Hybrid Modernity Mary Padua, 2020-07-26 This book provides a detailed historical and design analysis of the development of parks and modern landscape architecture in late 20th century China It questions whether the fusion of international influences with the local Chinese design vocabulary in late 20th century China has created a distinctive and novel approach to the design of public parks Hybrid Modernity proposes a new theory for examining the design of public parks built in post Mao China since the reforms and sets the various processes for China's late 20th century socio cultural context Drawing on modernization theory research on China's modernity local and global cultural trends it illustrates through a range of case studies ways hybrid modernity defines a new design genre and language for the spatial forms of parks that emerged in China's secondary cities Featured case studies include the Living Water Park in Chengdu Sichuan province Zhongshan Shipyard Park in Guangdong Province Jinji Lake Landscape Master Plan in Suzhou Jiangsu province and the West Lake Southern Scenic Area Master Plan in Hangzhou Zhejiang province This book argues that these forms represent a new stage in China's history of landscape architecture The work reveals that as a new profession landscape architecture has greatly contributed to China's massive urban experiment This book is an ideal read for students enrolled in landscape architecture architecture fine arts and urban planning programs who are engaged in learning the arts and international design education Operative Landscapes Alissa North, 2013-02-01 There are infinite ways to build a community yet the defining feature of any community is characteristically the landscape Whether it is a park a river corridor community gardens a plaza or a streetscape the public spaces where people interact provide a shared sense of ownership and the qualities of these spaces influence how the communities evolve In a systematic overview following the workflow sequence of open space projects the book explores the various types and levels of intervention from masterplanning to guerilla gardening and from land reclamation to building in existing fabric Case studies mostly from North America Europe and Asia accompany the introductory essays The emphasis is on strategies of interaction between landscape projects building development and urban planning resulting in neighborhoods and city quarters that offer a higher quality of life Beyond trendy theories on landscape urbanism or landscape infrastructure this book offers an unideological view on the pragmatic potentials of landscape design for enhancing the built environment

Innovative Public Participation Practices for Sustainable Urban Regeneration Eugenio Mangi, Weixuan Chen, Tim Heath, Ali Cheshmehzangi, 2024-03-14 This book analyzes the adoption of stakeholders engagement in various fields and scales while providing the readers with an international outlook of the topic In the contemporary processes of urban development regeneration is becoming a relevant way to limit the occupation of new land and to enhance the existing spatial social and ecological dimensions of specific parts of the city It generally entails the engagement of different groups of stakeholders and users at various levels e.g. institutional and private who carry on their own agendas while conveying a wide range of interests and values to safeguard At the same time despite indications of a significant increase in its implementation under various forms and in multiple contexts in the last twenty years participatory mechanisms have not been without challenges and barriers due to several factors including facilitators poor negotiation and communication practices and consequently misinterpretation of the values at stake made by the parties involved or obstructionism and gridlocks carried on by the different stakeholders The narrative of the collection is structured in four sections The contributions elaborate on innovative participatory patterns how they are might be entangled with the different stages of regeneration projects in what measure they have contributed to the United Nations sustainability goals and the potential matters emerging during the negotiation phases In detail the four sections are 1 Public space regeneration 2 Ecological regeneration 3 Built heritage regeneration 4 Informal settlements regeneration Finally this book is a significant asset to urban policy makers planners practitioners and researchers in the architecture and urban studies domain who aim at deepening public participation practices knowledge by comparing different experiences

Whose Public Space? Ali Madanipour, 2010-01-21 Public spaces mirror the complexities of urban societies as historic social bonds have weakened and cities have become collections of individuals public open spaces have also changed from being embedded in the social fabric of the city to being a part of more impersonal and fragmented urban environments Can making public spaces help overcome this fragmentation where accessible spaces are created through inclusive processes This book offers some answers to this question through analysing the process of urban design and development in international case studies in which the changing character level of accessibility and the tensions of making public spaces are explored The book uses a coherent theoretical outlook to investigate a series of case studies crossing the cultural divides to examine the similarities and differences of public space in different urban contexts and its critical analysis of the process of development management and use of public space with all its tensions and conflicts While each case study investigates the specificities of a particular city the book outlines some general themes in global urban processes It shows how public spaces are a key theme in urban design and development everywhere how they are appreciated and used by the people of these cities but also being contested by and under pressure from different stakeholders

