What starts as a reading group gradually evolves into a forum where the women may express their views through the books they read and grow to become increasingly more open as the bonds of friendship cement. Ireland and Dysfunction Asier Altuna-García de Salazar, 2017-01-06. This collection of critical essays finds itself at the intersection of cultural, literary, and film studies and explores the various ways in which dysfunction is expressed in Irish studies. Dysfunction can be regarded as part and parcel of a portrayal of a landscape of trauma and crisis that may have been traditionally repressed in Ireland at large. However, dysfunction also envisages mediation, managing, transcending, and healing. As such, this volume examines how Ireland tackles dysfunction at large but more importantly how mediation, managing, healing, and transcending help in the understanding of the ever-changing and on-going process of the construction of an Irish identity today, sometimes looking back at the past but always creating the need of inventing new ways to understand the future of Ireland. The collection presents essays which tackle dysfunction from different and multifarious perspectives that range from sociological, historical, and literary discourses to more contemporary insights into dysfunction in today's Ireland. It encompasses theory and analysis and includes the works of both senior academics and emerging scholars, as well as those outside academia.
