Unified Fields Janine Rogers, 2014-12-01. Literary form presents an important opportunity for understanding the relationship between literature and science. Through a series of close readings of poetry and prose, Unified Fields demonstrates that formal structures in literature can relate to scientific concepts through their essential interpretive functions. Janine Rogers engages with a wide range of writing from Canadian, British, and American authors, including the poetry of Elizabeth Bishop and Robyn Sarah, as well as prose by Margaret Atwood, Ian McEwan, and Stephen Hawking. She employs an interdisciplinary approach, combining formalist, historical, and theoretical literary practice informed by interpretive frameworks developed in the philosophy of science. Although dedicated to contemporary texts, Rogers's analysis is frequently rooted in historical contexts of form, including Euclidean geometry and medieval romance, developed when the distinction between literature and science was not so drastic. These historical connections demonstrate that continuities of form resonate in both contemporary literature and science. Through critical analysis and engaging prose, Unified Fields bridges an important disciplinary gap by revealing how literary practice informs scientific understanding.

Reading Chaucer in Time Kara Gaston, 2020-02-27 The monograph series Oxford Studies in Medieval Literature and Culture showcases the plurilingual and multicultural quality of medieval literature and actively seeks to promote research that not only focuses on the array of subjects medievalists now pursue in literature theology and philosophy in social political jurisprudential and intellectual history the history of art and the history of science but also that combines these subjects productively It offers innovative studies on topics that may include but are not limited to manuscript and book history languages and literatures of the global Middle Ages race and the post colonial the digital humanities media and performance music medicine the history of affect and the emotions the literature and practices of devotion the theory and history of gender and sexuality ecocriticism and the environment theories of aesthetics medievalism Reading for form can mean reading for formation Understanding processes through which a text was created can help us in characterizing its form But what is involved in bringing a diachronic process to bear upon a synchronic work When does literary formation begin and end When does form happen These questions emerge with urgency in the interactions between English poet Geoffrey Chaucer and Italian trecento authors Dante Alighieri Giovanni Boccaccio and Francis Petrarch In fourteenth century Italy new ways were emerging of configuring the relation between author and reader Previously medieval reading was often oriented around the significance of the text to the individual reader In Italy however reading was beginning to be understood as a way of getting back to a work s initial formation This book tracks how concepts of reading developed within Italian texts including Dante s Vita nova Boccaccio s Filostrato and Teseida and Petrarch s Seniles impress themselves upon Chaucer s Troilus and Criseyde and Canterbury Tales It argues that Chaucer s poetry reveals the implications of reading for formation above all that it both depends upon and effaces the historical perspective and temporal experience of the individual reader Problems raised within Chaucer s poetry thus inform this book s broader methodological argument that there is no one moment at which the formation of Chaucer's poetry ends rather its form emerges in and through process of reading within time

HEATH READINGS IN THE LITERATURE OF ENGLAND TOM PEETE CROSS, PH D.,1927 Attending Warren Heiti,2021-07-15 Attending patient contemplation focused on a particular being is a central ethical activity that has not been recognized by any of the main moral systems in the European philosophical tradition That tradition has imagined that the moral agent is primarily a problem solver and world changer when what might be needed most is a witness Moral theory has been agonized by dualism motivation is analyzed into beliefs and desires descriptions of facts and dissatisfactions with them while action is represented as an effort to lessen dissatisfaction by altering the empirical world In Attending Warren Heiti traces an alternative genealogy of ethics drawing from the Platonism recovered by Simone Weil and developed in the work of Iris Murdoch John McDowell and Jan Zwicky According to Weil virtue is knowledge knowledge is embodied and the knower is nested in an ecosystem of relationships Instead of analyzing and solving theoretical problems Heiti aims to clarify the terrain by setting up objects of attention from more than one discipline including not only philosophy but also literature psychology film and visual art The traditional picture captures one important type of ethical activity faced with a moral problem one looks to a general rule to furnish the solution But not all problems conform to this model Heiti offers an alternative to see what is needed one attends to the particular being Special Method in the Reading of Complete English Classics in the Grades of the Common Schools Charles Alexander McMurry,1894 Miscellanies of literature, by the author of 'Curiosities of literature'. Isaac Disraeli,1840 Literacy in Grades 4-8 Nancy L.
