Sermons et discours de l'abbé Achon,... Joseph-Benoit-Marcel Achon,1858 Man Made God Luc Ferry,2002-05-15 What happens when the meaning of life based on a divine revelation no longer makes sense Does the quest for transcendence end in the pursuit of material success and self absorption Luc Ferry argues that modernity and the emergence of secular humanism in Europe since the eighteenth century have not killed the search for meaning and the sacred or even the idea of God but rather have transformed both through a dual process the humanization of the divine and the divinization of the human Ferry sees evidence for the first of these in the Catholic Church's attempts to counter the growing rejection of dogmatism and to translate the religious tradition into contemporary language The second he traces to the birth of modern love and humanitarianism both of which demand a concern for others and even self sacrifice in defense of values that transcend life itself Ferry concludes with a powerful statement in favor of what he calls transcendental humanism a concept that for the first time in human history gives us access to a genuine spirituality rooted in human beings instead of the divine
