School Districts Instructional Renewal:

School Districts and Instructional Renewal Amy M. Hightower, 2002-01-01 This volume shows how school districts can and do make essential contributions to the renewal and enhancement of American education It expands the conversation on what school districts are what they do and how they can enhance the quality of teaching and learning in US schools

International Handbook of Educational Policy Nina Bascia, Alister Cumming, Amanda Datnow, Kenneth Leithwood, David Livingstone, 2008-05-14 Nina Bascia Alister Cumming Amanda Datnow Kenneth Leithwood and David Livingstone This Handbook presents contemporary and emergent trends in educational policy research in over 40 chapters written by nearly ninety leading researchers from a number of countries It is organized into five broad sections which capture many of the current dominant educational policy foci and at the same time situate current understandings historically in terms of both how they are conceptualized and in terms of past policy practice The chapters themselves are empirically grounded providing illustrations of the conceptual implications contained within them as well as allowing for comparisons across them The series exists within chapters with respect to jurisdictional particularities and contrasts allows readers to consider not only a range of approaches to policy analysis but also the ways in which policies and policy ideas play out in different times and places The sections move from a focus on prevailing policy tendencies through increasingly critical and outsider perspectives on policy They address in turn the contemporary strategic emphasis on large scale reform substantive emphases at several levels on leadership and governance improving teacher quality and conceptualizing learning in various domains around the notion of literacies and concluding finally with a contrasting topic workplace learning which has had less policy attention and thus allows readers to consider both the advantages and disadvantages of learning and teaching under the bright gaze of policy

IJER Vol 15-N1 International Journal of Educational Reform, 2006-06-13 The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform IJER is to keep readers up to date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international authorities As the only peer reviewed scholarly publication that combines authors voices without regard for the political affiliations perspectives or research methodologies IJER provides readers with a balanced view of all sides of the political and educational mainstream To this end IJER includes but is not limited to inquiry based and opinion pieces on developments in such areas as policy administration curriculum instruction law and research IJER should thus be of interest to professional educators with decision making roles and policymakers at all levels turn since it provides a broad based conversation between and among policymakers practitioners and academicians about reform goals objectives and methods for success throughout the world Readers can call on IJER to learn from an international group of reform implementers by discovering what they can do that has actually worked IJER can also help readers to understand the pitfalls of current reforms in order to avoid making similar mistakes Finally it is the mission of IJER to help readers to learn about key issues in school reform from movers and shakers who help to study and shape the power base directing educational reform in the U S and the world School District Leadership Matters Bruce Sheppard, Jean Brown, David Dibbon, 2009-03-08 School District Leadership Matters challenges policy makers administrators and academics in the field of educational leadership to reassess their traditional approaches to learning working and planning The authors believe that government restructuring standards based reforms and centrally imposed strategic planning have been painfully ineffective As a consequence student learning has become increasingly superficial and inauthentic This book bridges the traditional divide between the generalizations of social science theory on the one hand and the world of educational practice on the other It argues that a more promising approach to education reform is through effective school district leadership Sheppard Brown and Dibbon draw on their collective experience both as educational leaders and researchers of leadership having spent five years researching and working in one school district Here they show how a district superintendent can successfully navigate the paradoxes and challenges of facilitating collaborative leadership in a school district with a traditionally hierarchical organizational structure As a conclusion to their work the authors highlight what they call five recognitions that deepen readers understanding of school district leadership They illuminate too ways that senior level practitioners can apply theory to practice in order to break down the traditional hierarchical bureaucracies that inhibit learning and create professional learning communities School District Leadership Matters urges researchers graduate students practitioners and policymakers to focus on improving authentic learning for all students and argues that the best hope rests with effective school district leadership This empirically based yet practical book provides new insights and questions for academic researchers and will inspire policy makers and practitioners to imagine what could be and to work towards it A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia's Public Schools National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Independent Evaluation of DC Public Schools, 2011-08-25 The District of Columbia DC has struggled for decades to improve its public education system In 2007 the DC government made a bold change in the way it governs public education with the goal of shaking up the system and bringing new energy to efforts to improve outcomes for students The Public Education Reform Amendment Act PERAA shifted control of the city s public schools from an elected school board to the mayor developed a new state department of education created the position of chancellor and made other significant management changes A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia s Public Schools offers a framework for evaluating the effects of PERAA on DC s public schools The book recommends an evaluation program that includes a systematic yearly public reporting of key data as well as in depth studies of high priority issues including quality of teachers principals and other personnel quality of classroom teaching and learning capacity to serve vulnerable children and youth promotion of family and community engagement and quality and equity of operations management and facilities As part of the evaluation program the Mayor s Office should produce an annual report to the city on the status of the public schools including an analysis of trends and all the underlying data A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia's Public Schools suggests that D.C. engage local universities, philanthropic organizations and other institutions to develop and sustain an infrastructure for ongoing research and evaluation of its public schools. Any effective evaluation program must be independent of school and city leaders and responsive to the needs of all stakeholders. Additionally, its research should meet the highest standards for technical quality. Handbook of Education Policy Research Janelle Scott, 2025-07-17. The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research, the largest volume published in AERA's history, addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood, K-12, and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years. With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop, the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects, methods, theories, and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s. The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive, and the authors represent a diversity of racial, ethnic, and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations. Most chapters come from multiple authors, reflecting the multi-sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published. This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past, present, and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students, researchers, policy makers, and practitioners. Using Data in Schools to Inform Leadership and Decision Making Alex J. Bowers, Alan R. Shoho, Bruce G. Barnett, 2014-11-01. Our fifth book in the International Research on School Leadership series focuses on the use of data in schools and districts as useful information for leadership and decision making. Schools are awash in data and information, from test scores to grades to discipline reports and attendance, as just a short list of student information sources, while additional streams of data feed into schools and districts from teachers and parents, as well as local, regional, and national policy levels. To deal with the data, schools have implemented a variety of data practices, from data rooms to data days, data walks, and data protocols. However, despite the flood of data, successful school leaders are leveraging an analysis of their school's data as a means to bring about continuous improvement in an effort to improve instruction for all students. Nevertheless, some drown, some swim, while others find success. Our goal in this book volume is to bring together a set of chapters by authors who examine successful data use as it relates to leadership and school improvement. In particular, the chapters in this volume consider important issues in this domain, including: How educational leaders use data to inform their practice; What types of data and data analysis are most useful to successful school leaders; To what extent are data-driven and data-informed practices helping school leaders positively change instructional practice; In what ways does good data collection and analysis feed into successful continuous improvement and holistic systems thinking; How have school leadership practices changed as more data and data analysis techniques have become available; What are the major obstacles facing school leaders when using data for decision making, and how do they overcome them. The Education Mayor Kenneth K. Wong, Francis X. Shen, Dorothea Anagnostopoulos, Stacey

