Who Shall Separate Us? Dr. Angelo O. Dart,2020-12-30 Multicultural growth in churches has increased significantly over the past few decades Changing neighborhood demographics styles of worship leadership values and denominational brands are all factors in church congregations becoming more diverse As a result many spiritual and sociological dynamics associated with such growth can significantly affect the overall health of any local church Who Shall Separate Us explores the divisions within the church that reflect the separation of races and cultures in the United States as a whole Author Dr Angelo O Dart identifies the underlying dynamics of these divisions as racism bias discrimination and prejudice elements that could certainly act on the development of the knowledge attitudes and behaviors between cultures in society As the church the Body of Christ has served humankind in both spiritual and social venues If one of the purposes of the church is to provide the spiritual utility by which values and morals are created it becomes vitally important for it to exude the kind of spiritual health worthy of emulation by the rest of society Understanding Faith Formation Mark A. Maddix,Jonathan H. Kim,James Riley Jr. Estep,2020-10-27 Three leading Christian educators offer a survey of faith formation from various perspectives biblical theological pastoral practical and global They present a biblical theology of faith formation for individual and congregational life and show how faith can be formed through the life and mission of the local church through practices such as communal worship Bible study and mission They also explore the faces of faith formation in multicultural and global contexts The book includes practical exercises for those beginning in ministry and reflection questions The Fabric of Liberty in the American Commonwealth Pasquale De Marco,2025-07-18 In the tapestry of American history the threads of race liberty and equality are inextricably interwoven forming a complex and often contradictory pattern This book delves into the intricate relationship between these three concepts tracing their intertwined histories from the nation s founding to the present day The book begins by examining the racialized origins of American liberalism arguing that the nation s founding ideals of liberty and equality were predicated on the exclusion of African Americans and other marginalized groups It then explores how racial politics have shaped the development of American liberalism over time from the abolitionist movement to the Civil War and Reconstruction the rise of Jim Crow segregation the Civil Rights Movement and the ongoing struggle for racial justice The book also examines the ways in which liberalism has both supported and undermined racial equality On the one hand liberal principles have been used to challenge racial oppression and discrimination On the other hand liberal policies have often failed to address the systemic racism that permeates American society The book argues that a truly inclusive liberalism must confront the legacy of racial oppression and build a more just and equitable future for all This book is essential reading for anyone interested in understanding the roots of racial inequality in the United States and the challenges of achieving racial justice It is also a valuable resource for scholars policymakers and activists working to create a more just and equitable society If you like this book write a review The Journal of Markets & Morality ,2006 American Book Publishing Record ,2004 Rhetoric, Race, Religion, and the Charleston Shootings Melody Lehn,Sean Patrick O'Rourke,2019-11-12 Rhetoric Race Religion and the Charleston Shootings Was Blind but Now I See is a collection focusing on the Charleston shootings written by leading scholars in the field who consider the rhetoric surrounding the shootings This book offers an appraisal of the discourses speeches editorials social media posts visual images prayers songs silence demonstrations and protests that constituted contested and reconstituted the shootings in American civic life and cultural memory It answers recent calls for local and regional studies and opens new fields of inquiry in the rhetoric sociology and history of mass killings gun violence and race relations and it does so while forging new connections between and among on going scholarly conversations about rhetoric race and religion Contributors argue that Charleston was different from other mass shootings in America and that this difference was made manifest through what was spoken and unspoken in its rhetorical aftermath Scholars of race religion rhetoric communication and sociology will find this book particularly useful

What About Us? Global Perspectives on Redressing Religious Inequalities Mariz Tadros, Olumide Adebimpe Aderounmu, Asif Aqeel, Manal Ahmed (Elehemier), Miriam Feldmann Kaye, Mary Gill, Mark Kaahwa, Philip Mader, Matome Jacky Makgoba, Moses Muhumuza, Rebecca Supriya Shah, Timothy Samuel Shah, Katharine Thane, Rifqah Tifloen, Tom

Vanwing, 2022-10-26 How can we make religious equality a reality for those on the margins of society and politics This book is about the individual and collective struggles of the religiously marginalised to be recognised and their inequalities religious or otherwise redressed It is also about the efforts of civil society governments multilateral actors and scholars to promote freedom of religion or belief whatever shape they take The actors and contexts that feature in this book are as diverse as health workers in Israel local education authorities in Nigeria indigenous movements in India Uganda or South Africa and multilateral actors such as the Islamic Development Bank in Sudan and the World Bank in Pakistan Some of the case studies engage with development discourses and narratives or are undertaken by development actors while other cases operate completely outside the international development paradigm These case studies present some important insights which while highly relevant for their contexts also draw out important insights for academics practitioners activists and others who have an interest in redressing religious inequalities for socioeconomically marginalised populations God

Speaks to Us, Too Susan M. Shaw, 2014-10-17 Raised as a Southern Baptist in Rome Georgia Susan M Shaw earned graduate degrees from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville Kentucky was ordained a Southern Baptist minister and prepared herself to lead a life of leadership and service among Southern Baptists However dramatic changes in both the makeup and the message of the Southern Baptist Convention during the 1980s and 1990s a period known among Southern Baptists as the Controversy caused Shaw and many other Southern Baptists especially women to reconsider their allegiances In God Speaks to Us Too Southern Baptist Women on Church Home and Society Shaw presents her own experiences as well as those of over 150 other current and former Southern Baptist women in order to examine the role identity and culture of women in the largest Protestant denomination in the country The Southern Baptist Convention was established in the United States in 1845 after a schism between Northern and Southern brethren over the question of slavery Shaw sketches the history of the Southern Baptist faith from its formation through its dramatic expansion following World War II to the Controversy and its aftermath The Controversy began as a successful attempt by fundamentalists within the denomination to pack the leadership and membership of the Southern Baptist Convention the denomination's guiding body with conservative and fundamentalist believers Although no official strictures prohibit a Southern Baptist woman from occupying the primary leadership role within her congregation or her own family rhetoric emanating from the Southern Baptist Convention during the Controversy strongly discouraged such roles for its women and church leadership remains overwhelmingly male as a result Despite the vast difference between the denomination s radical beginnings and its current position among the most conservative American denominations freedom of conscience is still prized Shaw identifies soul competency or the notion of a free soul that is responsible for its own decisions as the principle by which many Southern Baptist women reconcile their personal attitudes with conservative doctrine These women are often perceived from without as submissive secondary citizens but they are actually powerful actors within their families and churches God Speaks to Us Too reveals that Southern Baptist women understand themselves as agents of their own lives even though they locate their faith within the framework of a highly patriarchal institution Shaw presents these women through their own words and concludes that they believe strongly in their ability to discern the voice of God for themselves
