Scent Of Saffron Three Generations Of An Iranian Family:

Scent of Saffron Rouhi Shafii, 1997 The history of Iran in the twentieth century is one of turbulent political and religious transformation Rouhi Shafii charts the impact of these changes through the lives of three generations of women in her own family From her grandmother's life in rural Iran in the 1920s to her own final exile to London in the 1980s she blends the personal and the political to provide a compelling social history and reveals the power of religious ideology and social control this wields over Iranian women The Literature of the Iranian Diaspora Sanaz Fotouhi, 2015-04-03 The 1979 Revolution in Iran caused the migration of millions of Iranians many of whom wrote and are still writing of their experiences Formed at the junctions of Iranian culture English language and Western cultures this body of work has not only formed a unique literary space offering an insightful reflection of Iranian diasporic experiences and its shifting nature but it has also been making a unique and understudied contribution to World Literatures in English as significant as Indian African and Asian writing in English Sanaz Fotouhi here traces the origins of the emerging body of diasporic Iranian literature in English and uses these origins to examine the socio political position and historical context from which they have emerged Fotouhi brings together introduces and analyses for the first time a significant range of diasporic Iranian writers alongside each other and alongside other diasporic literatures in English While situating this body of work through existing theories such as postcolonialism Fotouhi sheds new light on the role of Iranian literature and culture in Western literature by showing that these writings distinctively reflect experiences unique to the Iranian diaspora Analysing the relationship between Iranians and their new surroundings by drawing on theories of migration narration and identity Fotouhi examines how the literature borne out of the Iranian diaspora reconstructs maintains and negotiates their Individual and communal identities and reflects today's socio political realities This book will be vital for researchers of Middle Eastern literature and its relationship with writings from the West as well as those interested in the cultural history of the Middle East Tribeswomen of Iran Julia Huang, 2014-09-19 Since the revolution in 1979 the Islamic Republic of Iran has permitted very few Western scholars to conduct research in the country Foreign travellers and media persons have limited access and much Iranian scholarship tends to focus on the realms of politics and government Here Julia Huang provides a remarkable account of local tribal Iranian life offering a rare glimpse into the daily rhythms and social richness beyond the capital city of Tehran The Qashqa'i are a confederation of nomadic tribes of which the Qermezi Red Ones are one migrating semiannually between winter pastures near the Persian Gulf and summer pastures southwest of the city of Isfahan Huang has visited and traveled with the Qermezi for extended periods across fourteen years Drawing on her experiences participation and observation she offers an intimate window onto their life She focuses on a small group of women spanning four generations who are part of a large extended family and describes their ways of life their activities and interactions and their distinctive sociocultural and ecological setting Like other nomadic peoples around the world the Qashqa'i increasingly face pressures that threaten their livelihoods lifestyles and culture Huang shows us how women negotiate compromises between customary tribal values and external influences and sketches their efforts to resist the influences of an Islamizing modernizing and centralizing government With shadows and resonances that rebound across the stories of these women Huang is able to present multiple perspectives on events and contentious issues for instance the politicized issue of women s state mandated modest dress Huang also explains how the Turkic speaking Qashqa i relate to the wider Iranian society and the Islamic Republic of Iran adapting to a rapidly changing world while retaining tribal values and a distinctive ethnolinguistic identity as one of Iran s national minorities In describing life at the local level in Iran Huang depicts a community largely beyond the scope and reach of foreign travellers and the Western media With rich ethnographic description and analysis intimate portraits of the private lives and spaces of women and children and diverse perspectives this engagingly written account documents a disappearing way of life Tribeswomen of Iran is essential reading for all those interested in Iran the Middle East anthropology nomadism and gender

Chambers, 2011-11-01 As North America s ethnic populations increase health care and social service workers are recognizing that in order to provide culturally sensitive and effective treatment programs they must be more aware of the particular needs of their ethnic patients This newly revised edition of Cross Cultural Caring A Handbook for Health Professionals describes Vietnamese Cambodian and Laotian Chinese Japanese Iranian South Asian and Central American ethno cultural groups It stresses the need to understand both the cultural beliefs and the daily life concerns facing immigrants such as work income child rearing and aging all of which impinge on health Reflecting the questions health professionals most often ask about immigrant groups each chapter describes one ethno cultural community discussing such issues as childbirth mental illness dental care hospitalization and death as well as home country culture common reasons for emigrating and challenges in adjusting to a new culture This new edition provides up to date statistics and fresh analysis responding to changing trends in immigration Additional material includes a new chapter addressing the special circumstances of refugees short real life stories of immigrants and refugees experiences and a thorough easy to use index

