The Practice of Her Profession Susan Butlin, 2009-03-01 In The Practice of Her Profession Susan Butlin draws on unpublished letters and family memoirs to recount Carlyle's personal and professional life

She explores Carlyle's artistic influences, her relationships with artist colleagues and encounters with the cultural worlds of Paris, New York, and early twentieth-century Canada, and provides a detailed examination of Carlyle's paintings. Butlin's vivid description of the artistic life of women of this era, from access to art training to the important role of women's art societies, introduces readers to Carlyle's many accomplished contemporaries: Helen McNicoll, Mary Reid, Laura Muntz, Sarah Holden, Sydney Tully, Elizabeth McGillivray, Knowles, and others.

Inventing Secondary Education Robert Douglas Gidney, Winnifred Phoebe Joyce Millar, 1990. The received view is that secondary education in Ontario is a result of Egerton Ryerson's Education Act of 1871. But R. D. Gidney and W. P. J. Millar show that Ryerson and the Provincial Education Office responded to, rather than directed, policy in higher education. In fact, the system in place today is evidence of Ryerson's failure to implement the programs he wanted.

Quiet Rebels Mary Jane Mossman, 2024-04-16. It's a girl! The Ontario press announced as Canada's first woman lawyer was called to the Ontario bar in February 1897. Quiet Rebels explores experiences of exclusion among the few women lawyers for the next six decades and how their experiences continue to shape gender issues in the contemporary legal profession. Mary Jane Mossman tells the stories of all 187 Ontario women lawyers called to the bar from 1897 to 1957, revealing the legal profession's gendered patterns. Comprising a small handful of students or even a single student at the Law School, women were often ignored and they faced discrimination in obtaining articling positions and legal employment. Most were Protestant, white, and middle class, and a minority of Jewish, Catholic, Black, and immigrant women lawyers faced even greater challenges. The book also explores some changes as well as continuities for the much larger numbers of Ontario women lawyers in recent decades. This longitudinal study of women lawyers' gendered experiences in the profession during six decades of social, economic, and political change in early twentieth-century Ontario identifies factors that created or foreclosed on women lawyers' professional success. The book's final section explores how some current women lawyers, despite their increased numbers, must remain quiet rebels to succeed.

The Regenerators, 2nd Edition Ramsay Cook, 2016-06-16. A crisis of faith confronted many Canadian Protestants in the late nineteenth century. With their religious beliefs challenged by the new biological sciences and historical criticism of the Bible, they turned from personal salvation to the dire social problems of the industrial age. The Regenerators explores the nature of social criticism in this era and its complex ties to the religious thinking of the day, showing how the path blazed by nineteenth-century religious liberals led not to the Kingdom of God on earth but ironically to the secular city. The winner of the Governor General's Literary Award for Non-Fiction when it was first published in 1985, The Regenerators became an instant classic for its fascinating portraits of evolutionists, rationalists, spiritualists, socialists, and free thinkers before the turn of the century. This new edition features an introduction by historian and biographer Donald Wright.

The

Regenerators Ramsay Cook, 1985-12-15 A crisis of faith confronted many Canadian Protestants in the late nineteenth century. Their religious beliefs were challenged by the new biological sciences and by historical criticism of the Bible. Personal salvation for centuries the central concern of Christianity no longer seemed an adequate focus in an age that gave rise to industrial cities and grave social problems. No single word Cook claims catches more correctly the spirit of the late Victorian reform movement than regeneration, a concept originally meaning rebirth and applied to individuals now increasingly used to describe social salvation. In exploring the nature of social criticism and its complex ties to the religious thinking of the day, Cook analyses the thought of an extraordinary cast of characters who presented a bewildering array of nostrums and beliefs from evolutionists, rationalists, higher critics and free thinkers to feminists, spiritualists, theosophists, socialists, communists, single taxers and many more. There is Goldwin Smith the sceptic who needed God spreading gloom and doom from the comfort of the Grange, W. D. Le Sueur the positivist in the Post Office, the heresiarch Dr R. M. Bucke overdosed on Whitman with his message of cosmic consciousness and a free thinking high rolling bee keeper named Allen Pringle whose perorations led to hot exciting nights in Napanee. It is a world of such diverse figures as Phillips Thompson, Floar MacDonald, Denison, Agnes Machar, J. W. Bengough and J. S. Woodsworth, a world that made Mackenzie King conclude that the path blazed by nineteenth century religious liberals led not to the Kingdom of God on earth as many had hoped but ironically to the secular city.

Moments of Unreason Cheryl Krasnick Warsh, 1989-11-01 Moments of Unreason is the first detailed study of a private asylum in North America, the Homewood Retreat in Guelph, Ontario, established in 1883 as an early Canadian venture into corporate health care. Cheryl Krasnick Warsh studies the careers of its first two medical superintendents, Stephen Lett and Alfred Hobbs, which spanned the evolution of mental health theory from moral management to mental therapeutics and later neuro psychiatry. This evolution did not make practical management of the Institute less complex; an underpaid, undertrained work force combined with an unruly patient population resulted in instances of neglect, abuse and over medication.

A Great Rural Sisterhood Linda M. Ambrose, 2015-01-01 In A Great Rural Sisterhood Linda M. Ambrose uses a wealth of archival materials from both sides of the Atlantic to tell the story of Watt's remarkable life and the creation of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Harriet Brooks Marelene F. Rayner-Canham, Geoffrey W. Rayner-Canham, 1992-02-07 After completing a master's degree at McGill University under Rutherford's tutelage, Brooks continued her post graduate work at Bryn Mawr College and Cambridge University, eventually returning to McGill to work again with Rutherford. In 1904 she left Canada to work at Barnard College in New York City and then with Curie in Paris. Brooks had a significant career as a nuclear scientist but her success was hampered by the fact that she was a woman. She eventually married and left research. Her premature death at age fifty-six was probably related to her work with radiation.

Daughters of Time Mary Kinnear, 1982 A history of women in the Western world. The Spinster and the Prophet Brian McKillop, 2011-11-30 Winner of the UBC Medal for Biography and shortlisted for the Drainie Taylor Biography Prize.

The prolific novelist and social prophet H G Wells had a way with words and usually he had his way with women That is until he encountered the feisty Toronto spinster Florence Deeks In 1925 Miss Deeks launched a 500 000 lawsuit against Wells claiming that in an act of literary piracy Wells had somehow come to use her manuscript history of the world in the writing of his international bestseller The Outline of History a work still in print today Thus began one of the most sensational and extraordinary cases in Anglo Canadian publishing and legal history In this riveting literary whodunit A B McKillop unfolds the parallel stories of two Edwardian figures and the ambition to capture the sweep of history that possessed them both H G Wells was the celebrated writer of autobiographical fiction and futuristic fantasy who at the end of the Great War preached the need for a global world order Florence Deeks was a modest teacher and amateur student of history who intended to correct traditional scholarship's neglect by writing an account of civilization that stressed the contributions of women Her manuscript was submitted to the venerable Macmillan Company in Canada but was rejected and never published Wells's opus completed in an astonishingly short period was released by the same firm in North America the year following As the mystery deepens and new evidence is revealed it seems that the verdict of the courts in Deeks vs Wells may not be that of history The cast of characters is as intriguing as it is wide in Canada the United States and England renowned publishers and editors eminent lawyers and judges leading journalists and all seeing office secretaries Not all it turns out merited their reputations Above all the tale embraces the lives of the philandering Mr Wells his wife and his mistresses and the scarcely noted Miss Florence Deeks her family her life's work and her search for justice
