Satellite Sex The Media And Womens Issues In English Canada 19661971:

The Satellite Sex Barbara M. Freeman, 2001 In this provocative new book the first one to examine print and broadcast news coverage of women's issues in English Canada Barbara Freeman explores what the media were saying about women and their concerns during an important period in our history and why The Satellite Sex is both a social history and a media case study of the years 1966-1971 when the feminist movement began once more to gather support Women wanted equal treatment under the law and they wanted rights they had not gained when they won the vote many years earlier In response the Canadian government appointed a federal inquiry on the status of women and hundreds of women came forward to talk to the Commission about the injustices they experienced at school at work in public life in their homes and even in their bedrooms The Satellite Sex demonstrates that the print and broadcast media coverage of women's issues at that time were much more complex and fragmented than revealed by research in the United States on the same era This book released thirty years after the Canadian Commission presented its report also raises questions about the lack of strong feminist voices in today's news media

Beyond Bylines Barbara M. Freeman, 2012-08-01 Beyond Bylines Media Workers and Women's Rights in Canada explores the ways in which several of Canada's women journalists broadcasters and other media workers reached well beyond the glory of their personal bylines to advocate for the most controversial women's rights of their eras To do so some of them adopted conventional feminine identities while others refused to conform altogether openly and defiantly challenging the gender expectations of their day The book consists of a series of case studies of the women in question as they grappled with the concerns close to their hearts higher education for women healthy dress reforms the vote equal opportunities at work abortion lesbianism and Aboriginal women's rights Their media reflected their respective eras intellectual magazines daily and weekly newspapers radio feminist public relations alternative women's periodicals and documentary film made for television Barbara Freeman takes an interdisciplinary approach combining biography history and communication studies to demonstrate how their use of different media both enabled and limited these women in their ability to be daring advocates for gender equality She shows how a number of these women were linked through the generations by their memberships in activist women's organizations

Women in Radio Geneviève A. Bonin-Labelle, 2020-09-22 Who are au féminin the legends who shaped radio in Canada What did they contribute locally regionally and nationally How was their experience in radio broadcasting different from that of their male counterparts Women in Radio presents the women who built careers in the radio industry yet whose contribution has often been overlooked simply because they were women This collection of stories highlights the multi-faceted contributions they made to their field and explores issues specific to them Academic research interviews personal reflections and accounts historical reviews and hybrid texts combine neatly in this eclectic yet well researched edited volume to reflect the fast-paced world of radio broadcasting Whether through storytelling direct quotes or quasi-transcriptions best read aloud the reader will come away with a real sense of the aural nature of radio of the voice unaccompanied of the pure spoken word and how it differs from the printed word Published in English The Palgrave International Handbook of Women and Journalism Carolyn M. Byerly, 2016-01-12 Now in paperback for the first time the Handbook is an academic adaptation of information contained in the Global Report on the Status of Women in News Media a study commissioned by the International Women's Media Foundation The book's editor was the principal investigator of the original study This text draws together the most robust data from that original study presenting it in 29 chapters on individual nations and three additional theoretical chapters The book is the most expansive effort to date to consider women's standing in the journalism profession across the world Contents organize nations in relation to their progress within newsrooms with those most advanced in gender equality representing diversity in terms of region and national development Contributing authors are in most cases the original researchers for their respective nations in the Global Report study

