Jesus and the Stigmatized Elia Shabani Mligo,2011-08-01 Biblical scholars often read the Bible with their own interpretive interests in mind without associating the Bible with the concerns of laypeople. This largely undermines the contributions laypeople can offer from reading the Bible in their own contexts and from their own life experiences. Moreover, such exclusively scholarly reading conceals the role of biblical texts in dealing with current social problems such as HIV/AIDS related stigmatization. Hence, the lack of lay participation in the process of Bible reading makes the Bible less visible in various common life situations. In this volume, Elia Shabani Mligo draws on his fieldwork among people living with HIV/AIDS. PLWHA in Tanzania selects stigmatization as his perspective and chooses participant-centered contextual Bible study as his method to argue that the reading of texts from the Gospel of John by PLWHA, given their lived experiences of stigmatization, empowers them to reject stigmatization as unjust. Mligo's study shows that Christian PLWHA reject stigmatization because it does not comply with the attitude of Jesus toward stigmatized groups in his own time. The theology emerging from the readings by stigmatized PLWHA through their evaluation of Jesus' attitudes and acts toward stigmatized people in the texts challenges churches in their obligatory mission as disciples of Jesus. Churches are challenged to reconsider healing, hospitality, and caring prophetic voices against stigmatization and the way they teach about HIV and AIDS in relation to sexuality. Churches must revisit their practices toward stigmatized groups and listen to their voices. Mligo argues that participant-centered Bible study methods similar to the one used in this book, whereby stigmatized people are the primary interlocutors in the process, can be useful tools in listening to the voices of stigmatized groups.

Modernity and Postmodernity Gerard Delanty, 2000-04-19. This accessible and comprehensive overview of the main issues on the modernity/postmodernity controversy is the first clear-sighted book on the subject. It surveys modern social theory from Kant to Weber with economy and masterly precision and evaluates the work of the Frankfurt School, Arendt, Strauss, Luhmann, Habermas, Heller, Castoriadis, and Touraine before moving on to consider the approaches of the leading writers on postmodernity: Lyotard, Vattimo, Derrida, Foucault, and Jameson. The result is a new way of conceptualizing the modernity/postmodernity debate and an exciting new approach to the roots of contemporary social theory.

It covers sociological theory, the wider theoretical traditions in the social sciences including cultural and political theory, anthropological theory, social philosophy and social thought in the broadest sense of the term. This volume surveys the classical heritage, the major national traditions and the fate of social theory in a post national and post disciplinary era. It also identifies what is distinctive about European social theory in terms of themes and traditions. It is divided into five parts: disciplinary traditions, national traditions, major schools, key themes and the reception of European social theory in America and Asia. Thirty five contributors from nineteen countries across Europe, Russia, the Americas and Asian Pacific have been commissioned to utilize the most up to date research available to provide a critical international analysis of their area of expertise. Overall, this is an indispensable book for students, teachers and researchers in sociology, cultural studies, politics, philosophy and human geography and will set the tone for future research in the social sciences.

Police and Crime Control in Jamaica Anthony Harriott, 2000 Police and Crime Control in Jamaica is a valuable addition to the sparse literature on policing in developing states and is the first study of its kind dedicated to the state of a police force in a Caribbean territory. The work examines the extent and sources of police ineffectiveness in controlling crime. It assesses the quality of justice and declining public confidence in the criminal justice system. Police reform efforts as well as sources of cynicism among members of the force are analysed. This study of policing and citizen state relations is especially relevant to the tourism dependent countries of the Caribbean amid growing recognition of the negative impact of high rates of violent crime on these economies. This book will be much valued by students of criminology and criminal justice, especially those with an interest in the Caribbean as well as the general reader who is concerned with issues of crime and policing.

from the Structural Functionalism of early 20th century through the cutting edge theories of the late 20th and early 21st centuries The integration of key theories with biographical sketches of theorists and the requisite historical and intellectual context helps students to better understand the original works of contemporary thinkers      Making Ireland Modern Enda Delaney, 2025-10-02 A provocative and original reinterpretation of modern Irish history There is a widespread misconception that Ireland became modern much later than its neighbours in the 1960s and 1970s This is grounded in several enduring stereotypes and caricatures of Ireland as a timeless and unchanging land of saints and scholars of its society and culture in the long nineteenth century as puritanical regressive or archaic of Gaelic language and culture as backward or inward looking in contrast to a modern English counterpart and of the island as natural and rural in the face of the urban and technological progress of modernity Drawing on an extensive range of sources from poetry and novels to contemporary historical documents acclaimed historian Enda Delaney here offers a reinterpretation of Ireland's encounter with modernity that corrects these stereotypes By situating the island's history between 1780 and 1916 within its broader European global and colonial contexts he demonstrates that Ireland's pathway to modernity was not inevitable belated or uni directional over a complex and centuries long process it was made modern and in its own distinctive way This was related to but distinct from Ireland's complicated colonial relationship with Britain and played out in the broader contexts of globalisation and the rise of capitalism And at the heart of this history are the Irish people themselves both those who lived on the island and the millions of those who left during this period and made their lives in Britain America Australia and beyond who made sense of modernity in a variety of conflicting ways and in so doing sought to shape their own destinies and adapt the old ways of doing things in the face of relentless waves of progress Changes in values consciousness and beliefs interacted with broader social political and cultural revolutions to create a distinctive experience of becoming modern The result is a bold and wide ranging new history of modern Ireland that restores agency to those who lived and made its history raising important and timely questions about modernity globalisation modern history and post colonialism
