mainstream of thinking and planning around urban environments Cities can contribute to vulnerability arising from high levels of population turnover environmental problems gentrification and reduced availability of affordable housing However they can also provide innovative forms of support and services essential to promoting the quality of life of older people Policies in Europe have emphasised the role of the local environment in promoting ageing in place a term used to describe the goal of helping people to remain in their own homes and communities for as long as they wish However while this has been the dominant approach the places in which older people are ageing have often proved to be challenging environments The book explores the forces behind these developments and how older people have responded Drawing upon approaches from social gerontology urban studies geography and sociology this book will be essential reading for researchers policymakers and practitioners searching for innovative ways to improve the lives of older people living in urban environments The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
