Promoters City The Creation Of Maisonneuve 18831918:

The Promoters' City Paul-André Linteau, 1985-01-01 List of Maps Preface PART 1 THE CREATION OF A TOWN 1883 1896 1 The Birth of Maisonneuve 2 The Developers 3 Organizing the Town PART II THE PITTSBURGH OF CANADA DEVELOPMENT THROUGH INDUSTRY 1896 1910 4 Industrial Development 5 The Power of The Utility Monopolies 6 A Working Class Town PART III THE GARDEN OF MONTREAL DEVELOPMENT BY BEAUTIFICATION 1910 1918 7 The Banner of Progress 8 Maisonneuve s Politique de Grandeur 9 The End of Maisonneuve Conclusion Appendix Notes Bibliography Index MAPS 1 Montreal by 1915 2 Maisonneuve ca 1916 3 Original Lots ca 1883 4 Location of Industries 1890 1914 5 Montreal Annexations 1883 1915 6 Built up Area 1914 Canadian History: Confederation to the present Martin Brook Taylor, Doug O'Wram, 1994-01-01 In these two volumes which replace the Reader s Guide to Canadian History experts provide a select and critical guide to historical writing about pre and post Confederation Canada with an emphasis on the most recent scholarship Cover Inventing the Loyalists Norman James Knowles, 1997-01-01 Showing that the past is often written into present concerns and that many groups in Ontario both powerful and disempowered have invoked the experience of the Loyalists Knowles significantly revises earlier interpretations of the Loyalist tradition Housing the North American City Michael Doucet, John C. Weaver, 1991-08-06 Doucet and Weaver begin this empirical analytical and narrative study with an analysis of the evolution of land development as an enterprise and continue with an examination of house design and construction practices the development of the apartment building and an account of class and age as they relate to housing tenure They also relate developments in Hamilton to the current state of urban historiography using their case study to resolve discrepancies and contradictions in the literature Among the major themes the authors deal with is a controversial exploration of what they see as a central North American urge the desire to own a home Other themes include the social allocation of urban space the quality and affordability of housing the increased interest of large corporations in the land development and financial service industries and a comparative analysis of housing in Canada and the United States The authors have drawn on civic and business records dating from the early nineteenth century to the latest planning data Combining this information with their comprehensive analysis Doucet and Weaver show that current housing problems and potential solutions are better understood when seen as part of a historical process They provide a critical assessment of the ways in which contemporary society produces shelter and question the use of technical innovations alone to resolve housing crises The New Urban Frontier Lionel Frost, 1991 Explores changes in city density by comparing Melbourne Los Angeles Vancouver Auckland and other new frontier cities Includes a new interpretation of the effect of development on problems faced by frontier cities and a detailed bibliography The author lectures on economics and economic history at La Trobe University The Feel of the City Nicolas Kenny, 2014-06-09 At the start of the twentieth century the modern metropolis was a riot of sensation City dwellers lived in an environment filled with smoky factories crowded homes and lively thoroughfares Sights sounds and smells flooded their senses while changing conceptions of health and decorum forced many to rethink their most banal gestures from the way they negotiated speeding traffic to the use they made of public washrooms The Feel of the City exposes the sensory experiences of city dwellers in Montreal and Brussels at the turn of the century and the ways in which these shaped the social and cultural significance of urban space Using the experiences of municipal officials urban planners hygienists workers writers artists and ordinary citizens Nicolas Kenny explores the implications of the senses for our understanding of modernity

The Routledge Companion to Spatial History Ian Gregory, Don DeBats, Don Lafreniere, 2018-01-19 The Routledge Companion to Spatial History explores the full range of ways in which GIS can be used to study the past considering key questions such as what types of new knowledge can be developed solely as a consequence of using GIS and how effective GIS can be for different types of research Global in scope and covering a broad range of subjects the chapters in this volume discuss ways of turning sources into a GIS database methods of analysing these databases methods of visualising the results of the analyses and approaches to interpreting analyses and visualisations Chapter authors draw from a diverse collection of case studies from around the world covering topics from state power in imperial China to the urban property market in nineteenth century Rio de Janeiro health and society in twentieth century Britain and the demographic impact of the Second Battle of Ypres in 1915 Critically evaluating both the strengths and limitations of GIS and illustrated with over two hundred maps and figures this volume is an essential resource for all students and scholars interested in the use of GIS and spatial analysis as a method of historical research

Changing Suburbs Richard Harris, Peter Larkham, 2003-09-02 A multidisciplinary team of specialists list historical and contemporary research on suburbanization with particular emphasis on the UK North America Australia and South Africa

Making Public Pasts Alan Gordon, 2001-10-24 Gordon shows that while individual memory is crucial to establishing and maintaining identity public memory is contested terrain official customs and traditions monuments historic sites and the celebration of anniversaries and festivals serve to order individual and collective perceptions of the past Public memory is therefore the product of competitions and ideas about the past that are fashioned in a public sphere and speak primarily about structures of power It conscripts historical events in a bid to guide shared memories into a coherent narrative that helps individuals negotiate their place in broader collective identities The contest over public memories involves an exclusiveness that packages others according to the ideological preferences of the dominant cultures Gordon shows that in Montreal ethnic class and gender voices strove to stake their own claims to legitimacy Rather than acknowledging a single past Montreal s many publics made and celebrated many public memories

