Property In Economic Context No 14 Monographs In Economic Anthropology:

Theory in Economic Anthropology Jean Ensminger, 2002 Comprising 13 contributions mostly based on papers presented at the annual conference of the Society for Economic Anthropology in 1998 at Northwestern University this volume focuses several themes the new institutionalism wealth exchange and the evolution of social institutions small producers interactions with the wider world commodity chains and the formal informal sector distinction and the role for big theory in economic anthropology Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Property Rights, Economics and the Environment Michael D. Kaplowitz, 2004-08-02 This book explores how discussions of environmental policy increasingly require scholars and practitioners to integrate legal economic analyses of property rights issues An excellent array of contributors have come together for the first time to produce this magnificent book      Economic Representations ,      Property in Economic Context Robert C. Hunt, Antonio Gilman, 1998-04-02 Co published with the Society for Economic Anthropology Property in Economic Context presents fifteen original essays examining the definition and organization of property in the context of economic organization Focusing on precapitalist societies as accessed through history and archaeology as well as modern colonial encounters accessed through ethnography the essays argue for and illustrate the importance of including specific property features when doing an analysis of economic organization This is the first time that general property issues have been empirically investigated in this manner      Politics, Property and Production in the West African Sahel Tor Arve Benjaminsen, Christian Lund, 2001 Through a number of case studies from the West African Sahel this book links and explores natural resources management from the perspectives of politics property and production      Migration and Economy Lillian Trager, 2005 Focuses on migration not as a single event but as a dynamic process that responds to and is shaped by broader economic cultural and social forces This title features individual essays that offer studies on Mexico Puerto Rico West Africa Kazakstan and Mozambique It is useful for development anthropology migration studies and more This book focuses on the historical sociology of the Turkish state It seeks to compare the development of the Ottoman Turkish state with similar processes of large scale historical change in Europe identified by Michael Mann in The Sources of Social Power It traces the contours of Turkey s modernisation with the intention of formulating a fresh way to approach state development in countries on the global economic periphery particularly those attempting to effect closer ties with Northern markets It also highlights matters of social change pertinent to states grappling with issues relating to political Islam minority identity and irredentist dissent      The Oxford Handbook of the Incas Sonia Alconini, R. Alan Covey, 2018-04-02 When Spaniards invaded their realm in 1532 the Incas ruled the largest empire of the pre Columbian Americas Just over a century earlier military campaigns began to extend power across a broad swath of the Andean region bringing local societies into new relationships with colonists and officials who represented the Inca state With Cuzco as its capital the Inca empire encompassed a multitude of peoples of diverse geographic origins and cultural traditions dwelling in the outlying provinces and frontier regions Bringing together an international group of well established scholars and emerging researchers this handbook is dedicated to revealing the origins of this empire as well as its evolution and aftermath Chapters break new ground using innovative multidisciplinary research from the areas of archaeology ethnohistory and art history The scope of this handbook is comprehensive It places the century of Inca imperial expansion within a broader historical and archaeological context and then turns from Inca origins to the imperial political economy and institutions that facilitated expansion Provincial and frontier case studies explore the negotiation and implementation of state policies and institutions and their effects on the communities and individuals that made up the bulk of the population Several chapters describe religious power in the Andes as well as the special statuses that staffed the state religion maintained records served royal households and produced fine craft goods to support state activities The Incas did not disappear in 1532 and the volume continues into the Colonial and later periods exploring not only the effects of the Spanish conquest on the lives of the indigenous populations but also the cultural continuities and discontinuities Moving into the present the volume ends with an overview of the ways in which the image of the Inca and the pre Columbian past is memorialized and reinterpreted by contemporary Andeans

Economies and the Transformation of Landscape Lisa Cliggett, Christopher A. Pool, 2008 Economies and the Transformation of Landscape explores both the general and specific ways in which local economic ventures around the world such as mining ranching and farming affect the environment

Competing Jurisdictions Sandra Evers, Marja Spiereburg, Harry Wels, 2005 Includes bibliographical references

Labor in Cross-Cultural Perspective Society for Economic Anthropology (U.S.). Meeting, 2006 This excellent new volume in the series from the Society for Economic Anthropology focuses on the role of labor in world economies Contributors offer a range of case studies illustrating labor processes in both western and nonwestern societies Individual sections include discussions on household labor firms and corporations and state and transnational conditions This book will be a valuable resource for scholars students and interested readers of international economics anthropology development issues labor studies and sociology

An Archaeology of Land Ownership Maria Relaki, Despina Catapoti, 2013-10-23 Within archaeological studies land tenure has been mainly studied from the viewpoint of ownership A host of studies has argued about land ownership on the basis of the simple co existence of artefacts on the landscape other studies have tended to extrapolate land ownership from more indirect means Particularly noteworthy is the tendency to portray land ownership as the driving force behind the emergence of social complexity a primordial ingredient in the processes that led to the political and economic expansion of prehistoric societies The association between people and land in all of these interpretive schemata is however less easy to detect analytically Although various rubrics have been employed to identify such a connection most notable among them the concepts of cultures regions or even households they take the links between land and people as a given and not as something that needs to be conceptually defined and empirically substantiated An Archaeology of Land Ownership demonstrates that the relationship between people and land in the past is first and foremost an analytical issue and one that calls for clarification not only at the level of definition but also methodological applicability Bringing together an international roster of specialists the essays in this volume call attention to the processes by which links to land are established the various forms that such links take and how they can change through time as well as their importance in helping to forge or dilute an understanding of community at various circumstances

