Edward Thomas, 2011 This volume gathers a selection of Edward Thomas's critical writings on poetry from the period 1899 to 1907      Selected Letters of Fletcher (c) ,      Ezra Pound and the Appropriation of Chinese Poetry Ming Xie, 2021-12-12 First published in 1999

The subject of this book is the translation and appropriation of Chinese poetry by some English and American writers in the early decades of this century The author explores the be concerned as much with English translation of Chinese poetry per se as with the relationship between this body of translation from the Chinese and the developing poetics and practices of what is usually referred to as Imagism as much with the question of historical influence or ascription as with certain interpretive and critical aspects of this correlative relationship Focusing on the direct influence of Chinese poetry upon the theory and practice of Imagism attributing to Imagist poets in general and Ezra Pound in particular the perception in Chinese poetry of the essential qualities and principles for rejuvenating English poetry in the early decades of the century      The Modern Portrait Poem Frances Dickey, 2012 In bridging historical periods national boundaries and disciplinary distinctions Dickey makes a case for the continuity of this genre over the Victorian Modernist divide and from Britain to the United States in a time of rapid change in the arts      Small Press Record of Books in Print Len Fulton, 1994

The Literature of Connection David Trotter, 2020-06-10 This book is about some of the ways in which the world got ready to be connected long before the advent of the technologies and the concentrations of capital necessary to implement a global network society It investigates the prehistory not of the communications revolution brought about by advances in electronic digital computing from 1950 onwards but of the principle of connectivity which was to provide that revolution with its justification and rallying cry Connectivity's core principle is that what matters most in any act of telecommunication and sometimes all that matters is the fact of its having happened During the nineteenth century the principle gained steadily increasing traction by means not only of formal systems such as the telegraph but of an array of improvised methods and signalling devices These methods and devices fulfilled not just an ever more urgent need but a fundamental recurring desire for near instantaneous real time communication at a distance Connectivity became an end in itself a complex vivid unpredictable romance woven through the enduring human desire and need for remote intimacy Its magical enhancements are the stuff of tragedy comedy satire elegy lyric melodrama and plain description of literature in short The book develops the concepts of signal medium and interface to offer in its first part an alternative view of writing in Britain from George Eliot and Thomas Hardy to D H Lawrence Hope Mirrlees and Katherine Mansfield and in its second case studies of European and African American fiction and of interwar British cinema designed to open the topic up for further enquiry     Invisible

Fences Steven Monte,2000-01-01 For all its recent popularity among poets and critics prose poetry continues to raise more questions than it answers How have prose poems been identified as such and why have similar works been excluded from the genre What happens when we read a work as a prose poem How have prose genres such as the novel affected prose poetry and modern poetry in general In Invisible Fences Steven Monte places prose poetry in historical and theoretical perspective by comparing its development in the French and American literary traditions In spite of its apparent formal freedom prose poetry is constrained by specific historical circumstances and is constantly engaged in border disputes with neighboring prose and poetic genres Monte illuminates these constraints through an examination of works that have influenced the development of the prose poem as well as through a discussion of genre theory and detailed readings of poems ranging from Charles Baudelaire's La Solitude to John Ashbery's The System Monte explores the ways in which literary historical narratives affect interpretation why for example prose poetry tends to be seen as a revolutionary genre and how this perspective influences readings of individual works The American poets he discusses include Ralph Waldo Emerson William Carlos Williams T S Eliot Gertrude Stein and Ashbery the French poets range from Baudelaire Arthur Rimbaud and Stephane Mallarmé to Max Jacob In exploring prose poetry as a genre Invisible Fences offers new perspectives not only on modern poetry but also on genre itself challenging current theories of genre with a test case that asks for yet eludes definition
