Promoting School Art:

Promoting School Art Phillip C. Dunn, 1987 Promoting Civic Engagement Through Art Education Flávia Bastos, Doug Blandy, 2024-10-25 This textbook equips students and educators committed to understanding how art and creative practice work as powerful communicative tools and have a substantial role in advancing civic participation. Alongside promoting educational practices with learners' civic engagement in mind, this book is a call to action inviting creative educators to explore the potential of art for developing critical perspectives, articulating voices and diverse points of view, and engaging in dialogue across difference. Chapters assist students and educators in understanding critical concepts ranging from the protections afforded art under the constitution to the role of civic institutions such as museums, community arts centers, and schools in advancing civic participation. They also present the relationship between art education and civic engagement using watershed political moments such as voter suppression initiatives, xenophobic reactions to the COVID 19 pandemic, and widespread national Black Lives Matter protests. Readers are guided throughout with a series of key questions at the onset of each chapter and encouraged to investigate further the issues discussed through exploration of the many resources embedded in each chapter. Coursework and participatory learning experiences that orient future and current art educators to the relationship of the arts and culture to democracy are also featured. This book will be ideal for students in art education in both upper division undergraduate and graduate levels with cross-curricular appeal for students of political science, social studies, sociology, public history, public anthropology, heritage studies, and public humanities. As well as this, it will be a must-read for educators who are asked to respond to challenges within the political sphere and how these political challenges are influencing educational environments.

Arts and Health Promotion J. Hope Corbin, Mariana Sanmartino, Emily Alden Hennessy, Helga Bjørnøy Urke, 2021-03-29 This open access book offers an overview of the beautiful, powerful, and dynamic array of opportunities to promote health through the arts from theoretical, methodological, pedagogical, and critical perspectives. This is the first known text to connect the disparate interdisciplinary literatures into a coherent volume for health promotion practitioners, researchers, and teachers. It provides a one-stop depository for using the arts as tools for health promotion in many settings and as bridges across communities, cultures, and sectors. The diverse applications of the arts in health promotion transcend the multiple contexts within which health is created, i.e., individual, community, and societal levels, and has a number of potential health, aesthetic, and social outcomes. Topics covered within the chapters include: Exploring the Potential of the Arts to Promote Health and Social Justice; Drawing as a Salutogenic Therapy Aid for Grieving Adolescents in Botswana; Community Theater for Health Promotion in Japan; From Arts to Action: Project SHINE as a Case Study of Engaging Youth in Efforts to Develop Sustainable Water Sanitation and Hygiene Strategies in Rural Tanzania; and India Movimiento Ventana: An Alternative Proposal to Mental Health in Nicaragua. Using Art to Bridge Research and Policy: An Initiative of the United States National Academy of Medicine. Arts and Health Promotion is an innovative and engaging resource for a broad audience including practitioners researchers university instructors and artists It is an important text for undergraduate and graduate level courses particularly in program planning research methods especially qualitative methodology community health and applied art classes The book also is useful for professional development among current health promotion practitioners community nurses community psychologists public health professionals and social workers