Greed Unbound: Official Misdeeds in Political Economies of Kin Groups and Chieftdoms (Volume 1) Eugene L Mendonsa, Ph.D.,2016-02-10 The first volume of Greed Unbound is about the ways elites siphoned off value from workers in the early Neolithic farming and herding societies In the broadest terms it highlights the consequences of greed in officialdom the offices of kin groups cults secret societies and chieftdoms Greed in all of these groups has consistently led to severe inequality Prior to the Agricultural Revolution inequality had been held in check being restricted to such things as respect for the elderly and male chauvinism In the mild inequality of the Long Paleolithic no one person or faction could siphon value from the labor of others But all that changed once food was stored in farming societies allowing greedy chiefs to exploit the common people in stark contrast to the egalitarian nature of life before the development of stored wealth With the change exploitation flourished as did warfare and mystical institutions that functioned to mislead and appease the masses Rich Indians Alexandra Harmon,2010 Long before lucrative tribal casinos sparked controversy Native Americans amassed other wealth that provoked intense debate about the desirability morality and compatibility of Indian and non Indian economic practices Skillfully blending social cultu Rural Development in India Komol Singha,2010 Contributed articles with special reference to Northeastern India Handbook of Archaeological Methods Herbert D. G. Maschner,Christopher Chippindale,2005 The Handbook of Archaeological Methods comprises 37 articles by leading archaeologists on the key methods used by archaeologists in the field in analysis in theory building and in managing cultural resources The book is destined to become the key reference work for archaeologists and their advanced students on contemporary archaeological methods Commodities and Globalization Peter D. Little,Angelique Haugerud,Priscilla M. Stone,2000-07-05 TodayOs growing fascination with flows of people commodities technology capital images and ideas across national and other boundaries poses fresh theoretical and methodological challenges to anthropology Commodities offer a particularly useful window on globalization because they unlike electronically conveyed capital transport cultural messages These ideological or symbolic transfers are of particular interest to economic anthropology This collection considers how conceptions and roles of commodities may change in response to widening spheres of economic interaction and exchange The essays in this volume are ordered under two themes Those included in the first section OCommodities in a Globalizing Marketplace O address historically and culturally defined variations in meanings and practices associated with commodities in globalizing markets In Part Two OThe Circulation and Revaluation of CommoditiesO contributors analyze how commodity producersO experiences are informed by colonial and post colonial history state directives in the marketplace and locations in dependent or marginalized regions The chapters all focus on the production process as it responds to is distorted by and increasingly is controlled by the determination of the value of those commodities outside a locality Archaeology at the Millennium Gary M. Feinman, T. Douglas Price, 2007-10-17 An internationally distinguished roster of contributors considers the state of the art of the discipline of archaeology at the turn of the 21st century and charts an ambitious agenda for the future The chapters address a wide range of topics including paradigms practice and relevance of the discipline paleoanthropology fully modern humans holocene hunter gatherers the transition to food and craft production social inequality warfare state and empire formation and the uneasy relationship between classical and anthropological archaeology Fast Food/Slow Food Richard Wilk, 2006-08-25 Wilk and his colleagues draw upon their own international field experience to examine how food systems are changing around the globe The authors offer a cultural perspective that is missing in other economic and developmental studies and provide rich ethnographic data on markets industrial production and food economies This new book will appeal to professionals in economic and environmental anthropology economic development agricultural economics consumer behavior nutritional sciences environmental sustainability and globalization studies Democratising Development Peris Jones, Kristian Stokke, 2005 What are the prospects and means of achieving development through a democratic politics of socio economic rights Starting from the position that socio economic rights are as legally and normatively valid as civil and political rights this anthology explores the politics of acquiring and transforming socio economic rights in South Africa The post apartheid South African experience shows that democracy is not a guarantee for elimination of poverty and inequality but also that democratic institutions and politics may provide means for addressing past and present injustices Thus it is argued that democratic politics of socio economic rights democratises development while also developing democracy Integrated Access in Live Performance Louise Fryer, Amelia Cavallo, 2021-11-21 Twelve per cent of UK theatregoers have a disability This compares with 18% of the UK's adult population Directors can help build audiences as diverse as the population at large by making their art accessible to all Live performances are increasingly being made accessible to people with sensory impairments not only to satisfy equality laws and the requirements of funding bodies but also in the interest of diversity and as a catalyst for creativity But how do you ensure you don't throw out the access baby with the artistic bathwater This book draws on the results of the Integrated Access Inquiry Is It Working A qualitative study with 20 theatre makers from around the UK it was commissioned by Extant Theatre the UK's leading company of blind and visually impaired people and combines feedback from disabled audiences with advice from the creative teams who have experimented with integrating access It discusses the challenges and opportunities of working with disabled actors and building in audience access even before rehearsals begin It offers strategies case studies and a step by step guide to help creative people integrate access into their live performance for the benefit of all
