The Political Economy of Wasta: Use and Abuse of Social Capital Networking Mohamed A. Ramady,2015-11-23 The term wasta stems from the Arabic root for middle or medium and describes the phenomenon of using connections to find job government services or other favors to circumvent bureaucracy or bypass the system as a whole The effects of wasta may be both positive or negative and is not a phenomenon that is particular to the Arab or Muslim world but also to many other cultures and regions of the world with similar concepts popularly known as ubuntu guanxi harambee naoberschop or old boy network used in African Chinese and European societies By its very nature wasta is an area of grey or even black information and like corruption to which it is most often associated is hard to assess although country corruption perception indexes attempt to provide a quantifiable basis In the final analysis such ratings are based on perceptions of corruption and this perception may vary strongly depending on different societal structures and cultural modes whether these are extended family systems tribal clans or more atomized societies where relationships are essentially transactional and rule based In a western perspective where wasta may be considered as a form of corruption in other societies it may be perceived as something natural and not criminal and using one's wasta in tribal societies to help clan members is seen as a duty The difference stems from the innocent use of wasta to make introductions as opposed to its abuse in placing unqualified persons in positions The volume brings together academics and professional experts to examine a range of multi faceted social economic and political issues raised by the use and abuse of social networking covering various topics like wasta interpersonal connections in family and business ties The relationship between inequality adjusted human development and corruption perception indexes in the Gulf region wasta and business networking assessing the economic cost of wasta wasta and its impact on quality oriented education reform and the perceptions of young people The use of wasta to overcome socio cultural barriers for women and men The volume also offers insights into social relations and ethics and how the use of wasta contradicts with common held religious principles along with some country studies on Islamic principles and the use of wasta Mohamed Ramady is a Visiting Associate Professor King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals Saudi Arabia

Rationality and Legality of Non-market Economy Treatment in Antidumping Law Shao Long, 2024-01-03 This book serves as a comprehensive study of and provides rich insight into non market economy treatment including its past present and estimated future practices and implications It explores the introduction of the market and non market economy dichotomy into international trade law It traces the origin and development of non market economy treatment against changing international economic and political background The book examines this treatment in light of the rationale underlying anti dumping reflecting its alleged significance of ensuring fair trade It in particular investigates the varied non market economy treatment practices responding concerns of China's rising as a large state led economy analyzing the deviation of NME treatment into an all in trade tool The book argues against preconceived bias and unilateral protectionism

It highlights the universal existence of government involvement in the market and proposes objective assessment of its impact on fair trade. Final proposition of the book is depoliticizing trade reforming comprehensively international trade rules to carefully calibrate different values including promoting fairness and enhancing global social welfare. It envisages a multi-dimension overhaul of international trade rules to rebalance trade interests rather than roughly labeling an economy to confer different treatment the practices of which lead to separation and chaos. The book is of particular relevance and interest to economies in transition and among policy makers, academicians and legal practitioners engaged in trade remedies and trade rules reconstruction.

This is the first book in English to examine local government and authority in Vietnam since the country's reunification in 1975. Six chapters emphasize particular villages and districts in different parts of the country: one examines a ward in Hanoi, another focuses on Ho Chi Minh City and one compares leaders in several provinces. To contextualize conditions today, two chapters analyse local government in Vietnam's long history. The opening chapter synthesizes the findings in this book with those in other studies by researchers inside and outside Vietnam.

Limits of Economic and Social Knowledge S. DeCanio, 2013-11-21. The book aims to show that the deterministic vision embodied in conventional economic modelling is neither consistent with nor supported by the state of the art in mathematics, logic and physical science. DeCanio recognizes that economic agents are intrinsically free and somewhat unpredictable, which is essential for economic and social theory.

Chapter 1 takes a close look at a unique and state-of-the-art dynamic structural public housing macroeconomic model (DSPHM) based on an open economy for several key macroeconomic variables: actual and expected as well as the demand for new HDB flats sold. This Chapter readily adopts the DSPHM for simulating two scenarios: namely, a no-change first scenario and a public housing deregulation second scenario. Chapter 2 explores the relationship between several economic factors and the demand for public housing in Singapore and Hong Kong, deploying the innovative and versatile system dynamics model to shed better understanding on the policy implications of assisted ownership housing.
