Robert Smithson, the Collected Writings Robert Smithson,1996 Robert Smithson: the Collected Writings (in Acq) Jack (ed) Flam,1996 Gendering Landscape Art Steven Adams,Anna Gruetzner Robins,2000 While gender has been the subject of extensive critical inquiry the debate has focused primarily on the human particularly the female body The spaces bodies occupy and the ways in which those spaces are depicted in landscape art has not however been subject to investigation This book is the first sustained attempt to fill this gap in art history Earthworks Suzaan Boettger,2002 Her examination of Earthworks relationship to the ecology movement perceptively corrects a popular misconception about the artists goals while acknowledging the social and cultural complexities of the period The New Monuments and the End of Man Robert Slifkin,2019-11-05 How leading American artists reflected on the fate of humanity in the nuclear era through monumental sculpture In the wake of the atomic bombings of Japan in 1945 artists in the United States began to question what it meant to create a work of art in a world where humanity could be rendered extinct by its own hand The New Monuments and the End of Man examines how some of the most important artists of postwar America revived the neglected tradition of the sculptural monument as a way to grapple with the cultural and existential anxieties surrounding the threat of nuclear annihilation Robert Slifkin looks at such iconic works as the industrially evocative welded steel sculptures of David Smith the austere structures of Donald Judd and the desolate yet picturesque earthworks of Robert Smithson Transforming how we understand this crucial moment in American art he traces the intersections of postwar sculptural practice with cybernetic theory science fiction cinema and literature and the political debates surrounding nuclear warfare Slifkin identifies previously unrecognized affinities of the sculpture of the 1940s and 1950s with the minimalism and land art of the 1960s and 1970s and acknowledges the important contributions of postwar artists who have been marginalized until now such as Raoul Hague Peter Grippe and Robert Mallery Strikingly illustrated throughout The New Monuments and the End of Man spans the decades from Hiroshima to the Fall of Saigon when the atomic bomb cast its shadow over American art

Between Art Practice and Psychoanalysis Mid-Twentieth Century Beth Williamson,2017-07-05 The work of mid twentieth century art theorist Anton Ehrenzweig is explored in this original and timely study An analysis of the dynamic and invigorating intellectual influences institutional framework and legacy of his work Between Art Practice and Psychoanalysis reveals the context within which Ehrenzweig worked how that influenced him and those artists with whom he worked closely Beth Williamson looks to the writing of Melanie Klein Marion Milner Adrian Stokes and others to elaborate Ehrenzweig s theory of art a theory that extends beyond the visual arts to music In this first full length study on his work including an inventory of his library previously unexamined archival material and unseen artworks sit at the heart of a book that examines Ehrenzweig's working relationships with important British artists such as Bridget Riley, Eduardo Paolozzi and other members of the Independent Group in London in the 1950s and 1960s. In Ehrenzweig's second book The Hidden Order of Art (1967) his thinking on Jackson Pollock is important too. It was this book that inspired American artists Robert Rauschenberg and Robert Morris when they deployed his concept of differentiation. Here Williamson offers new readings of process art c. 1970 showing how Ehrenzweig's aesthetic retains relevance beyond the immediate post-war era.

Materials, Practices, and Politics of Shine in Modern Art and Popular Culture Antje Krause-Wahl, Petra Löffler, Anne Söll, 2021-06-03 Shine allures and awakens desire. As a phenomenon of perception, shiny things and materials fascinate and tantalize. They are a formative element of material culture promising luxury, social distinction and the hope of limitless experience and excess. Since the early twentieth century, the mass production, dissemination and popularization of synthetic materials that produce heretofore unknown effects of shine have increased. At the same time, shine is subjectified as glamor and made into a token of performative self-empowerment. The volume illuminates genealogical as well as systematic relationships between material phenomena of shine and cultural philosophical concepts of appearance, illusion, distraction and glare, in bringing together renowned scholars from various disciplines.

Sculptural Materiality in the Age of Conceptualism Marin R.

