Reading Modern Russian:

Reading modern Russian J. F. Levin, 1979      Reading Modern Russian Jules F. Levin, Peter D. Haikal, Anatole A. Forostenko, 1979      Reading List in Modern Russian History Robert Francis Byrnes, 1960      Modern Russian Cinema as a Battleground in Russia's Information War Alexander Rojavin, Helen Haft, 2024-07-31 This book explores how modern Russian cinema is part of the international information war that has unfolded across a variety of battlefields including social media online news and television It outlines how Russian cinema has been instrumentalized both by the Kremlin's allies and its detractors to convey salient political and cultural messages often in subtle ways thereby becoming a tool for both critiquing and serving domestic and foreign policy objectives shaping national identity and determining cultural memory It explains how regulations legislation and funding mechanisms have rendered contemporary cinema both an essential weapon for the Kremlin and a means for more independent figures to publicly frame official government policy In addition the book employs formal cinematic analysis to highlight the dominant themes and narratives in modern Russian films of a variety of genres situating them in Russia's broader rhetorical ecosystem and explaining how they serve the objectives of the Kremlin or its opponents      Hagiography and Modern Russian Literature Margaret Ziolkowski, 2014-07-14 The heritage of medieval hagiography the diverse and voluminous literature devoted to saints was much more important in nineteenth century Russia than is often recognized Although scholars have treated examples of the influence of hagiographic writing on a few prominent Russian writers Margaret Ziolkowski is the first to describe the vast extent of its impact Some of the authors she discusses are Kondratii Ryleev Aleksandr Bestuzhev Marinskii Fedor Dostoevsky Leo Tolstoy Nikolai Leskov Gleb Uspenskii Dmitrii Merezhkovskii and Maksimilian Voloshin Such writers were often exposed to saints' lives at an early age and these stories left a deep impression to be dealt with later whether favorably or otherwise Professor Ziolkowski identifies and analyzes the most common usages of hagiographic material by Russian writers as well as the variety of purposes that inspired this exploitation of their cultural past Tolstoy for instance employed hagiographic sources to attack the organized church and the institution of monasticism Individual chapters treat the influence of hagiography on the poetry of the Decembrists reworkings of specific hagiographic legends or tales and the application of hagiographic conventions and features to contemporary characters and situations Originally published in 1988 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905      Translation and the Making of Modern Russian Literature Brian James Baer, 2015-11-19 Brian James Baer explores the central role played by translation in the construction of modern Russian literature Peter I's policy of forced Westernization resulted in translation becoming a widely discussed and highly visible practice in Russia a multi lingual empire with a polyglot elite Yet Russia's accumulation of cultural capital through translation occurred at a time when the Romantic obsession with originality was marginalizing translation as mere imitation The awareness on the part of Russian writers that their literature and by extension their cultural identity were born in translation produced a sustained and sophisticated critique of Romantic authorship and national identity that has long been obscured by the nationalist focus of traditional literary studies By offering a re reading of seminal works of the Russian literary canon that thematize translation alongside studies of the circulation and reception of specific translated texts Translation and the Making of Modern Russian Literature models the long overdue integration of translation into literary and cultural studies
