*A million times
I've needed you
A million times I've cried,
If love alone
Could have saved you
you never would have died.
In life I loved you dearly,
In death I love you still.
In my heart you hold a place,
No one else can ever fill.
It broke my heart to lose you,
But you didn't go alone
Part of me went with you,
The day God took you home.*

One Day God Took Daddy Away:

Cinema, Black Suffering, and Theodicy Shayne Lee, 2022-01-26 This book explicates how many films intersect black suffering and God talk in ways that instantiate secular limitations to divine efficacy The book's concept of a modern God introduces a new method of analysis that reimagines theodical discourses as mechanisms of modern identities and filmmakers as skillful exegetes who recalibrate divine attributes to the sensemaking cadences of their contemporaries Shayne Lee demonstrates how cinematic theodicy navigates a happy medium between affirming divine benevolence and sidelining supernatural activity and that filmic characters like their real world counterparts are quite clever at triangulating rationality faith and tragedy In addition to positing synergistic links between theodicy and secularity Lee offers critical insights into cinema's relevance to the sociology of evil by specifying how films code and narrate malevolent actions and outcomes demarcate clear lines of distinction between victims and perpetrators clarify societal dynamics driving inequality and oppression and transform individual episodes of suffering into collective and memorialized identities of trauma This book illuminates how filmic treatments of theodicy construct evil and suffering in calculated ways that connect specific acts effects and institutions to greater structures of meaning
