Refugee Women And Reproductive Health Care Reassessing Priorities:

Refugee Women and Reproductive Health Care Deirdre Wulf, Janice Miller, Mary A. Schwalbe, 1997-01 Provides information on reproductive health needs among refugee women Country reports include Liberian refugees in Cote d'Ivoire camps for the displaced population of Rwanda Somali refugees in Kenya Afghan refugees in Pakistan Central American asylum seekers in Belize refugees on the Laos Burma borders of Thailand Vietnamese refugees in detention centers in Hong Kong conditions among returning refugees the general population inside Cambodia Site visits took place in 1993 1994

Women, Migration, and Conflict Susan Forbes Martin, John Tirman, 2009-09-18 An estimated 35 million people worldwide are displaced by conflict and most of them are women and children During their time away from their homes and communities these women and their children are subjected to a horrifying array of misfortune including privations of every kind sexual assaults disease imprisonment unwanted pregnancies severe psychological trauma and upon return or resettlement social disapproval and isolation Written by the world's leading scholars and practitioners this unique collection brings these problems and potential solutions into sharp focus Based on extensive field research and a broad knowledge of other studies of the challenges facing women who are forced from their homes and homelands by conflict this book offers in depth understanding and problem solving ideas Derived from a project to advise U N agencies it speaks to a broad array of students scholars NGOs policymakers government officials and international organizations Reproduction, Globalization, and the State Carole H. Browner, Carolyn F. Sargent, 2011-03-25 Collection uses ethnographies of globalization to explore the consequences of interactions between global processes and national structures on human reproduction and reproductive health in a range of contexts The Health of Refugees Pascale Allotey, Daniel Reidpath, 2019-01-03 At the moment over 65 million people are forcibly displaced from their homes The reasons for movement range from extreme weather conditions and environmental disasters to war civil and political crises to the need for basic economic survival Amongst these 65 million people are those that have been forced to leave a country that is no longer willing or able to offer protection and those who are displaced within their own country's borders In order to improve conditions for displaced people all over the globe we need to look at the reason behind their move as this defines their migration status under international law In its turn the migration status affects the requirements of other countries to grant asylum and the individual's right to protection and support The definition of migration status and its implications has created tension in the public debate on refugees for decades and is today more relevant than ever In The Health of Refugees Public Health Perspectives from Crisis to Settlement the challenges and vulnerabilities created from this debate are addressed by public health policy makers clinical practitioners and researchers An analysis of public health international law the history of migration and the media's role in refugee health it is a comprehensive and critical work with a strong message in favour of international and interdisciplinary cooperation With a focus on what international obligations entail when it comes to refugees and migrants the authors present a reinforced take on our collective responsibility to leave no one behind

The Health of Refugees Public Health Perspectives from Crisis to Settlement traces the health repercussions on individuals and populations from the moment of forced mass movement due to conflict and other disasters through to the process of resettlement in other countries. These issues are addressed within the context of other global public health priorities and are part of the book's critical analysis not only of the particular vulnerabilities created by mobility but also how these interact and intersect with existing considerations across gender and age in health systems and international law. With a wider geographical area and case studies from all over the globe as a basis for the studies presented, this is a fully updated edition with new material discussing the current political landscape. A truly multidisciplinary book, The Health of Refugees is ideal for public health practitioners, researchers and postgraduate students. It is also an important work for those involved in non-governmental organisations, international aid and international development. Furthermore, it provides a critical background for clinicians, mental health workers and policymakers from health, welfare and migration.

People Forced to Flee United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, 2022-02-16

People in danger have received protection in communities beyond their own from the earliest times of recorded history. The causes—war, conflict, violence, persecution, natural disasters and climate change—are as familiar to readers of the news as to students of the past. It is 70 years since nations in the wake of World War II drew up the landmark 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees. People Forced to Flee marks this milestone. It is the latest in a long line of publications stretching back to 1993 that were previously entitled The State of the World's Refugees. The book traces the historic path that led to the 1951 Convention, showing how history was made by taking the centuries-old ideals of safety and solutions for refugees to global practice. It maps its progress during which international protection has reached a much broader group of people than initially envisaged. It examines international responses to forced displacement within borders as well as beyond them and the protection principles that apply to both. It reviews where they have been used with consistency and success and where they have not. At times the strength and resolve of the international community seems strong, yet solutions and meaningful solidarity are often elusive. Taking stock today at this important anniversary is all the more crucial as the world faces increasing forced displacement. Most is experienced in low and middle income countries and persists for generations. People forced to flee face barriers to improving their lives, contributing to the communities in which they live and realizing solutions. Everywhere an effective response depends on the commitment to international cooperation set down in the 1951 Convention, a vision often compromised by efforts to minimize responsibilities. There is growing recognition that doing better is a global imperative. Humanitarian and development action has the potential to be transformational, especially when grounded in the local context. People Forced to Flee examines how and where increased development investments in education, health and economic inclusion are helping to improve socioeconomic opportunities both for forcibly displaced persons and their hosts. In 2018 the international community reached a Global Compact on Refugees for more equitable and sustainable responses It is receiving deeper support People Forced to Flee looks at whether that is enough for what could and should help define the next 70 years

