Listening on the Edge Mark Cave,Stephen M. Sloan,2014-04-01 From the headlines of local newspapers to the coverage of major media outlets scenes of war natural disaster political revolution and ethnic repression greet readers and viewers at every turn What we often fail to grasp however despite numerous treatments of events is the deep meaning and broader significance of crisis and disaster The complexity and texture of these situations are most evident in the broader personal stories of those whom the events impact most intimately Oral history with its focus on listening and collaborative creation with participants has emerged as a forceful approach to exploring the human experience of crisis Despite the recent growth of crisis oral history fieldwork there has been little formal discussion of the process and meaning of utilizing oral history in these environments Oral history research takes on special dimensions when working in highly charged situations often in close proximity to traumatic events The emergent inclination for oral historians to respond to document crisis calls for a shared conversation among scholars as to what we have learned from crisis work so far This dialogue at the heart of this collection of oral history excerpts and essays reveals new layers of the work of the oral historian From the perspective of crisis and disaster oral history the book addresses both the ways in which we think about the craft of oral history and the manner in which we use it The book presents excerpts from oral histories done after twelve world crises followed by critical analyses by the interviewers Additional analytical chapters set the interviews in the contexts of psychoanalysis and oral history methodology

The People's Right to the Novel Eleni Coundouriotis, 2014-09-15 This study offers a literary history of the war novel in Africa Coundouriotis argues that this genre aimed more specifically at African readers than the continent's better known bildungsroman tradition nevertheless makes an important intervention in global understandings of human rights The African war novel lies at the convergence of two sensibilities it encounters in European traditions the naturalist aesthetic and the discourse of humanitarianism whether in the form of sentimentalism or of human rights law Both these sensibilities are present in culturally hybrid forms in the African war novel reflecting its syncretism as a narrative practice engaged with the colonial and postcolonial history of the continent The war novel Coundouriotis argues stakes claims to collective rights that contrast with the individualism of the bildungsroman tradition The genre is a form of people s history that participates in a political struggle for the rights of the dispossessed
