Putnam's Sons 2015 Empire of Dirt James McCormack, 2010-12-30 A highly dysfunctional family arrives in Long Island's trendy Hamptons for their annual summer reunion. After a wild night of partying, the family matriarch Harriett Aubrey Grace is found dead in the basement, the victim of a horrible accident or a terrible crime. Through the eyes of the estate's caretaker Connelly, the reader relives Harriett's successful yet sad life and investigates her suspicious death and the sordid list of relatives that might be responsible for the crime. Connelly teams up with Harriett's long estranged but beautiful daughter Tush, and the duo rush headlong into a murky family history fraught with malevolence and perversion, and their own combustible attraction nearly leads them to the brink of disaster. Bravery, heroism, love, hate, jealousy, rage, and despair are only some of what the reader uncovers exploring Harriett's empire, an empire that in the end proves to be little more than a pile of dirt. Large Concordance to the Bible of the Last Translation Allowed by Authority Clement Cotton, 1635 Official Portraits and Unofficial Counterportraits of At Risk" Students" Richard J. Meyer, 2010-01-15 This book chronicles fifth and sixth grade writers in a poor, culturally diverse rural school in the southwest US, coming into their voices, cultivating those voices, and using those voices in a variety of venues, beginning with the classroom community and spreading outward. The big ideas of official and unofficial portraits are presented, followed by data and facets of the theoretical construct of counterportraits in each chapter as a response to official portraits. Such a Life Lee Martin, 2012-03-01 Lee Martin tells us in his memoir, I was never meant to come along. My parents married late. My father was thirty-eight, my mother forty-one. When he found out she was pregnant, he asked the doctor, "Can you get rid of it?" From such an inauspicious beginning, Martin began collecting impressions that, through the tincture of time and the magic of his narrative gift, have become the finely wrought pieces of Such a Life. Whether recounting the observations of a solemn child understood only much later or exploring the intricacies of neighborhood politics at middle age, Martin offers us a richly detailed, highly personal view that effortlessly expands to illuminate our world. At a tender age, Martin moved to a new level of complexity of negotiating silences and sadness when his father lost both of his hands in a farming accident. His stories of youth, from a first kiss to a first hangover, and his reflections on age, as a vegan recalling the farm food of his childhood or as a writer contemplating the manual labor of his father and grandfather, bear witness to the observant child he was and the insightful and irresistible storyteller he's become. His meditations on family form a highly evocative portrait of the relationships at the heart of our lives. Hellgoing Lynn Coady, 2013-07-15 Winner of the 2013 Scotiabank Giller Prize. Shortlisted for the Rogers Writers Trust Fiction Prize. Selected as an Amazon.ca Best Book and for The Globe's Top 10 Books of 2013. With astonishing range and depth, Scotiabank Giller Prize winner Lynn Coady gives us nine unforgettable new stories, each one of them grabbing our attention from the first line.

and resonating long after the last A young nun charged with talking an anorexic out of her religious fanaticism toys with the thin distance between practicality and blasphemy A strange bond between a teacher and a schoolgirl takes on ever deeper and stranger shapes as the years progress A bride to be with a penchant for nocturnal bondage can't seem to stop bashing herself up in the light of day Equally adept at capturing the foibles and obsessions of men and of women compassionate in her humour yet never missing an opportunity to make her characters squirm fascinated as much by faithlessness as by faith Lynn Coady is quite possibly the writer who best captures what it is to be human at this particular moment in our history