Sullivan, 2017-07-05 Sculptural Materiality in the Age of Conceptualism is structured around four distinct but interrelated projects initially realized in Italy between 1966 and 1972: Yayoi Kusama's Narcissus Garden, Michelangelo Pistoletto's Newspaper Sphere, Sfera di giornali, Robert Rauschenberg's Asphalt Rundown and Joseph Beuys's Arena. These works all utilized non-traditional materials, collaborative patronage models and alternative modes of display to create a spatially and temporally dispersed arena of matter and action, with photography serving as a connective material thread within the sculpture it reflects. While created by major artists of the postwar period, these particular projects have yet to receive substantive art historical analysis, especially from a sculptural perspective. Here they anchor a transnational narrative in which sculpture emerged as a node, a center of transaction comprising multiple material phenomena including objects, images and actors. When seen as entangled, polymorphous entities, these works suggest that the charge of sculpture in the late postwar period came from its concurrent existence as both three-dimensional phenomena and photographic image in the interchanges among the materials that continue to activate and alter the constitution of sculpture within the contemporary sphere.

Walkscapes Francesco Careri, 2017-12-25 Walkscapes deals with strolling as an architecture of landscape. Walking as an autonomous form of art, a primary act in the symbolic transformation of the territory, an aesthetic instrument of knowledge and a physical transformation of the negotiated space, which is converted into an urban intervention. From primitive nomadism to Dada and Surrealism, from the Lettrist to the Situationist International and from Minimalism to Land Art, this book narrates the perception of landscape through a history of the traversed city.

The Art of Return James Meyer, 2019-09-11 More than any other decade, the sixties capture our collective cultural imagination. And while many Americans can immediately imagine the sound of Martin Luther King Jr declaring I have a dream or envision hippies placing flowers in gun barrels the revolutionary sixties resonates around the world China's communist government inaugurated a new cultural era African nations won independence from colonial rule and students across Europe took to the streets calling for an end to capitalism imperialism and the Vietnam War In this innovative work James Meyer turns to art criticism theory memoir and fiction to examine the fascination with the long sixties and contemporary expressions of these cultural memories across the globe Meyer draws on a diverse range of cultural objects that reimagine this revolutionary era stretching from the 1950s to the 1970s including reenactments of civil rights antiwar and feminist marches paintings sculptures photographs novels and films Many of these works were created by artists and writers born during the long Sixties who were driven to understand a monumental era that they missed These cases show us that the past becomes significant only in relation to our present and our remembered history never perfectly replicates time past This Meyer argues is precisely what makes our contemporary attachment to the past so important it provides us a critical opportunity to examine our own relationship to history memory and nostalgia American Artists Engage the Built Environment, 1960-1979 Susannah Bieber, 2023-07-31 This volume reframes the development of US American avant garde art of the long 1960s from minimal and pop art to land art conceptual art site specific practices and feminist art in the context of contemporary architectural discourses Susannah Bieber analyzes the work of seven major artists Donald Judd Robert Grosvenor Claes Oldenburg Robert Smithson Lawrence Weiner Gordon Matta Clark and Mary Miss who were closely associated with the formal aesthetic innovations of the period While these individual artists came to represent diverse movements Bieber argues that all of them were attracted to the field of architecture the work of architects engineers preservationists landscape designers and urban planners because they believed these practices more directly shaped the social and material spaces of everyday life This book's contribution to the field of art history is thus twofold First it shows that the avant garde of the long 1960s did not simply develop according to an internal logic of art but also as part of broader sociocultural discourses about buildings and cities Second it exemplifies a methodological synthesis between social art history and poststructural formalism that is foundational to understanding the role of art in the construction of a more just and egalitarian society The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history architecture urbanism and environmental humanism Sculpture and Archaeology Andrew Jones, 2017-07-05 In recent years the intersections between art history and archaeology have become the focus of critical analysis by both disciplines Contemporary sculpture has played a key role in this dialogue The essays in this volume by art historians archaeologists and artists take the intersection between sculpture and archaeology as the prelude for analysis examining the metaphorical and conceptual role of archaeology as subject matter for sculptors and the significance of sculpture as a three dimensional medium for exploring historical attitudes to archaeology Entropic Philosophy Shannon M. Mussett, 2022-01-31 Now is a time of tremendous anxiety about the present and future state of the world As the second law of thermodynamics states entropy never decreases time marches relentlessly forward and closed systems inevitably break down Entropy serves as a powerful metaphor capturing expressions of growing malaise and decline Entropic Philosophy Chaos Breakdown and Creation builds on the meaning of entropy from the Greek entropia signifying a turning toward or transformation Developing a philosophy of entropy this book draws variously from anthropology psychoanalysis literature art and the history of philosophy This approach opens pathways for reverence and care that are crucial in preventing fear existential inertia and despair

