Free Electron Lasers 2000 V.N. Litvinenko, Y.K. Wu, 2005-12-27 The 22nd International Free Electron Laser Conference and 7th FEL User Workshop were held August 13-18 2000 at Washington Duke Inn and Golf Club in Durham North Carolina USA. The conference and the workshop were hosted by Duke University's Free Electron Laser FEL Laboratory. Following tradition the FEL prize award was announced at the banquet. The year 2000 FEL prize was awarded to three scientists propelling the limits of high power FELs: Steven Benson, Eisuke Minehara, and George Neill. The conference program was comprised of traditional oral sessions on First Lasing, FEL theory, storage ring FELs, linac and high power FELs, long wavelength FELs, SASE FELs, accelerator and FEL physics and technology, and new developments and proposals. Two sessions on accelerator and FEL physics and technology reflected the emphasis on the high quality of accelerators and components for modern FELs. The breadth of the applications was presented in the workshop oral sessions on materials processing, biomedical and surgical applications, physics and chemistry, as well as on instrumentation and methods for FEL applications. A special oral session was dedicated to FEL center status reports for users to learn more about the opportunities with FELs. As usual, the oral sessions were supplemented by poster sessions with in-depth discussions and communications. The FEL physicists and FEL users had excellent opportunities to interact throughout the duration of the event, culminating in a Joint Sessions. The year 2000 was very successful, being marked by lasing with two SASE and one storage ring short wavelength FELs and by the first human surgery with the use of FEL. To mention but a few, The International Program Committee and chairs of the sessions had the challenging and exciting problem of selecting invited and contributed talks for the conferences and the workshop from the influx of abstracts mentioning new results and ideas. The success of the conference was determined by these contributions. Scientists from 15 countries gave 70 talks, presented 176 posters, and submitted 146 papers, which are published in the present volume of proceedings.

Messenger Richard Phelps,2017-09-04 In response to public demand federal legislation now requires testing of most students in the United States in reading and mathematics in grades three through eight Many educators parents and policymakers who have paid little attention to testing policy issues in the past need to have better information on the topic than has generally been available Kill the Messenger now in paperback fills this gap This is perhaps the most thorough and authoritative work in defense of educational testing ever written Phelps points out that much research conducted by education insiders on the topic is based on ideological preference or profound self interest It is not surprising that they arrive at emphatically anti testing conclusions Much if not most of this hostile research is passed on to the public by journalists as if it were neutral objective and independent Kill the Messenger explains and refutes many of the common criticisms of testing describes testing opponents strategies through case studies of Texas and the SAT illustrates the profound media bias against testing acknowledges testing s limitations and suggests how it can be improved and finally outlines the consequences of losing the war on standardized testing

Measuring Success Jack Buckley,Lynn Letukas,Ben Wildavsky,2018-01-15

Standardized tests have become the gateway to higher education but should they be For more than seventy five years standardized tests have been considered a vital tool for gauging students readiness for college However few people including students parents teachers and policy makers understand how tests like the SAT or ACT are used in admissions decisions Once touted as the best way to compare students from diverse backgrounds these tests are now increasingly criticized as being biased in favor of traditionally privileged groups A small but growing number of colleges have made such testing optional for applicants Is this the right way to go

Measuring Success investigates the research and policy implications of test optional practices considering both sides of the debate Does a test optional policy result in a more diverse student body or improve attainment and retention rates Drawing upon the expertise of higher education researchers admissions officers enrollment managers and policy professionals this volume is among the first to investigate the research and policy implications of test optional practices Although the test optional movement has received ample attention its claims have rarely been subjected to empirical scrutiny This volume provides a much needed evaluation of the use and value of standardized admissions tests in an era of widespread grade inflation It will be of great value to those seeking to strike the proper balance between uniformity and fairness in higher education Contributors Andrew S Belasco A Emiko Blalock William G Bowen Jim Brooks Matthew M Chingos James C Hearn Michael Hurwitz Jonathan Jacobs Nathan R Kuncel Jason Lee Jerome A Lucido Eric Maguire Krista Mattern Michael S McPherson Kelly O Rosinger Paul R Sackett Edgar Sanchez Dhruv B Sharma Emily J Shaw Kyle Sweitzer Roger J Thompson Meredith Welch Rebecca Zwick
