Promoting Non-Violence in Early Adolescence Aleta L. Meyer, 2000-07-31 This series of monographs is dedicated to the increasingly vital area of prevention in healthcare The works are organized into four categories of preventive practice education social competency enhancement natural caregiving and systems change Tragedy should not and need not occur before a school or community begins making efforts to prevent violence This volume describes the steps taken by Responding In Peaceful and Positive Ways RIPP a program developed to promote non violence among students in middle schools RIPP provides young people with new ways to respond to conflict Using the acronym RAID the students are taught four types of non violent options Resolve Avoid Ignore and Diffuse By teaching that they have other choices in any conflict the idea that fighting is a necessary response to an insult or a conflict is dispelled RIPP also teaches the need for everyone to accept differences to affirm those with whom they come in contact and not to engage in put downs of others This empirically validated program has been proven to work in a variety of settings and was designed with real life experiences in mind It was originally developed and implemented in collaboration with school administrators in both urban and rural settings

Flannery, Alexander T. Vazsonyi, Irwin D. Waldman, 2007-09-03 From a team of leading experts comes a comprehensive multidisciplinary examination of the most current research including the complex issue of violence and violent behavior The handbook examines a range of theoretical policy and research issues and provides a comprehensive overview of aggressive and violent behavior The breadth of coverage is impressive ranging from research on biological factors related to violence and behavior genetics to research on terrrorism and the impact of violence in different cultures The authors examine violence from international cross cultural perspectives with chapters that examine both quantitative and qualitative research They also look at violence at multiple levels individual family neighborhood cultural and across multiple perspectives and systems including treatment justice education and public health Violence Finn-Aage Esbensen, 2010-08-06 The first comprehensive overview to examine how sex and race ethnicity impact the interrelationships among youth violence violent victimization and gang membership Building Healthy Individuals, Families, and Communities Ted N. Strader, David A. Collins, Tim D. Noe, 2012-12-06 Youth have nearly always exhibited behaviors that frustrate adults It can be difficult to understand why young people engage in risky or destructive behavior and it is challenging to develop strategies to encourage more healthy and responsible behavior among our youth However it is helpful to realize that despite the fact that large numbers of youth engage in frightful and destructive behaviors for pe riods of time during adolescence and early adulthood a large proportion of youth find a way not only to survive but also to bounce back and contribute significantly to the furtherance of human development We are not the first generation of adults to experience the pain fear and frustration of dealing with our youth More important we recognize that we are not helpless when faced with the problems youth experience While it is true that adolescents have always exhibited problem behaviors a number of effective tools and approaches have always been at our disposal to assist with appropriate youth development Of course the most effective approaches require a tremendous amount of focused time and energy Successful Prevention and Youth Development Programs Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Håkan Stattin, Carolyn Cass Lorente, Jonathan G. Tubman, Lena Adamson, 2012-02-02 From a European Perspective This book charts territory that is profoundly important and yet rarely fully understood The authors have attempted a task that has relevance to the widest possible range of professionals working with children and adolescents In describing and assessing the fields prevention and promotion they have performed an immense service to researchers in this field but also to practitioners across the spectrum from mental health nurses and doctors to teachers and psychologists from social work professionals to psychiatrists and youth counselors There are two other key elements that should be emphasized from the outset The first is that the approach in this book is truly multi disciplinary with the authors making a genuine attempt to draw upon knowledge and practice derived from all the relevant disciplines The second element which makes this book so important is that the authors have worked across countries to ensure that work in the field of intervention from both North America and from Europe should be included This is as welcome as it is refreshing There appear to be so many barriers to true collaboration between the two continents and so many examples of either North American to what is going on across the or European social scientists appearing blind border that the approach taken here should be wholeheartedly commended This book is essentially a review but a rather special review
