Secondary School Reading, Process, Program, Procedure Walter Hill, 1979 Secondary School Reading presents carefully thought out practical strategies for promoting the development of reading skills at the post elementary level Practical applications are presented through their relationship to the theoretical conception of the total reading learning process as they relate to the learner's needs Reading instruction in the secondary school is essentially different than elementary instruction in the school The older young people have different needs and interests and utilize different cognitive strategies This volume presents strategies for older learners which reflects a thorough knowledge of both reading and teaching as well as many years of experience in teaching this level Secondary School Reading is a good blend of theoretical constructs and practical application Its examples offer the teacher many ideas for learning activities Its appendices direct the reader to many sources of information and teaching materials

Reading in Secondary Content Areas Zhihui Fang, Mary Schleppegrell, 2008 What does it mean to teach reading in the context of the middle and high school classroom Don't students already know how to read by the time they get to secondary school And how can a busy teacher take time away from the packed curriculum of science history mathematics or language arts to teach reading This book presents a linguistic approach to teaching reading in different subjects an approach that focuses on language itself Central to this approach is a view that knowledge is constructed in and through language and that language changes with changes in knowledge As students move from elementary to secondary schools they encounter specialized knowledge and engage in new contexts of learning in all subjects This means that the language of secondary school learning is quite different from the language of the elementary years While in the elementary years the subject matter of reading materials is often close to students everyday life experiences the curriculum of secondary school deals with knowledge that is removed from students personal lives and everyday contexts The language that constructs this more specialized knowledge thus tends to be more abstract technical information laden and hierarchically organized than the more familiar and friendly language that students typically encounter during the elementary years Students need to develop specialized literacies literacy relevant to each content area as well as a critical literacy they can use across subject areas to engage with reflect on and assess specialized and advanced knowledge This functional language analysis approach is shown using actual secondary social studies science and math textbooks and using a literary text