Historical Archaeology and Heritage in the Middle East Ruth Young, 2019-01-14 Landlord villages dominated Iranian land tenure for hundreds of years whereby one powerful landlord owned the village structures surrounding farmland and to all intents and purposes the village occupants themselves a system that in some cases remained in place up to the 1979 Islamic Revolution In Oman mud brick oases were home to most of the rural population right up until Sultan Qaboos came to power in 1970 and required inhabitants of mud brick houses to relocate into new concrete block buildings Historical Archaeology and Heritage in the Middle East explores these everyday rural communities in Iran and Oman in the 19th and 20th centuries through a combination of building analysis excavation artefact analysis and ethnographic interviews Drawing on the results of original field projects the book considers new ways of exploring traditional lifeways giving voice to hitherto largely ignored sections of the population and offers new and different ways of thinking about how these people lived and what shaped their lives and the impact of major political and social changes on them Place memory and belonging are considered through the lens of material culture within these villages The first of its kind the book brings together methodologies research questions and themes that have never been used or addressed in the Middle East Helping to establish historical archaeology in the Middle East and providing new ways in which the memorable quotidian past can be exploited for its social and economic value in contemporary community and heritage developments it is an ideal resource for students scholars and practitioners of historical archaeology and heritage of and in the Middle East Neither East Nor West Christiane Bird,2002-02 Combining reminiscence travelogue history and interviews with Iranians from all walks of life a journey through modern day Iran reveals a nation shrouded by misunderstanding cultural stereotypes and hostility Cross-cultural Caring ,2005 This newly revised edition of Cross Cultural Caring A Handbook for Health Professionals looks at Vietnamese Cambodian and Laotian Chinese Japanese Iranian South Asian and Central American ethno cultural groups It stresses the need to understand both the cultural beliefs and the daily life concerns facing immigrants such as work income child rearing and aging all of which impinge on health This long awaited new edition provides up to date statistics and fresh analysis responding to changing trends in immigration Additional material includes a new chapter addressing the special circumstances of refugees short real life stories of immigrants and refugees experiences and a thorough easy to use index R sum de l diteur A Space of Her Own Leela Gulati,Jasodhara Bagchi,2005-05 Several books have been written about the position of women in India s patriarchal society This collection of twelve narratives however focuses not so much on women s subservient position vis a vis men but on women s relations with each other With the authors locating their personal struggles within those of three generations of women in their families these narratives span a period of over a 100 years and intersect both the private and public domains Each narrative in A Space of Her Own is a tale of how the author fought to establish her own personhood and create a sphere of autonomy where she is able to make decisions to nurture herself and those around her It is stories such as these the editors argue which when repeated over generations will inspire women to live with dignity and to create and defend lives for themselves their families and the women who follow them The Church Mission Society Brian Stanley,Kevin Ward,2019-07-12 The Church Missionary Society now renamed the Church Mission Society has been for most of its 200 year history the largest and most influential of the British Protestant missionary agencies Its bicentenary in 1999 is being marked by the publication of this collection of historical and theological essays by an international team of scholars including Lamin Sanneh Kenneth Cragg and Geoffrey A Oddie The volume contains re assessments of the classic centenary history of the CMS by Eugene Stock and of the strategic vision of Henry Venn one of the two architects of the Three Self theory of the indigenous church There are chapters on the close links between the CMS and the Basel Mission women missionaries and regional studies of Samuel Crowther and the Niger mission Iran the Middle East New Zealand India and

Kikuyu Christianity The volume makes a major contribution to the growing body of literature on the indigenization of missionary traditions and will be of interest to historians of the missionary movement and non western Christianity as well as theologians concerned with religious pluralism dialogue and Christian mission Familiar and Foreign Manijeh Mannani, Veronica Thompson, 2015-09-30 The current political climate of confrontation between Islamist regimes and Western governments has resulted in the proliferation of essentialist perceptions of Iran and Iranians in the West Such perceptions do not reflect the complex evolution of Iranian identity that occurred in the years following the Constitutional Revolution 1906-11 and the anti imperialist Islamic Revolution of 1979 Despite the Iranian government's determined pursuance of anti Western policies and strict conformity to religious principles the film and literature of Iran reflect the clash between a nostalgic pride in Persian tradition and an apparent infatuation with a more Eurocentric modernity In Familiar and Foreign Mannani and Thompson set out to explore the tensions surrounding the ongoing formulation of Iranian identity by bringing together essays on poetry novels memoir and films These include both canonical and less widely theorized texts as well as works of literature written in English by authors living in diaspora Challenging neocolonialist stereotypes these critical excursions into Iranian literature and film reveal the limitations of collective identity as it has been configured within and outside of Iran Through the examination of works by among others the iconic female poet Forugh Farrokhzad the expatriate author Goli Taraghi the controversial memoirist Azar Nafisi and the graphic novelist Marjane Satrapi author of Persepolis this volume engages with the complex and contested discourses of religion patriarchy and politics that are the contemporary product of Iran's long and revolutionary history The Church Mission Society and World Christianity, 1799-1999 Kevin Ward, Brian Stanley, 2000 This volume marking the bicentenary of the Church Mission Society not only recounts the history of a major mission institution but also provides significant discussion about the meaning of mission and the expansion of Christianity worldwide Written by a team of contributors from five continents these essays throw light on the practice of cross cultural mission in our contemporary world making this book of value to anyone who is concerned with mission strategies today Food, Cuisine, and Cultural Competency for Culinary, Hospitality, and Nutrition Professionals Sari Edelstein, 2011 Food Cuisine and Cultural Competency for Culinary Hospitality and Nutrition Professionals comprehensively covers unique food traditions as they apply to health The text explores the critical importance of cultural sensitivity and competency in today's work setting addresses health literacy issues of diverse client bases and helps readers identify customer communication techniques that enable professionals to establish trust with clients of ethnicity not their own Written and peer reviewed by experts in the culture discussed each chapter in this groundbreaking text covers a distinct region or culture and discusses the various contexts that contribute to nutrition and health lifestyles eating patterns ethnic foods menu planning communication verbal and non verbal and more This book is consistent with The American Dietetic Association's Cultural Competence Strategic Plan
