Ennis-McMillan,2025-09-25

Suffering from Water invites readers to immerse themselves in the complexity of water insecurity through the lens of a small town in Mexico The text examines how residents of the pueblo La Purificaci n Tepetitla experience suffering from water a phrase that locals use to communicate the pain and anxiety associated with inadequate household water supplies Ennis McMillan allows readers to develop a new cross cultural perspective on this major global health issue and to critically examine their own cultural assumptions about drinking water and health including individualistic consumer oriented ways of thinking about drinking water as a commodity rather than as a basic necessity if not a human right The people of La Purificaci n a pueblo of indigenous origin in central Mexico draw on their history of challenging external threats to local water resources Following customary law the community guides its water practices with indigenous traditions and local water officers use leveling practices to ensure that every household has access to running water These traditions link water use rights to religious fiestas and volunteer labor activities Not only do residents celebrate their pueblo originario they also cherish their customs which fosters health and well being for the entire pueblo Culture and the Environment in the

Himalaya Arjun Guneratne,2009-12-24 Drawing on Himalayan ethnography to interrogate and critique contemporary theorizing about the environment this book examines how the environment is conceptualized among different social groups in the region A new approach to the study of the environment in South Asia this book introduces the new thinking in environmental anthropology and geography into the study of the Himalaya Understanding Climate Change through

Religious Lifeworlds David L. Haberman,2021-05-04 How can religion help to understand and contend with the challenges of climate change Understanding Climate Change through Religious Lifeworld edited by David Haberman presents a unique collection of essays that detail how the effects of human related climate change are actively reshaping religious ideas and practices even as religious groups and communities endeavor to bring their traditions to bear on mounting climate challenges People of faith from the low lying islands of the South Pacific to the glacial regions of the Himalayas are influencing how their communities understand earthly problems and develop meaningful responses to them This collection focuses on a variety of different aspects of this critical interaction including the role of religion in ongoing debates about climate change religious sources of environmental knowledge and how this knowledge informs community responses to climate change and the ways that climate change is in turn driving religious change Understanding Climate Change through Religious Lifeworlds offers a transnational view of how religion reconciles the concepts of the global and the local and influences the challenges of climate change

Economies of Recycling Catherine Alexander, Joshua Reno, 2012-08-09 For some recycling is a big business for others a moralised way of engaging with the world But for many this is a dangerous way of earning a living With scrap now being the largest export category from the US to China the sheer scale of this global trade has not yet been clearly identified or analysed Combining fine grained ethnographic analysis with overviews of international material flows Economies of Recycling radically changes the way we understand global and local economies as well as the new social relations and identities created by recycling processes Following global material chains this groundbreaking book reveals astonishing connections between persons households cities and global regions as objects are reworked taken to pieces and traded With case studies from Africa Latin America South Asia China the former Soviet Union North America and Europe this timely collection debunks common linear understandings of production exchange and consumption and argues for a complete re evaluation of North South economic relationships

Encounters with the Invisible Marie Lecomte-Tilouine, Anne de Sales, 2024-06-28 This volume considers spirit possession in the Himalayas and the various ways in which invisible powers are made present It does so by examining material representations of these powers through artefacts animals plants and natural substances while also focusing on narratives of people s encounters with the invisible that may help them to reconfigure reality Through these two approaches the contributions examine new phenomena associated with the concepts of possession and shamanism which otherwise tend to lead research into well worn furrows The book addresses a range of themes including the gods of the Western Himalayas death and ritual dissolution among Hyolmo Buddhists in Nepal gods and rivers as legal persons in India and the problem of conversion disorder in Nepal Rich in ethnography this book will be indispensable for scholars and researchers of anthropology religion spiritualism sociology of religion Himalayan studies sociology and South Asia

Ecoflourishing and Virtue Steven Bouma-Prediger, Nathan Carson, 2023-11-10 This book brings together the interdisciplinary reflections of Christian scholars and poets to explore how ecological virtues can foster the flourishing of our home planet in the face of unprecedented environmental change and devastation Its central questions are What virtues are needed for us to be better caretakers of our home planet What vices must we extinguish if we are to flourish on the earth What is the connection between such virtues and vices and the flourishing of all creatures Each contribution offers insight on ecological virtue ethical questions through disciplinary lenses ranging from biology geology and economics to literature theology and philosophy The chapters feature the legacy and lessons of senior scholars reflecting on a lifetime of earthkeeping work highlight global concerns and perspectives and include compelling poetic reflections

Focusing on the way in which human vices and virtues drive so many of our ecological problems and solutions the volume engages timely issues of environmental importance such as environmental racism interfaith dialogue ecological philosophies of work and economics marine pollution ecological despair hope and humility encouraging fresh reflection and action It will be of interest to those working in theology and religious studies philosophy ethics and environmental studies
