The Everyday Lives of Sovereignty Rebecca Bryant,Madeleine Reeves,2021-06-15 Around the world border walls and nationalisms are on the rise as people express the desire to take back sovereignty The contributors to this collection use ethnographic research in disputed and exceptional places to study sovereignty claims from the ground up While it might immediately seem that citizens desire a stronger state the cases of compromised contested or failed sovereignty in this volume point instead to political imaginations beyond the state form Examples from Spain to Afghanistan and from Western Sahara to Taiwan show how calls to take back control or to bring back order are best understood as longings for sovereign agency By paying close ethnographic attention to these desires and their consequences The Everyday Lives of Sovereignty offers a new way to understand why these yearnings have such profound political resonance in a globally interconnected world Contributors Panos Achniotis Jens Bartelson Joyce Dalsheim Dace Dzenovska Sara L Friedman Azra Hromad i Louisa Lombard Alice Wilson and Torunn Wimpelmann Hunting Game Louisa Lombard,2020-03-05 The first ethnographic and historical study of raiding in the Central African Republic By treating raiding as a political mode this fascinating study investigates forceful acquisition revealing the evolution of raiding skills examples of encounters and its consequences over the last 150 years Reconceiving Muslim Men Marcia C. Inhorn,Nefissa Naguib,2018-06-18 This volume provides intimate anthropological accounts of Muslim men s everyday lives in the Middle East Asia Africa and diasporic communities in the West Amid increasing political turmoil and economic precarity Muslim men around the world are enacting nurturing roles as husbands sons fathers and community members thereby challenging broader systems of patriarchy and oppression By focusing on the ways in which Muslim men care for those they love this volume challenges stereotypes and showcases Muslim men s humanity Strongly Sustainable Societies Karl Johan Bonnedahl,Pasi Heikkurinen,2018-09-27 The response of the international community to the pressing socio ecological problems has been framed around the concept of sustainable development The ecological pressure however has continued to rise and mainstream sustainability discourse has proven to be problematic It contains an instrumental view of the world a strong focus on technological solutions and the premise that natural and human made capitals are substitutable This trajectory which is referred to as weak sustainability reproduces inequalities denies intrinsic values in nature and jeopardises the wellbeing of humans as well as other beings Based on the assumptions of strong sustainability this edited book presents practical and theoretical alternatives to today s unsustainable societies It investigates and advances pathways for humanity that are ecologically realistic ethically inclusive and receptive to the task's magnitude and urgency. The book challenges the traditional anthropocentric ethos and ontology, economic growth dogma, and programmes of ecological modernisation. It discusses options with examples on different levels of analysis from the individual to the global, addressing the economic system, key sectors of society, alternative lifestyles, and experiences of local communities. Examining key topics including human nature, relations, and wealth and justice, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental and development studies, ecological economics, environmental governance, and policy, sustainable business, and sustainability science.

American Book Publishing Record, 1988 New Directions in African Military History Timothy J. Stapleton, 2025-06-02. New Directions in African Military History takes a thematic approach to the history of war and military structures in Africa and highlights the under-researched areas. African Military History represents a relatively new and fast-growing sub-field bridging the previously wide gap between the well-established genres of African History and Military History. Based on a synthesis of existing literature and aimed at a wide readership, this book adopts a broad temporal range and uses select examples to highlight a series of points to cover the pre-colonial to post-colonial eras and offer examples from various parts of the continent. This volume evaluates controversial academic debates, examining evidence, research methods, approaches, and changing historiographical contexts, as well as pointing to potential new areas of research. It comprises seven thematic chapters on ways of war, weapons, technology, navies, air power, battles, women combatants, and genocide in African history. This volume will be of value to students and scholars alike interested in Modern History, Military History, and African History. The Diana Files Fiona Claire Capstick, 2004 The Objects of Life in Central Africa, 2013-09-15. In The Objects of Life in Central Africa, the history of consumption and social change from 1840 until 1980 is explored. By taking consumption as a vantage point, the contributions deviate from and add to previous works which have mainly analysed issues of production from an economic and political perspective. The chapters are broad-ranging in temporal and geographical focus, including contributions on Congo, Zambia, Zimbabwe, and Angola. Topics range from the social history of firearms to the perception of the railway and include contributions on sewing machines, traders, and advertising. By looking at the socio-economic, political, and cultural meaning and impact of goods, the history of Central Africa is reassessed. Through Central Africa James Barnes, 1915 The Gun in Central Africa Giacomo Macola, 2016-04-25. Why did some central African peoples embrace gun technology in the nineteenth century, and others turn their backs on it? In answering this question, The Gun in Central Africa offers a thorough reassessment of the history of firearms in central Africa. Marrying the insights of Africanist historiography with those of consumption and science and technology studies, Giacomo Macola approaches the subject from a culturally sensitive perspective that encompasses both the practical and the symbolic attributes of firearms. Informed by the view that the power of objects extends beyond their immediate service functions, The Gun in Central Africa presents Africans as agents of technological re-innovation who understood guns in terms of their changing social structures and political interests. By

Turbulent History Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch, Mary Baker, 2015-02-12 Most histories seek to understand modern Africa as a troubled outcome of nineteenth century European colonialism but that is only a small part of the story In this celebrated book beautifully translated from the French edition the history of Africa in the nineteenth century unfolds from the perspective of Africans themselves rather than the European powers It was above all a time of tremendous internal change on the African continent Great jihads of Muslim conquest and conversion swept over West Africa In the interior warlords competed to control the internal slave trade In the east the sultanate of Zanzibar extended its reach via coastal and interior trade routes In the north Egypt began to modernize while Algeria was colonized In the south a series of forced migrations accelerated spurred by the progression of white settlement Through much of the century African societies assimilated and adapted to the changes generated by these diverse forces In the end the West's technological advantage prevailed and most of Africa fell under European control and lost its independence Yet only by taking into account the rich complexity of this tumultuous past can we fully understand modern Africa from the colonial period to independence and the difficulties of today
