Water Borne Dan Rubinstein,2025-06-10 An unconventional SUP journey to discover how embracing blue space could improve our lives and our world In June 2023 writer Dan Rubinstein lashed camping gear to his stand up paddleboard and embarked on an improbable solo voyage from Ottawa to Montreal New York City Toronto and back to Ottawa along the rivers lakes and canals of a landlocked region Over 1 200 miles and 10 weeks he explored the healing potential of blue space the aquatic equivalent of green space and sought out others drawn to their local waters But the farther Rubinstein paddled the more he realized that being in on or around water does more than boost our mental and physical health and prompt stewardship toward the natural world He discovered that blue spaces are also a way to connect with the kaleidoscopic cross section of people he met and the diverse geographies and communities he passed through Weaving together research interviews and an unmanly malodorous anticolonial adventure tale Water Borne shows us that we don t need an epic journey to find solutions to so many modern challenges Repair and renewal may be close at hand just add water
