Courts, Elites, and Gendered Power in the Early Middle Ages Janet L. Nelson, 2024-10-28 A major theme in the volume of articles by Janet Nelson is the usefulness of gender as a category of historical analysis Papers range widely across early medieval time and geographical as well as social space but most focus on the Carolingian period and on royalty and elites The workings of dynastic political power are viewed in social as well as political context and the author explores the realities of gendered power which while constraining women gave them distinctive possibilities for agency These papers offer new perspectives on the Carolingian world in general and on Charlemagne's reign in particular

Episcopal Power and Ecclesiastical Reform in the German Empire John Eldevik, 2012-08-06 Focusing on the way bishops in the eleventh century used the ecclesiastical tithe church taxes to develop or re order ties of loyalty and dependence within their dioceses this book offers a new perspective on episcopacy in medieval Germany and Italy Using three broad case studies from the dioceses of Mainz Salzburg and Lucca in Tuscany John Eldevik places the social dynamics of collecting the church tithe within current debates about religious reform social change and the so called feudal revolution in the eleventh century and analyses a key economic institution the medieval tithe as a social and political phenomenon By examining episcopal churches and their possessions not in institutional terms but as social networks which bishops were obliged to negotiate and construct over time using legal historiographical and interpersonal means this comparative study casts fresh light on the history of early medieval society The Cambridge History of Medieval Monasticism in the Latin West Alison I. Beach, Isabelle Cochelin, 2020-01-09 Monasticism in all of its variations was a feature of almost every landscape in the medieval West So ubiquitous were religious women and men throughout the Middle Ages that all medievalists encounter monasticism in their intellectual worlds While there is enormous interest in medieval monasticism among Anglophone scholars language is often a barrier to accessing some of the most important and groundbreaking research emerging from Europe The Cambridge History of Medieval Monasticism in the Latin West offers a comprehensive treatment of medieval monasticism from Late Antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages The essays specially commissioned for this volume and written by an international team of scholars with contributors from Australia Belgium Canada England France Germany Italy the Netherlands Spain Switzerland and the United States cover a range of topics and themes and represent the most up to date discoveries on this topic Carolingian Catalonia Cullen J. Chandler, 2019-01-10 Drawing on a range of evidence related to royal authority political events and literate culture this study traces how kings and emperors involved themselves in the affairs of the Spanish March and examines how actively people in Catalonia participated in politics centred on the royal court Rather than setting the political development of the region in terms of Catalonia s future independence as a medieval principality Cullen J Chandler addresses it as part of the Carolingian experiment In doing so he incorporates an analysis of political events alongside an examination of such cultural issues as the spread of the Rule of Benedict the Adoptionist controversy and the educational programme of the Carolingian reforms This new history of the region offers a robust and absorbing analysis of the nature of the Carolingian legacy in the March while also revising traditional interpretations of ethnic motivations for political acts and earlier attempts to pinpoint the constitutional birth of Catalonia

Reforming the Church before Modernity Christopher M. Bellitto, 2016-04-08 Reforming the Church before Modernity considers the question of ecclesial reform from late antiquity to the 17th century and tackles this complex question from primarily cultural perspectives rather than the more usual institutional approaches. The common themes are social change centres and peripheries of change, monasticism and intellectuals and their relationship to reform. This innovative approach opens up the question of how religious reform took place and challenges existing ecclesiological models that remain too focussed on structures in a manner artificial for pre-modern Europe. Several chapters specifically take issue with the problem of what constitutes reform, reformations and historians' notions of the periodization of reform while in others the relationship between personal transformation and its broader social, political or ecclesial context emerges as a significant dynamic. Presenting essays from a distinguished international cast of scholars, the book makes an important contribution to the debates over ecclesiology and religious reform stimulated by the anniversary of Vatican II.

The Plow, the Pen and the Sword Rudi Künzel, 2017-09-22 This book compares the cultures of the different social groups living in the Low Countries in the early Middle Ages. Clergy, nobility, peasants and townsmen greatly varied in their attitudes to labor, property, violence and the handling and showing of emotions. Künzel explores how these social groups looked at themselves as a group and how they looked at the other groups. Image and self-image could differ radically. The results of this research are specified and tested in four case studies on the interaction between group cultures focusing respectively on the influence of oral and written traditions on a literary work, rituals as a means of conflict management in weakly centralized societies, stories as an expression of an urban group mentality and beliefs on death and the afterlife.

