

ROGER TORY PETERSON

Roger Tory Peterson was born in Jamestown, New York, and studied at the Art Student's League and the National Academy of Design. Through his writing, his bird paintings for Life Magazine, and his educational activities for the National Audubon Society, he has probably done more to interest people in birds than any other living ornithologist. Bird watchers consider his A FIELD GUIDE TO THE BIRDS the most important single volume in their libraries. Used in every university that teaches ornithology, it has been awarded the Brewster Medal of the American Ornithologists' Union — the highest award in the field. Mr. Peterson, who is an Educational Associate of the National Audubon Society, was selected a Fellow of the American Ornithologists' Union in the fall of 1948. He has been editor of the famed Houghton Mifflin Company Field Guide series since 1945.