Syrian Refugees in Turkey Alanur Çavlin, 2020-12-27 This book examines the changing demographic situation of Syrian refugees and the host community in Turkey one of the major refugee hosting countries in the world relying on a recent representative dataset Conflicts and the resulting unrest force people to flee their countries and take refuge in foreign lands Such refugee movements across the world have increased significantly in recent times Turkey accounts for the greatest refugee population in the world today This has drastically impacted the Turkish demographics leading to different demographic situations in refugee communities in the country This book presents an in depth research on the impact of forced displacement on the demographic behaviour of Syrian refugees in Turkey in general and more specifically the way transformed family structures unregistered children fertility behaviours and early marriages impacted their lives The book also contributes to the existing knowledge and discourse on refugee integration by shedding light on their experiences related to access to labour market opportunities and education opportunities wellbeing and mobility It also helps in linking demography of Syrian community to the socio economic challenges in Turkey by means of incorporating crucial demographic variables into the analysis Offering valuable insights into various dimensions of life this book has an interdisciplinary appeal and will thus be a key resource for academics and scholars of demography refugee studies migration studies and sociology It will also be a valuable and unique reference work for people in governments international agencies and non governmental organizations

The Right to Know Sandra Coliver, 1995 This book documents the massive deprivation of human rights resulting from governmental censorship manipulation and control of reproductive health and sexuality information The introductory chapter applies a human rights perspective to reproductive health to show that women must have full and impartial information to be able to choose services which further their goals rather than governmental policies Examples of different types of state manipulation are provided and demographic biomedical and reproductive health paradigms of contraceptive delivery programs are described Chapter 2 identifies the binding obligations imposed on governments by the international principle that women have a right to appropriate reproductive health information The third chapter provides a global overview of such topics as health expenditures fertility rates infertility literacy and education infant and child mortality maternal mortality child spacing contraceptive usage unmet need abortion HIV AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases STDs Chapters 4 13 present country reports for Algeria Brazil Chile Ireland Kenya Malawi Pakistan the Philippines Poland and the US The country reports reveal the overwhelming need of women to have access to this information and the innumerable ways in which governments control such access The country reports also describe factors such as religion culture tradition state of development and influence of foreign donors which have an impact on access to information Each country report ends with specific recommendations and the concluding chapter defines seven obligations of national governments imposed by the right to information contained in international law and contains recommendations of ways nongovernmental organizations can use these obligations to lobby governments for improvements Ending Violence Against Women Francine Pickup, Suzanne Williams, Caroline Sweetman, 2001 8

Challenging the state Reimagining Global Abortion Politics Fiona Bloomer, Claire Pierson, Sylvia Estrada Claudio, 2020-06-10 What are the contemporary issues in abortion politics globally What factors explain variations in access to abortion between and within different countries This text provides a transnationally focused interdisciplinary analysis of trends in abortion politics using case studies from around the Global North and South It considers how societal influences such as religion nationalism and culture impact abortion law and access It explores the impact of international human rights norms the increasing displacement of people due to conflict and crisis and the role of activists on law reform and access The book concludes by considering the future of abortion politics through the more holistic lens of reproductive justice Utilising a unique interdisciplinary approach this book provides a major contribution to the knowledge base on abortion politics globally It provides an accessible informative and engaging text for academics policy makers and readers interested in abortion politics The Demography of Forced Migration Committee on Population, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, National Research Council, 1998-07-24 Because forced migration situations are often physically dangerous and politically complicated estimates of these populations are often difficult to make Estimates of forced migration vary but it is probable that there are about 23 million refugees and more than 30 million internally displaced people In order to assist specific groups of forced migrants and also to better understand the general plight of forced migrants good demographic data are needed However collecting data on forced migration presents tremendous challenges for normal data collection processes and standards To explore a range of issues about internally displaced persons and refugees the Committee on Population of the National Research Council organized a Workshop on the Demography of Forced Migration in Washington D C in November 1997 The purpose of the workshop was to investigate the ways in which population and other social scientists can produce more useful demographic information about forced migrant populations and how they differ This report summarizes the background papers prepared for the meeting the presentations and the general discussion Gender and Nation Building in the Middle East Elise G. Young, 2011-11-30 From Mandate Palestine to refugee camps in Jordan today generations of Palestinians have been affected by the reach of the state into their everyday lives Here Elise Young offers an analysis of the politics of state building in the Middle East viewed through the lens of health Young argues that gendered raced and classed constructions of health as evidenced in malaria eradication campaigns and the regularization of midwifery are central to such state building processes She draws on archival documents to uncover British medical administration and American involvement during the Mandate and in depth oral histories of Palestinian women refugees in Jordan Making a powerful case for an alternative historiography of the region this book will be invaluable for all those interested in Middle East history and politics nationalism gender public
