The Defortification of the German City, 1689-1866 Yair Mintzker,2012-07-09 In the early modern period all German cities were fortified places Because contemporary jurists have defined city as a coherent social body in a protected place the urban environment had to be physically separate from the surrounding countryside This separation was crucial to guaranteeing the city s commercial political and legal privileges

Fortifications were therefore essential for any settlement to be termed a city. This book tells the story of German cities' metamorphoses from walled to de-fortified places between 1689 and 1866. Using a wealth of original sources, The De-fortification of the German City 1689-1866 discusses one of the most significant moments in the emergence of the modern city: the dramatic and often traumatic demolition of the city's centuries-old fortifications and the creation of the open city.