Rutledge,2007-10-22 In 2002 the No Child Left Behind Act rocked America's schools with new initiatives for results based accountability But years before NCLB was signed a new movement was already under way by mayors to take control of city schools from school boards and integrate the management of public education with the overall governing of the city The Education Mayor is a critical look at mayoral control of urban school districts beginning with Boston's schools in 1992 and examining more than 100 school districts in 40 states The authors seek to answer four central questions What does school governance look like under mayoral leadership How does mayoral control affect school and student performance What are the key factors for success or failure of integrated governance How does mayoral control effect practical changes in schools and classrooms The results of their examination indicate that although mayoral control of schools may not be appropriate for every district it can successfully emphasize accountability across the education system providing more leverage for each school district to strengthen its educational infrastructure and improve student performance Based on extensive quantitative data as well as case studies this analytical study provides a balanced look at America's education reform As the first multidistrict empirical examination and most comprehensive overall evaluation of mayoral school reform The Education Mayor is a must read for academics policymakers educational administrators and civic and political leaders concerned about public education

Learning-Focused Leadership in Action Michael S. Knapp, Meredith I. Honig, Margaret L. Plecki, Bradley S. Portin, Michael A. Copland, 2014-03-21 In an educational context where school and district performance is of increasing focus it's essential for leaders at all levels of the educational system to focus on improving student performance This volume zeros in on a promising set of strategies and practices for all leaders to motivate support and sustain learning in contemporary schools Learning Focused Leadership in Action explores what it means for educational leadership to be learning focused what this looks like in practice at both the school and district level and how such leadership changes can be set in motion Drawing on extensive case study research in schools and districts that are making progress on learning improvement this volume explores how leaders at all levels of the educational system can productively seek to improve the quality of learning opportunities and student performance no matter how challenging the circumstances

Improving Schools and Educational Systems Alma Harris, Janet Hageman Chrispeels, 2023-05-09 School improvement has become a dominant feature of educational reform in many countries The pressure upon schools to improve performance has resulted in a wide range of improvement programmes and initiatives which can provide both inspiration and advice to everyone involved in school improvement This book draws together the most effective school improvement projects from around the world in one comprehensive text including detailed comparative analysis of a wide variety of initiatives Drawing on examples from the UK the USA Canada South Africa and Australia this book gives both an international snapshot and a coherent synthesis of initiatives that have given achievable results

Knapp,2006-10-15 A guide to help educational leaders reflect on their actions plan for improvement and take actions to foster student and professional learning Distributed Leadership According to the Evidence Kenneth Leithwood,Blair

Mascall,Tiiu Strauss,2009-06-02 Although not new the concept of distributed shared leadership has re emerged in recent years as one highly promising response to the complex challenges currently faced by schools Responding productively to these challenges far exceeds the capacities of any individual leader If schools are to flourish in the future they will need to enlist the collective expertise of many more of their members and stakeholders than they have in the past The purpose of this volume is to both present and synthesize the best available evidence about the nature causes and effects of distributed school leadership The book also clarifies common misunderstandings about distributed leadership and identifies promising implications for practice and for future research Key features include Expertise Written by the most active and widely respected scholars engaged in research on distributed leadership the book encompasses the very latest knowledge about the nature causes and consequences of such leadership in schools Comparative Models The book compares various approaches to distributed leadership and examines the conditions under which some approaches may be better than others in improving schools Evidence Based Much of the popularity of distributed leadership is rooted in expectations unsupported by systematic empirical evidence Virtually all of the available evidence about distributed approach to leadership can be found in this book This book is appropriate for researchers studying school leadership instructors and students in graduate level school leadership courses and practicing administrators at the district and building level Building School-based Teacher Learning Communities Milbrey Wallin McLaughlin,Joan E. Talbert,2006-01-01 Building on evidence that school based teacher learning communities improve student outcomes this book lays out an agenda to develop and sustain collaborative professional cultures It provides an inside look at the processes resources and system strategies that are necessary to build vibrant school based teacher learning communities