Abortion Shannon Stettner, Kristin Burnett, Travis Hay, 2017-12-01 When Henry Morgentaler Canada's best known abortion rights advocate died in 2013 activists and scholars began to reassess the state of abortion in this country In Abortion some of the foremost researchers in Canada challenge current thinking by revealing the discrepancy between what people are experiencing on the ground and what people believe the law to be after the 1988 Morgentaler decision Grouped into four themes History Experience Politics and Reproductive Justice these essays showcase new theoretical frameworks and approaches from law history medicine women's studies and political science as they document the diversity of abortion experiences across the country from those of Indigenous women in the pre Morgentaler era to a lack of access in the age of so called decriminalization Together the contributors make a case for shifting the debate from abortion rights to reproductive justice and caution against focusing on choice or medicalization without understanding the broader context of why and when people seek out abortions challenges relating to the conceptualization of women's health. While emphasizing the importance of taking an intersectional approach to women's healthcare, this book also focuses on the social and structural determinants at play. This revised and updated second edition brings together a collection of new chapters and contributors who collectively shed light on the problems and risks involved in perceiving women's healthcare using a strictly gender or sex-based lens. Contributors foreground an understanding of power as it is mediated through a range of social relations based on gender, race, culture, ethnicity, sexuality, ability, class, and geography, and the ways in which privilege and oppression intersect to shape health and system responses to health. This new edition includes updates on what is currently known about women's health nationally and internationally and situates the chapters in the current Canadian health care and policy context. Scholarship is foregrounded in new developments in gender and intersectional health research and policy. Collectively, this volume explores the important histories and contemporary realities in women's health experiences.

Gender and Media in the Broadcast Age Justine Lloyd, 2020-01-01. The 20th century was a time of rapid expansion in media industries as well as of accelerating demands for equality and recognition for women. While women's agency has typically been defined through the domestic sphere, the introduction of media into the home destabilised firm boundaries between public and private spheres. Gender and Media in the Broadcast Age demonstrates how women as media producers and audiences in three countries with public service broadcasters, UK, Canada, and Australia, have contributed to changes in our understandings of public and private. Justine Lloyd offers a new way of understanding how tremendous changes in social definitions of gender roles played out in media forms worldwide during this period through the notion of intimate geographies. Women's participation in media continues to be a key challenge to notions of the public sphere, and the book concludes that profound changes initiated in the broadcast era are unfinished in the age of digital media. Lloyd therefore provides rich and valuable evidence of the dynamic relationship between media texts, producers, and audiences that is relevant to contemporary debates about a growing gender apartheid in a mediated culture.

Alternative Media in Canada Kirsten Kozolanka, Patricia Mazepa, David Skinner, 2012-04-25. Alternative media hold the promise of building public awareness and action against the constraints and limitations of media conglomeration and cutbacks to public broadcasting. These media are becoming key venues for community expression and political debate, but what is it that makes them alternative? The contributors to this path-breaking volume answer this question by examining the evolution of various kinds of alternative media, including indigenous, anarchist, ethnic, and feminist media, against the backdrop of political, economic, and cultural developments in Canada. They get at the heart of alternative media by focusing on the three interconnected dimensions that define them: structure, participation, and activism. Alternative Media in Canada not only reveals how alternative media are enabled and constrained within Canada's complex media and policy environment; it also shows that in the context of globalization, the Canadian experience parallels media and policy challenges in other nations.

