Scandinavian Settlement Names In The East Midlands:

Proceedings of the Battle Conference 1996 Christopher Harper-Bill, 1997 Scandinavian Settlement Names in the East Midlands Gillian Fellows Jensen, 1978 Viking Migration and Settlement in East Anglia David Boulton, 2023-09-28 This book shows how analysis of Scandinavian influenced place names in their landscape contexts can provide crucial new evidence of differing processes of Viking migration and settlement in East Anglia between the late ninth and eleventh centuries The place names of East Anglia have until now received little attention in the academic study of Viking settlement Similarly the question of a possible migration of settlers from Scandinavia during the Viking period was for many years dismissed by historians and archaeologists until the recent discovery by metal detectorists of abundant Scandinavian metalwork and jewellery in many parts of East Anglia David Boulton has synthesised these two previously neglected elements to offer new insights into the processes of Viking settlement This book provides the first comprehensive analysis of Scandinavian influenced place names in East Anglia It examines their different categories linguistically and explores the landscape and archaeological contexts of the settlements associated with them with the aid of GIS generated maps Dr Boulton shows how the process of Viking settlement was influenced by changes in rural society and agriculture which were then already occurring in East Anglia such as the late Anglo Saxon expansion of arable farming and the associated recolonisation of the inland clay plateau These developments resulted in patterns of place name formation which differ significantly from some of the previously accepted orthodox interpretations of how Scandinavian influenced place names especially those containing the b and thorp elements and the Grimston hybrids came into being in the Danelaw In view of these discrepancies David Boulton proposes an innovative hypothetical model for the formation of the Scandinavian influenced place names in East Anglia which explores differing patterns and phases of Viking settlement in the region and the possible pathways of migration that preceded them Scandinavian Settlement Names in the North-West Gillian Fellows Jensen, 1985 A Dictionary of British Place-Names David Mills, 2011-10-20 From Abbas Combe to Zennor this dictionary gives the meaning and origin of place names in the British Isles tracing their development from earliest times to the present day Place-names, Language and the Anglo-Saxon Landscape N. J. Higham, Martin J. Ryan, 2011 The essays in this volume explore the richness of the interactions between the Anglo Saxons and their landscape how they understood described and exploited the environments of which they were a part Subjects explored include the history of the study of place names and the Anglo Saxon landscape English Historical Linguistics. Volume 2 Alexander Bergs, Laurel J. Brinton, 2012-10-01 The Nordic Languages. Volume 2 Oscar Bandle, Kurt Braunmüller, Ernst Hakon Jahr, Allan Karker, Hans-Peter Naumann, Ulf Telemann, Lennart Elmevik, Gun Widmark, 2008-07-14 No detailed description available for NORDIC LANGUAGES BUNDLE 2 VOL HSK 22 2 E BOOK The Cambridge History of the English Language Norman Blake, Richard M. Hogg, 1992-08-13 Volume II of The Cambridge History of the English Language covers

the Middle English Period describing and analyzing developments in the language from the Norman Conquest to the introduction of printing

The Viking World Stefan Brink, Neil Price, 2008-10-31 Filling a gap in the literature for an academically oriented volume on the Viking period this unique book is a one stop authoritative introduction to all the latest research in the field and the most comprehensive book of its kind ever attempted

Beyond the Burghal Hidage John Baker, Stuart Brookes, 2013-03-27 As the title suggests Beyond the Burghal Hidage takes the study of Anglo Saxon civil defence away from traditional historical and archaeological fields and uses a groundbreaking interdisciplinary approach to examine warfare and public responses to organised violence through their impact on the landscape By bringing together the evidence from a wide range of archaeological onomastic and historical sources the authors are able to reconstruct complex strategic and military landscapes and to show how important detailed knowledge of early medieval infrastructure and communications is to our understanding of Anglo Saxon preparedness for war and to the situating of major defensive works within their wider strategic context The result is a significant and far reaching re evaluation of the evolution of late Anglo Saxon defensive arrangements Winner of the 2013 Verbruggen prize given annually by De Re Militari society for the best book on medieval military history

