

egocentric goals. By doing this, we take away rightful childhood from the kids and disregard their opinions and feelings (Willet and Larson). Willet fought for her marriage herself so she understands that not every marriage can or should be saved. On the other hand, she also believes that the emotional, financial, and social aspects of the impact should not be left hanging (Willet and Larson). Instead, Willet proposes to save marriages because by doing it we will save children as well. She believes that a normal family should consist of a mother, father, and their children. Men should not be redundant, and infidelity should not be justified (Willet and Larson). Willet focuses on the importance of the Parental Divorce Reduction Act and claims that the majority of American families are affected by the stereotype that the only savior for a distressed family is divorce. According to her point of view, we should fight for our marriages and do whatever it takes in order to restore the faith in humanity (Willet and Larson).

Larson, on the other hand, believes that divorce may make certain situations safer. As said by Larson, any given divorce should not be perceived as unnecessary due to numerous factors that influence marriage (Willet and Larson). She supports no-fault divorce laws and claims that this option helped to reduce the number of female suicides and domestic violence. Moreover, Larson believes that Willet disregarded one of the most critical shifts in the modern society – single motherhood (Willet and Larson). She does not promote divorce but believes that cohabitation might be one of the answers. Therefore, Larson wants to focus on saving all children, not only those who were affected by divorce (Willet and Larson).

Accordingly, one of the aspects that she takes into consideration is good parenting. Larson believes that even covenant marriage is not the answer due to the unpopularity of the latter (Willet and Larson). Making the divorce process harder is also not the answer because this will lead to cohabitation and frauds. Instead of the Parental Divorce Reduction Act, Larson promotes the collaborative law and mediation. Her suppositions are based on the statement that parenting practice is hugely affected by the court process (Willet and Larson). Larson thinks that a bad marriage impacts the child just as much as a divorce does, so it is easier to get a divorce and transiently cohabit afterward. This may sound wrong, but the point is that unhappy parents cannot create an environment full of