Patterns of Episcopal Power Ludger Körntgen, Dominik Waßenhoven, 2011-08-29 In medieval Europe the death of a king could not only cause a dispute about the succession but also a severe crisis. In times of a vacant throne particular responsibility fell to the bishops whose general importance for the time around the first millennium has been revealed by recent scholarship as royal counsellors and policy makers. This volume therefore concentrates on the bishops' room for manoeuvre and the patterns of episcopal power focusing on the Eastern Frankish Reich and Anglo-Saxon England in a comparative approach which is not least based upon the research of a renowned medievalist, Timothy Reuter. His article about A Europe of Bishops, Ein Europa der Bischöfe is presented in English translation for the first time.

Canon Law John J. Coughlin, 2011 Canon Law explores the canon law of the Roman Catholic Church from a comparative perspective. The introduction to the book presents historical examples of antinomian and legalistic approaches to canon law.

Transactions of the Royal Historical Society: Volume 9 Royal Historical Society, 1999-12-09 Volume 9 of the RHS Transactions contains essays based around the theme oral history, memory and written tradition.

The Proprietary Church in the Medieval West Susan Wood, 2008-12-18 Although there have been many regional studies of the proprietary church or particular aspects of it, this is the first extensive study of it covering most of western Europe from the end of the Roman Empire in the West to about 1200. The book aims at a broad survey in varying degrees of intensity and with a shifting geographical focus and it asks questions that are as much social and religious as legal or administrative The book vindicates for village and estate churches Ulrich Stutz's basic concept of a church with its possessions revenues and priestly office as an object of what we can reasonably call property But it largely rejects his and his followers application of this to great churches and sees the position of intermediate churches such as small or middling monasteries as various changeable and ambivalent Above all it turns away from Stutz's view of the property relationship as a distinct institution or system of Germanic church law presenting it rather as a fluid set of assumptions and practices taking shape as customary law The book considers also the changing background of ideas and the bearing on it of important polemical writings with some questioning of their established interpretations Finally the book discusses how property in churches was imperfectly superseded by the new canon law patronage in the increasingly bureaucratic post Gregorian Church

Gender and the City before Modernity Lin Foxhall, Gabriele Neher, 2012-04-17 Gender and the City before Modernity presents a series of multi disciplinary readings that explore issues relating to the role of gender in a variety of cities of the ancient medieval and early modern worlds Presents an inter disciplinary collection of readings that reveal new insights into the intersection of gender temporality and urban space Features a wide geographical and methodological range Includes numerous illustrations to enhance clarity

Wales and the Britons, 350-1064 T. M. Charles-Edwards, 2013 The most detailed history of the Welsh from Late Roman Britain to the eve of the Norman Conquest Integrates the history of religion language and literature with the history of events

High-Ranking Widows in Medieval Iceland and Yorkshire Philadelphia Ricketts, 2010-09-24 This book provides an evocative insight into the property power remarriage and identity of high ranking widows in two fundamentally different societies Iceland and Yorkshire The legal position of widows in each region is examined in light of evidence from charters royal records and sagas to establish a detailed picture of practice Comparison and family reconstruction are important elements enabling the book to emphasize the placement of widows within the context of society and its institutions and to consider fully the impact of individual circumstances on the widows opportunities for action The result offers a fresh approach that tests widely accepted generalizations about widows independence highlights differences between regions and suggests the need to reconsider traditional rigid definitions of kinship systems

Learning and Culture in Carolingian Europe John J. Contreni, 2024-10-28 Nine of the ten essays in this collection appeared first between 1995 and 2005 Centered in the Carolingian age they explore how the seventh century Visio Baronti was read in the ninth century and how social and cultural imperatives transformed the life of scholarship schools and learning in Carolingian Europe Several essays consider the significance of numerical and scientific studies in the Carolingian curriculum including the impact of Bede's scientific works in the schools and on the thought of John Scottus Eriugena Another reconstructs Eriugena's early career in light of his Glossae divinae historiae Carolingian biblical culture is the subject of two essays including a reading of Haimo of Auxerre's commentary on Ezechiel that highlights the unfinished and unpublished commentary's critique of Carolingian society A poem in the Anthologia Latina long ascribed to Octavian the Roman emperor is restored to the monastic culture of the ninth century Finally an article on the Laon Formulary originally published in French in 1973 is here translated and revised

Poverty's Proprietors: Ownership and Mortal Sin at the Origins of the Observant Movement James (Jim) Mixson, 2009-03-25 Focusing on the theme of property and community this study offers a new account of the origins of fifteenth century Observant reform in the monasteries and canonries of the southern Empire Through close readings of unpublished texts it traces how ideas about reformed community emerged both beyond and within the religious orders in the era of the Council of Constance Focusing on reform among monks and canons in Bavaria and Austria to 1450 it then shows how those ideas were applied in practice through reforming visitation and through a devotional culture steeped in the new piety of the day These considerations allow the Observant Movement to offer fresh perspectives on the history religious community reform and the church in the fifteenth century
