Dalzell Jr., Lee Baldwin Dalzell, 2000-02-24 George Washington's Mount Vernon brings together for the first time the details of Washington's 45 year endeavor to build and perfect Mount Vernon In doing so it introduces us to a Washington few of his contemporaries knew and one little noticed by historians since Here we meet the planter patriot who also genuinely loved building a man passionately human in his desire to impress on his physical surroundings the stamp of his character and personal beliefs As chief architect and planner of the countless changes made at Mount Vernon over the years Washington began by imitating accepted models of fashionable taste but as time passed he increasingly followed his own ideas Hence architecturally as the authors show Mount Vernon blends the orthodox and the innovative in surprising ways just as the new American nation would Equally interesting is the light the book sheds on the process of building at Mount Vernon and on the people slave and free who did the work Washington was a demanding master and in their determination to preserve their own independence his workers often clashed with him Yet as the Dalzells argue that experience played a vital role in shaping his hopes for the future of American society hope that embraced in full measure the promise of the revolution in which he had led his fellow citizens George Washington's Mount Vernon thus compellingly combines the two sides of Washington's life the public and the private and uses the combination to enrich our understanding of both Gracefully written with more than 80 photographs maps and engravings the book tells a fascinating story with memorable insight Lengthening Shadows Bob Franklin, 2020-12-29 The master of creeping unease and unrelenting consequences is back The vain and the cruel the indifferent and the excessive across ten tales of cut corners and grubby compromise Bob Franklin turns his fairground mirror on contemporary Australia with a cast of characters navigating modern life and trying to get by get on and get away with whatever they can whatever the cost A gaggle of comedians exchange escalating jokes about a needy fan A small business owner delights in making top dollar off uncomprehending customers A widower finds solace in a new dog that gives focus and purpose to his rage and grief In 60s London a rock band rise and rise aided by occult forces from another place After dinner stories in an elite gentleman s club turn to impossible murder and skullduggery in an Australian mining company Gleefully macabre drily menacing chillingly acute Franklin spares nobody Fiction Index Three Gerald Brooks Cotton,1988