Representing Beasts in Early Medieval England and Scandinavia Michael D. J. Bintley, Thomas J. T. Williams, 2015 Essays on the depiction of animals birds and insects in early medieval material culture from texts to carvings to the landscape itself For people in the early Middle Ages the earth air water and ether teemed with other beings Some of these were sentient creatures that swam flew slithered or stalked through the same environments inhabited by their human contemporaries Others were objects that a modern beholder would be unlikely to think of as living things but could yet be considered to possess a vitality that rendered them potent Still others were things half glimpsed on a dark night or seen only in the mind s eye strange beasts that haunted dreams and visions or inhabited exotic lands beyond the compass of everyday knowledge This book discusses the various ways in which the early English and Scandinavians thought about and represented these other inhabitants of their world and considers the multi faceted nature of the relationship between people and beasts Drawing on the evidence of material culture art language literature place names and landscapes the studies presented here reveal a world where the boundaries between humans animals monsters and objects were blurred and often permeable and where to represent the bestial could be to hold a mirror to the self Michael D J Bintley is Senior Lecturer in Medieval Literature at Canterbury Christ Church University Thomas J T Williams is a doctoral researcher at UCL s Institute of Archaeology Contributors No l Adams John Baker Michael D J Bintley Sue Brunning L szl S ndor Chardonnens Della Hooke Eric Lacey Richard North Marijane Osborn Victoria Symons Thomas J Williams

Thorps in a Changing Landscape Paul Cullen,Richard Jones,David Parsons,2011-03 Considering the minor settlements of England s Danelaw villages known as thorps or throps this history demonstrates how place name evidence can be used to understand early cultures By integrating linguistic and archaeological approaches it establishes a compelling connection between the creation of these place names and the fundamental changes taking place in the English landscape between AD 850 and 1250 The integral role of thorps in revolutionizing agricultural practice at that time is thoroughly analyzed

Fen and Sea I.G. Simmons,2021-12-22 Renowned environmental historian I G Simmons synthesizes detailed research into the landscape history of the coastal area of Lincolnshire between Boston and Skegness and its hinterland of Tofts Low Grounds and Fen as far as the Wolds With many excellent illustrations Simmons chronicles the ways in which this low coast backed by a wet fen has been managed to display a set of landscapes which have significant differences that contradict the common terminology of uniformity calling the area flat or referring to everywhere from Cleethorpes to King s Lynn as the fens These usually labeled flat areas of East Lincolnshire between Mablethorpe and Boston are in fact a mosaic of subtly different landscapes They have become that way largely due to the human influences derived from agriculture and industry Between the beginning of Norman rule and the advent of pumped drainage a number of significant changes took place The author has accumulated information from Roman times until the beginnings of fossil fuel powered drainage bringing together both scientific data and documentary evidence including medieval and early modern documents from the National Archive Lincolnshire Archives Bethlem Hospital and Magdalen College Oxford to explore the little known archives of regional interest

The Nordic Languages Oskar Bandle,Lennart Elmevik,Gun Widmark,2002 Annotation This handbook is conceived as a comprehensive history of the North Germanic languages from the oldest times up to the present day Whereas most of the traditional presentations of Nordic language history are confined to individual languages and often concentrate on purely linguistic data the present work covers the history of all Nordic languages in its totality embedded in a broad culture historical context The Nordic languages are described both individually and in their mutual dependence as well as in relation to the neighboring non Nordic languages The handbook is not tied to a particular methodology but keeps in principle to a pronounced methodological pluralism encompassing all aspects of actual methodology Moreover it combines diachronic with synchronic systematic aspects longitudinal sections with cross sections periods such as Old Norse transition from Old Norse to Early Modern Nordic Early Modern Nordic 1550 1800 and so on The description of Nordic language history is built upon a comprehensive collection of linguistic data it consists of more than 200 articles written by a multitude of authors from Scandinavian and German and English speaking countries The organization of the handbook combines a central part on the detailed chronological developments and some chapters of a more general character chapters on theory and methodology in the beginning and on overlapping spatio temporal topics in the end
