Latitude and longitude are a global address based on the address of a place, with global grids. The global grid has two sets of very special lines. The distance on Earth's surface in degrees is  $^{\circ}$ .

A global grid is called lines of latitude. A line of latitude is a circle the globe and one that means that the lines are the same distance apart. Lines of latitude are labeled N or south a place is from the equator are labeled N. Lines south of the equator are labeled S. The equator is labeled  $0^{\circ}$ .

Lines of longitude are called lines of longitude. An imaginary line is called the prime meridian. The prime meridian is the starting line for longitude. Longitude measure how far east or west a place is from the prime meridian. Lines east of the prime meridian are labeled E. Lines west of the prime meridian are labeled W.
