Long March To Power A History Of The:

A Military History of the Cold War, 1944-1962 Jonathan M. House, 2014-04-28 The Cold War did not culminate in World War III as so many in the 1950s and 1960s feared yet it spawned a host of military engagements that affected millions of lives This book is the first comprehensive multinational overview of military affairs during the early Cold War beginning with conflicts during World War II in Warsaw Athens and Saigon and ending with the Cuban Missile Crisis A major theme of this account is the relationship between government policy and military preparedness and strategy Author Jonathan M House tells of generals engaging in policy confrontations with their governments political leaders among them Anthony Eden Nikita Khrushchev and John F Kennedy many of whom made military decisions that hamstrung their own political goals In the pressure cooker atmosphere of atomic preparedness politicians as well as soldiers seemed instinctively to prefer military solutions to political problems And national security policies had military implications that took on a life of their own The invasion of South Korea convinced European policy makers that effective deterrence and containment required building up and maintaining credible forces Desire to strengthen the North Atlantic alliance militarily accelerated the rearmament of West Germany and the drive for its sovereignty In addition to examining the major confrontations nuclear and conventional between Washington Moscow and Beijing including the crises over Berlin and Formosa House traces often overlooked military operations against the insurgencies of the era such as French efforts in Indochina and Algeria and British struggles in Malaya Kenya Cyprus and Aden Now more than fifty years after the events House describes understanding the origins and trajectory of the Cold War is as important as ever By the late 1950s the United States had sent forces to Vietnam and the Middle East setting the stage for future conflicts in both regions House s account of the complex relationship between diplomacy and military action directly relates to the insurgencies counterinsurgencies and confrontations that now occupy our attention across the globe

Power in the PRC Gotelind Mueller, 2013-10-30 Documentaries have recently become a favourite format for Chinese state directed media to present an officially sanctioned view of history. Indeed this is not confined to Chinese national history. In stark contrast to the earlier self-centred preoccupation with Chinese history there has been an upsurge in interest in foreign history with a view to illuminating China's role not only in world history but also on the global stage today and in the future. This book examines three recent Chinese documentary television series which present the officially sanctioned view of the rise of the modern West, the reasons for the end of the Soviet Union and the legitimisation of the present day Chinese government via a specific reading of modern Chinese history to argue for a Chinese rise in the future. With a focus on these documentaries Gotelind Mueller discusses how history is presented on screen and explores the function of visual history for memory culture and wider society. Further this book reveals how the presentation of Chinese and foreign history in a global framework impacts on the officially transmitted views on Self and Other and thus provides a keen insight into how the Chinese themselves regard their global rise. Documentary World History and National Power in the PRC will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a number of fields including Chinese studies, East Asian studies, media studies, television studies, history and memory studies Rebellions and Revolutions Jack Gray, 2003-04-03 This is a study of

China from the 1800s to the present day. It focuses on China's problems of development, the decay and collapse of the Chinese Empire, its failure to recover in the first half of the twentieth century and its rapid emergence in world affairs since the Communist Party Revolution of 1949. This new edition examines economic growth, updates Chinese foreign policy, provides a revised account of the Tiananmen Incident and brings the chronology completely up to date Contemporary

Goods, Power, History Arnold J. Bauer,2001-04-30 Why do we acquire the things we do Behind this apparently ingenuous question are several answers some straightforward and others more interesting To feed ourselves might be the first response for we can easily see that we expend much energy in the quest for food Clothing and shelter as well would seem to constitute our basic needs Yet we quickly see that even in the Garden of Eden people want more than they need This simple impulse has created the ever mounting abundance we call progress and nearly all of the subsequent trouble on our planet Four main interwoven themes run through this exploration of material culture and consumption in Latin America over the past five centuries supply and demand the relationships between consumption and identity the importance of ritual both ancient and modern in what we buy and the relationship between colonial and post colonial power in consumption

Revolutionary Power in China , China: A Political History, 1917-1980 Richard C. Thornton, 2019-08-27 It is the purpose of this work to provide an integrated analytical framework that will serve as a guide to further study of the vast and complex subject of Chinese Communist politics The outpouring of materials from U S Soviet Chinese Communist and Chinese Nationalist sources in recent years has greatly enriched our fund of knowledge about China For the historian of Chinese politics the new data have provided answers to hitherto unresolved problems and raised questions about seemingly settled issues Although it is now possible to piece together the main outlines of the struggle for power in China obviously no single volume can presume to encompass all aspects of the story China Michael Dillon, 2010-07-30 China s transformation in the last few decades has been perhaps the most remarkable and most controversial development in modern history Barely a century removed from the struggling and outdated Qing Empire China has managed to reinvent itself on an unprecedented scale from Empire to Communist state to hybrid capitalist superpower Yet the full implications of China's rapid march to modernity are not widely understood particularly the effects of China's meteoric rise on the nation's many ethnic minorities China A Modern History is the definitive guide to this complex contemporary phenomenon Deng Xiaoping's 1980s policy of reform and opening which saw China enter the world market is only the most recent in a series of dramatic shifts that have transformed Chinese society over the past 150 years China A Modern History explores these contrasts in detail while also highlighting the enduring values which have informed Chinese identity for millennia Michael Dillon's China A Modern History is essential reading for those interested in the past present and future course of one of the world's great nations Clearly and compellingly written this will stand as the best introduction to this spectacular and still unfinished story A Commentary on the Holy Bible John Roberts Dummelow, 1909 From People's War to People's Rule Timothy J. Lomperis, 2000-11-09 Timothy Lomperis persuasively argues the ironic point that the lessons of American involvement in Vietnam are not to be found in any analysis of the war by itself Rather he proposes a comparison of the Vietnam experience with seven other cases of Western intervention in communist insurgencies during the Cold War era China Indochina Greece the Philippines Malaya Cambodia and Laos Lomperis maintains that popular insurgencies are manifestations of crises in political legitimacy which occur as a result of the societal stresses caused by modernization Therefore he argues any intervention in a people's war will succeed or fail depending on how it affects this crisis The unifying theme in the cases Lomperis discusses is the power of land reform and electoral democracy to cement political legitimacy and therefore deflect revolutionary movements Applying this theory to the ongoing Sendero Luminoso insurgency in Peru Lomperis makes a qualified prediction of that conflict's outcome He concludes that a global trend toward democratization has produced a new era of people's rule Japan, the New World-power Robert Percival Porter, 1915