Feminism in the News K. Mendes, 2011-10-03. An exploration of the representations of the women's movement its members and their goals between 1968 and 2008 in the British and American press Examining over 1100 news articles the book analyses the nuanced ways feminism has historically been supported marginalized and debated in the mainstream press Covering Canadian Crime Chris Richardson, Romyne Smith Fullerton, 2016-01-01 Crime reporting in one form or another is as old as crime itself Almost all young reporters have spent some time on this beat and their work affects all of us Covering Canadian Crime offers a deep and detailed look at perennial issues in crime reporting and how changes in technology business practices and professional ethics are affecting today's crime coverage Social media in the courtroom the stigmatization of mental illness the influence of police media units the practice of knocking on victims' doors the culture of masculinity in the newsroom these are among the topics of discussion explored from various disciplinary perspectives and combined with poignant interviews and thought provoking introspection from seasoned journalists such as Christie Blatchford Timothy Appleby Linden MacIntyre Kim Bolan and Peter Edwards A critical account of the challenges involved in crime reporting in ethical informed and powerful ways Covering Canadian Crime poses the questions that reporters journalism students and the public at large need to ask and to answer Opening Doors Wider Sylvia Bashevkin, 2010-01-01 From the days of the fur trade through the contemporary period women have played important roles in the public life of Canada Until the 1970s however these contributions were generally overlooked Opening Doors Wider looks at the progress made in the last forty years to raise the profile of women's involvement in public life The contributors focus on two questions with reference to community activism the politics of feminist organizing parties and elections and the communications environment in which politicians operate First are the doors to participation presently open wider than they were in the past Second how can these doors be opened wider both in terms of real world participation and our scholarly understanding of public engagement These tightly argued essays shed new light on the quality of public involvement of women in one of the world's most stable democracies The nuanced discussion of solutions as well as problems makes it an indispensable resource for students and practitioners of politics at all levels Making National News Gene Allen, 2014-01-31 For almost a century Canadian newspapers radio and television stations and now internet news sites have depended on the Canadian Press news agency for most of their Canadian and through its international alliances foreign news This book provides the first ever scholarly history of CP as well as the most wide ranging historical treatment of twentieth century Canadian journalism published to date Using extensive archival research including complete and unfettered access to CP's archives Gene Allen traces how CP was established and evolved in the face of frequent conflicts among the powerful newspaper publishers John Ross Robertson Joseph Atkinson and Roy Thomson among others who collectively owned it and how the journalists who ran it understood and carried out their work Other major themes include CP's shifting relationships with the Associated Press and Reuters its responses to new media its aggressive shaping of its own national role during the Second World War and its efforts to meet the demands of French language publishers Making National News makes a substantial and original contribution to our understanding of journalism as a phenomenon that shaped Canada both culturally and politically in the twentieth century Feeling Feminism Lara Campbell, Michael Dawson, Catherine Gidney, 2022-04-15 From beauty pageant protests to fire bombings of pornographic video stores emotions are a powerful but often unexamined force underlying feminist activism They are at play in the experiences of injustice exclusion caring and suffering that have fed women's commitment to building and sustaining a new world Feeling Feminism examines the ways in which emotions such as anger rage joy and hopefulness influenced second wave feminist action and theorizing across Canada Drawing on affect theory to convey the passion sense of possibility and collective political commitment that have characterized feminism the contributors to this volume reveal its full impact on contemporary Canada and highlight the contested sometimes exclusionary nature of the movement itself Insights from gender and women's studies cultural and literary theory social psychology and sociology infuse Feeling Feminism as the contributors explore how emotions shaped and nourished feminist activism More generally they demonstrate the power of emotions desires and actions to transform the world Contesting Bodies and Nation in Canadian History Patrizia Gentile, Jane Nicholas, 2013-01-01 In this first collection on the history of the body in Canada an interdisciplinary group of scholars explores the multiple ways the body has served as a site of contestation in Canadian history in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Electoral Campaigns, Media, and the New World of Digital Politics David Taras, Richard Davis, 2022-03-22 Today political leaders and candidates for office must campaign in a multimedia world through traditional forums newspapers radio and television as well as new digital media particularly social media Electoral Campaigns Media and the New World of Digital Politics chronicles how Twitter Facebook Reddit email and memes are used successfully and unsuccessfully to influence elections Each of these platforms have different affordances and reach various audiences in different ways Campaigns often have to wage different campaigns on each of these mediums In some instances they are crucial in altering coverage in the mainstream media In others digital media remains underutilized and undeveloped As has always been the case in politics outcomes that depend on economic and social conditions often dictate people's readiness for certain messages However the method and content of those messages has changed with great consequences for the health and future of democracy This book answers several questions How do candidates parties reach audiences that are preoccupied inattentive amorphous and bombarded with so many other messages How do they cope with the speed of media reporting in a continuous news cycle that demands instantaneous responses How has media fragmentation altered the campaign styles and content of campaign communication and general campaign discourse Finally and most critically what does this mean for how democracies function Being Fat Jenny Ellison, 2020-04-02 It is okay to be fat This is the basic premise of fat activism a social movement that has existed in Canada since the 1970s Being Fat focuses on the earliest strands of the movement covering the last decades of the twentieth century The book explores how fat activists wrestled with feminist issues of the era including femininity sexuality and health Showcasing the earliest efforts of fat activists in Canada such as the growth of social initiatives for fat women only Being Fat helps us recognize the long reach of second wave feminism and how it shaped activists approaches to everyday experiences like shopping exercise and going to the doctor
