Prophet Of Energy:

Hans Bethe Jeremy Bernstein, 1977-04 This massive work on the history of evil particularly as symbolized by the Christian devil was written on the cusp of the 20th century by Paul Carus At that point in history it seemed apparent that evil would soon be eliminated by the onrushing forces of rationalism and modernism The devil had been reduced to a literary character always ready to make a silly bargain for a soul This trivialized image is perpetuated to this day Satan in the cinema is either represented as a hideous special effect or a comic bumbling trickster Long gone is the noble adversary of Jehovah as portrayed in the Bible Milton or Dante However the 20th century brought total war genocide death camps nuclear biological and chemical weapons mind control double speak ecological destruction and finally indiscriminant mass terror Evil was back and it was unmistakable No wonder that opinion polls in the United States show that a large proportion of the population believe in the existence of the devil Prophet of Energy Jeremy Bernstein, 1981 Hans Bethe: Prophet of Energy, A

The Message of Isaiah 40-55 John Goldingay, 2005-10-27 The Message of Isaiah 40 55 traces the argument of Isaiah 40 55 to show how the chapters bring a message of encouragement and challenge about God's intention to restore the Judean community some of whose members are in exile in Babylon others living in the city of Jerusalem that has lain devastated since it fell to the Babylonians in 587 The chapters hold before this community's eyes a vision of the nature of its God as the powerful creator and the loving restorer In the course of following the argument the reader becomes aware that the chapters have to deal with their audience's mysterious resistance to their message It cannot give God the kind of response the message needs and deserves nor can it fulfil the role as God's servant that is designed for it God nevertheless remains committed to it The prophet eventually becomes aware of a distinctive personal calling to embody that response until the people are ready to do so It is the prophet's willingness to do this notwithstanding the suffering it brings that embodies the kind of ministry that needs to be exercised to them so that they may be brought back to God and find a restoration of spirit as well as a physical restoration