Creating Mixed Communities through Housing Policies Anna Maria Santiago, Iris Levin, Kathy Arthurson, 2024-02-08 This book focuses on socially mixed e g by income tenure ethnicity or any other characteristic communities developed through housing renewal and critically examines the policies and practices in view of the growing urban inequality The volume expands the discussion to the second phase of social mix social mix version 2.0 and offers constructive reflections on how social mix can be better conceived and delivered with fewer negative side effects The chapters in this book cover diverse national contexts and policy backgrounds and represent the perspectives of many key stakeholders including national and local governments services and NGOs developers and most importantly residents Chapters present diverse case studies from Europe the Middle East Africa India Australia and the United States and discuss projects that range in scale from small housing initiatives to neighborhoods and to whole districts They focus on diverse experiences of social mix between university students and young professionals and low income social housing tenants between older low income residents and younger middle class residents between diverse ethnic and social class groups sharing a neighborhood and between private and public housing residents Chapters also vary on the tools used to create social mix from local non for profit initiatives a national policy intervention and urban policies that aim to enhance social mix Lastly the book shows the range of analytical tools researchers have used to understand the diverse appearances of social mix its underlying goals and its consequent outcomes These include comparative analyses of social mix in diverse national and political settings including the Global East an evaluation of social mix from the perspective of social justice a historical analysis of the development of an urban district and a design analysis of urban renewal projects The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Journal of Urban Affairs

Measuring Public Space: The Star Model Dr Georgiana Varna, 2014-10-28 In the rapidly expanding public space debate of the past few years a recurring theme is the loss of publicness of contemporary urban public places This book takes up the challenge to find an objective way to prove or disprove this phenomenon By taking the reader through a systematic and multi disciplinary literature review it asks the deceptively simple question What is publicness It answers this by first developing a new theoretical approach The dual nature of public space and secondly a new analytical tool for measuring it The Star Model of Publicness This pragmatic approach to analysing public space is tested then on three new public places recently created on the post industrial waterfront of the River Clyde in the city of Glasgow UK By seeing where and why certain public places fail direct and informed interventions can be made to improve them and through this contribute to the building of more attractive and sustainable cities By adopting a multi disciplinary approach to shed light on this slippery concept this book shows how urban design can complement other disciplines when tackling the complex task of understanding and improving the built environment's public realm It also bridges the gap between theory and practice as it draws from empirical research to suggest more quantitative approaches towards auditing and improving public places

Durban, a Cogent African City Anna Irene Del Monaco, Jian Liu, Yashaen Luckan, Belula Tecle Misghina, 2018-04-30 The city of Durban is one of the most intriguing for architects and urban designers due to its cultural and economic diversity on one the hand and its political evolution since its colonial formalisation apartheid influences and its post apartheid evolution on the other It is a city that expresses complex narratives in architectural form and expression seemingly chaotic yet within and upon a cogent overall structure Perhaps it is that very cogency in urban structure which facilitated its complex evolution or perhaps not This paradox forms the crux of the studies and applied research part of this book and which defined the sites of focus for a collaborative studio workshop Durban is a modern city which expresses the complex dynamics of an African city emerging from a historically colonial foundation This provided an interesting context for engagement of the UNESCO Chair for Sustainable Urban Quality and Culture notably in Africa The institutional agreement between the UNESCO Chair Sapienza University of Rome and the Durban University of Technology DUT was formalised in the year 2013 prior to an international workshop in China and the UIA 2014 in Durban South Africa The focus of the Chair and the curriculum outcomes of DUT with regard to urban culture and the evolution thereof created a mutually opportune association with the possibility for contribution to the UIA 2014 conference in Durban After deliberations and the necessary paperwork the UNESCO Chair in Association with DUT were granted official space on the UIA Programme for presentation at the conference This was received with much enthusiasm which drew further interest and participation from students and Professors of Sapienza University of Rome and Tsinghua University of Beijing in China Further representation of academics from Manipal University in India School of Architecture University of Florida and Hosei University in Japan added much value to the collaboration in Durban