Families in Transition Peter Gossage, 1999 Using a family reconstruction method Gossage history U de Sherbrooke explores how the rise of industrial capitalism transformed the lives of the Quebec town s French speaking Catholic families He draws on local registers and manuscript census schedules to focus on marriage household organization and family size in the context of the social and economic change Among his findings are a growing divergence between bourgeois and proletarian families in regard to marriage and fertility patterns Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Cities of Oil Timothy Cobban, 2014-01-31 Cities of Oil is the first sustained historical account of the development of the early Canadian petroleum refining and manufacturing industry In it Timothy W Cobban documents the industry's development in southern Ontario from its beginnings in the 1850s to its later expansion on the outskirts of London to Petrolia and finally to Sarnia He accounts for all of the industry's important developments and innovations particularly the role played by municipalities in fostering its growth Using extensive archival research Cobban concludes that municipalities can stimulate the accelerated sustained development of local industry sectors thus challenging the dominant view that the influence of municipalities on economic growth is marginal Cities of Oil demonstrates the importance of accommodating the land and infrastructure needs of industry at critical junctures and implementing land use policies that encourage the dense clustering of industries This book will be essential reading for those seeking a greater understanding of industrial growth in the province of Ontario

Canada and Arctic North America Graeme Wynn, 2006-11-10 This comprehensive treatment of the environmental history of northern North America offers a compelling account of the complex encounters of people technology culture and ecology that shaped modern day Canada and Alaska From the arrival of the earliest humans to the very latest scientific controversies the environmental history of Canada and Arctic North America is dramatic diverse and crucial for the very survival of the human race Packed with key facts and analysis this expert guide explores the complex interplay between human societies and the environment from the Aleutian Islands to the Grand Banks and from the Great Lakes to the Arctic Islands How has the challenging environment of America's most northerly regions with some areas still dominated by native peoples helped shape politics and trade What have been the consequences of European contact with this region and its indigenous inhabitants How did natives and newcomers cope with and change this vast and forbidding territory Can a perspective on the past help us in grappling with the conflict between oil exploration and wilderness preservation on the North Slope of Alaska Part of ABC CLIO's Nature and Human Societies series this unique work charts the region's environmental history from prehistory to modern times and is essential reading for students and experts alike

Creeping Conformity Richard Harris, 2004-12-15 Creeping Conformity the first history of suburbanization in Canada provides a geographical perspective both physical and social on Canada's suburban past Shaped by internal and external migration decentralization of employment and increased use of the streetcar and then the automobile the rise of the suburb held great social promise reflecting the aspirations of Canadian families for more domestic space and home ownership After 1945 however the suburbs became stereotyped as generic physically standardized and socially conformist places By 1960 they had grown further away physically and culturally from their respective parent cities and brought unanticipated social and environmental consequences Government intervention also played a key role encouraging mortgage indebtedness amortization and building and subdivision regulations to become the suburban norm Suburban homes became less affordable and more standardized and for the first time Canadian commentators began to speak disdainfully of the suburbs or simply suburbia Creeping Conformity traces how these perceptions emerged to reflect a new suburban reality

Electronic Format Disclaimer Two images removed at the request of the rights holder Selling British Columbia Michael Dawson, 2007-10-01 Selling British Columbia is an entertaining examination of the development of the tourist industry in British Columbia between 1890 and 1970 Michael Dawson argues that in order to understand the roots of the fully fledged consumer culture that emerged in Canada after the Second World War it is necessary to understand the connections between the 1930s 1940s and the postwar era Cultural producers such as tourism promoters and the state infrastructure played important roles in fostering consumer demand particularly during the Depression the Second World War and throughout the postwar era Dawson draws upon promotional pamphlets newspapers advertisements and films as well as archival sources regarding government civic and international tourism organizations Central to his book is an examination of the representation of popular imagery and of how aboriginal and British cultures were commodified and marketed to potential tourists He also looks at the gendered aspect of these promotional campaigns particularly during the 1940s and challenges earlier interpretations regarding the relationship between tourism and nature in Canada Historians have tended to focus on either the first wave of consumerism from the 1880s to the 1920s or else on the era of economic expansion that followed World War Two As Dawson shows the 1930-45 period in particular was an important and dynamic one in the creation of Canadian and British Columbian consumer culture Michael Dawson's highly readable and engaging account of the development of the British Columbia tourist industry will be welcomed by British Columbian and Canadian historians as well as other scholars of tourism and consumerism Luther H. Holton Henry Cornelius Klassen, 2001 From the success of his various business ventures he moved easily into the world of politics Luther Holton was finance minister of the United Province of Canada from 1863 to 1864 leading the battle to reform the finance department and to enhance the province's credit in London England Planning the New Suburbia Avi Friedman, 2002 Friedman architecture McGill U and a team of graduate students urban planners and architects all participated in a lengthy project devoted to planning in the urban environment and developing affordable housing the fruits of which are assembled in this volume The history of suburban planning in Canada is given followed by an analysis of the various models used in planning The planning theory and construction designs formulated by Friedman's group follow with many detailed case studies of individual projects The book is well illustrated with black and white photos plans and drawings c Book News Inc Manufacturing Suburbs Robert Lewis, 2008 Urban historians have long portrayed suburbanization as the result of a bourgeois exodus from the city coupled with the introduction of streetcars that enabled the middle class to leave the city for the more rural surrounding regions Demonstrating that this is only a partial version of urban history Manufacturing Suburbs reclaims the history of working class suburbs by examining the development of industrial suburbs in the United States and Canada between 1850 and 1950

Contributors demonstrate that these suburbs developed in large part because of the location of manufacturing beyond city limits and the subsequent building of housing for the workers who labored within those factories Through case studies of industrial suburbanization and industrial suburbs in several metropolitan areas Chicago Baltimore Detroit Pittsburgh Los Angeles San Francisco Toronto and Montreal Manufacturing Suburbs sheds light on a key phenomenon of metropolitan development before the Second World War