The Future of Nuclear Waste Rosemary Joyce, 2020-01-24 How can nations ensure that buried nuclear waste goes undisturbed for thousands of years The United States government tried to solve this problem with the help of experts they identified in communication materials science and futurism From the perspective of a contemporary archaeologist The Future of Nuclear Waste looks at what these experts suggested and what the government endorsed designs for a modern monument an artificial ruin a purpose built archaeological site that would escape future exploration One design selected for development argued that because specific archaeological sites and objects among them Stonehenge Serpent Mound the Rosetta Stone and rock art made long ago have endured and are seen as significant today contemporary engineers could build monuments that would be equally effective in conveying messages that last even longer An alternative proposal which government planners set aside was rooted in the idea that universal archetypes of design arouse similar human emotions in all times and places Both proposals used common sense assuming that human reactions and understandings are relatively predictable Employing an anthropology of common sense Rosemary Joyce explores why people chosen for their expertise relied on generalizations contradicted by the actual history of preservation and interpretation of archaeological sites and the closest analogues to archetype based designs which are the large scale installations produced in the Land Art movement The book reveals the underlying imagination shared by the experts government planners and artists in which the American West is an empty space available for projects like these It counters this with the dissenting voices of indigenous scholars and activists who document the presence on these nuclear landscapes of Native American people The result is an eye opening and unique demonstration of how a deep understanding of the remote past informs critical debates about the present

Modern Sculpture Douglas Dreishpoon, 2022-10-25 This tapestry of primary sources is an essential primer on sculpture and its makers Modern Sculpture presents a selection of manifestos documents statements articles and interviews from more than ninety sculptors including a diverse selection of contemporary sculptors With this book editor Douglas Dreishpoon defers to artists whose varied points of view illuminate sculpture's transformation from object to action concept to phenomenon over the course of more than a century Chapters arranged in chronological sequences highlight dominant stylistic philosophical and thematic threads uniting kindred groups The result is an artist centric history of sculpture as a medium of consequence and character

Time After Time David Wood, 2007-07-09 In Time After Time David Wood accepts without pessimism the broad postmodern idea of the end of time Wood exposes the rich stratified and non linear textures of temporal complexity that characterize our world Time includes breakdowns repetitions memories and narratives that confuse a clear and open understanding of what it means to occupy time and space In these thoughtful and powerful essays Wood engages Kierkegaard Nietzsche Heidegger and Derrida to demonstrate how repetition can preserve sameness and how creativity can interrupt time Wood s original thinking about time charts a course through the breakdown in our trust in history and progress and poses a daring and productive way of doing phenomenology and deconstruction

Systems We Have Loved Eve Meltzer,2013-07-02 By the early 1960s theorists like L vi Strauss Lacan Foucault and Barthes had created a world ruled by signifying structures and pictured through the grids of language information and systems Artists soon followed turning to language and its related forms to devise a new conceptual approach to art making Examining the ways in which artists shared the structuralist devotion to systems of many sorts Systems We Have Loved shows that even as structuralism encouraged the advent of conceptual art it also raised intractable problems that artists were forced to confront Considering such notable art figures as Mary Kelly Robert Morris Robert Smithson and Rosalind Krauss Eve Meltzer argues that during this period the visual arts depicted and tested the far reaching claims about subjectivity espoused by theorists She offers a new way of framing two of the twentieth century s most transformative movements one artistic one expansively theoretical and she reveals their shared dream or nightmare of the world as a system of signs By endorsing this view Meltzer proposes these artists drew attention to the fictions and limitations of this dream even as they risked getting caught in the very systems they had adopted The first book to describe art s embrace of the world as an information system Systems We Have Loved breathes new life into the study of conceptual art
