Marketing the Public Sector Seymour H. Fine,2017-07-12 The administrative officers of public and nonprofit organizations have become increasingly interested in marketing techniques during the 1990s They reason that if commercial marketing methods can successfully move merchandise across the retail counter those same techniques should be capable of creating a demand for such social products as energy conservation women s rights military enlistment or day care centers The goal of this volume is to provide social sector executives with practical and effective guidelines on how to harness the power of marketing in order to improve service to their constituencies Marketing the Public Sector builds upon two decades of research in social marketing and represents the current state of the art The authors demonstrate how the principles developed in earlier studies can be applied in actual situations Included here are case studies of marketing plans prepared for hospitals political campaigns Third World social change and community foundations that proved to be as effective as those in the private sector The case study approach is effectively supplemented by theoretical chapters that define first principles in essential matters such as product management value determination advertising and analysis of market performance This amalgamation of theory and application is suitable to middle range social marketing sizes as well as full scale projects that large agencies might undertake The problems differ only in magnitude no organization is too small or too large to adopt a consumer orientation Marketing the Public Sector is not only a guide to marketing it is also about communication social change propaganda and education It will be of great interest to sociologists public sector administrators and specialists in communications public relations fund raising and community affairs Review of Marketing 1981 Ben M. Enis, Kenneth J. Roering, 2012-03-15

SAA Newsletter, 1984 The Political Marketing Revolution Jennifer Lees-Marshment, 2004-10 This book shows how British politics is being transformed from a leadership run system to one dictated by public needs and demands No longer confined to party politics organizations including the monarchy the BBC universities local councils charities and the Scottish Parliament are adopting the tools of market intelligence to understand their market needs and demands The political marketing revolution raises many questions such as whether the student or patient really does know best and can decide his own education and health care The book calls for a debate about the movement of the British political system towards a market orientation and a re negotiation of the relationship between leaders and the market While recognizing the need for political leaders to listen this debate places some responsibilities on the political consumer looking to create a new relationship that might work more effectively for both sides A Bibliography of Museum Studies Simon J. Knell, 2016-12-05 A comprehensive bibliographic reference for students and others wishing to investigate the contemporary literature on museums and collections The references are systematically arranged into sections including collections management communication and exhibitions museum education material culture the museums profession and museum management Compiled from the research and teaching materials of the Department of Museum Studies at the University of Leicester it provides an essential resource for anyone studying or working in museums Containing more than 4 000 references this new bibliography provides ready access to the literature whether you are developing a disaster plan or visitor survey or studying the history of museum education The Marketing Book Michael John Baker, Susan J. Hart, 2008 Taking into account the emergence of new subjects and authorities the editors have overhauled the contents and contributor lists of the previous edition to ensure this volume addresses all the necessary themes for the modern marketer
