articulated a distinct strain of thought and each was part of a sprawling national debate over America's global role Through these individuals Nichols conducts us into the larger community as it strove to reconcile America's founding ideals and ideas about isolation with the realities of the nation's burgeoning affluence rising global commerce and new opportunities for worldwide cultural exchange The resulting interrelated set of isolationist and internationalist principles provided the basis not just for many foreign policy arguments of the era but also for the vibrant as well as negative connotations that isolationism still possesses Nichols offers a bold way of understanding the isolationist and internationalist impulses that shaped the heated debates of the early twentieth century and that continue to influence thinking about America in the world today Not Without a Struggle Vashti M.

War on All Fronts Nicholas G. Evans, 2023-05-16 An argument for the centrality of rights in health security and how to apply ethical principles to protecting those rights during public health crises In recent years efforts to respond to infectious diseases have been described in terms of national and global security leading to the formation of the field of health security In War on All Fronts Nicholas G Evans provides a novel theory of just health security and its relation to the practice of conventional public health Using COVID 19 as a jumping off point to examine wider issues including how the US thinks about and prepares for pandemics Evans shows the flaws in using the war metaphor and how any serious understanding of health security must square with human rights even when a disease poses a threat to national security Evans asks what ethical principles justify declaring and taking action during a public health emergency such as the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic The relevant principles he argues parallel those of the ethics of armed conflict Just war theory properly understood begins with pacifism and a commitment to the right not to be killed and then steps back to ask under what limited conditions it is permissible to kill In a similar way a just health security must also begin with the idea that public health should hold human rights sacrosanct and then ask under what limited conditions other concerns might prevail Evans s overall goal is to formulate a guide to action particularly as the world deals with the fallout of the COVID 19 pandemic Turning to the transition from war back to peace in public health he looks at reparation rebuilding and the accountability of actors during the crisis

Fables and Futures George Estreich,2025-05-27 How new biomedical technologies from prenatal testing to gene editing techniques require us to imagine who counts as human and what it means to belong From next generation prenatal tests to virtual children to the genome editing tool CRISPR Cas9 new biotechnologies grant us unprecedented power to predict and shape future people That power implies a question about belonging which people which variations will we welcome How will we square new biotech advances with the real but fragile gains for people with disabilities especially when their voices are all but absent from the conversation This book explores that conversation the troubled territory where biotechnology and disability meet In it George Estreich an award winning poet and memoirist and the father of a young woman with Down syndrome delves into popular representations of cutting edge biotech websites advertising next generation prenatal tests feature articles on three parent IVF a scientist s memoir of constructing a semisynthetic cell and more As Estreich shows each new application of biotechnology is accompanied by a persuasive story one that minimizes downsides and promises enormous benefits In this story people with disabilities are both invisible and essential a key promise of new technologies is that disability will be repaired or prevented In chapters that blend personal narrative and scholarship Estreich restores disability to our narratives of technology He also considers broader themes the place of people with disabilities in a world built for the able the echoes of eugenic history in the genomic present and the equation of intellect and human value Examining the stories we tell ourselves the fables already creating our futures Estreich argues that given biotech that can select and shape who we are we need to imagine as broadly as possible what it means to belong
