by recognizing the significance of the pragmatic and theoretic implications of this inquiry Dilemmas Of American Self John Hewitt, 2010-04-29 A theory about what it means to be an individual within contemporary American society Folklife Annual, 1985 From Paesani to White Ethnics Stefano Luconi, 2001-02-01 Examines the transformations of Italian American ethnic identity in twentieth century Philadelphia Service Clubs in American Society Jeffrey A. Charles, 1993 Placing the clubs in the context of twentieth century middle class culture Charles maintains that they represented the response of locally oriented traditional middle class men to societal changes The groups emerged at a time when service was becoming both a middle class and a business ideal As voluntary associations they represented a shift in organizing rationale from fraternalism to service The clubs and their ideology of service were welcome as a unifying force at a time when small cities and towns were beset by economic and population pressures John Dewey and the Challenge of Classroom Practice Stephen M. Fishman, Lucille Parkinson McCarthy, 1998 The first systematic exploration of Deweyan pedagogy in an actual classroom since studies of Dewey's own Laboratory School at the turn of the century In Part I using accessible language Stephen Fishman discusses Dewey's educational theory in the context of Dewey's ideology and process philosophy In Part II Fishman joins composition specialist Lucille McCarthy to examine his own Introduction to Philosophy class In doing so the authors model a collaborative form of practitioner inquiry and bring to life such complex Deweyan concepts as student curriculum integration interest and effort and continuity and interaction Capitalizing Religion Craig Martin, 2014-09-25 Talk of spirituality and individual religion is proliferating both in popular discourse and scholarly works Increasingly people claim to be spiritual but not religious or to prefer individual religion to organized religion Scholars have for decades noted the phenomenon primarily within the middle class of individuals picking and choosing elements from among various religious traditions forming their own religion or spirituality for themselves While the topics of spirituality and individual religion are regularly treated as self evident by the media and even some scholars of religion Capitalizing Religion provides one of the first critical analyses of the phenomenon arguing that these recent forms of spirituality are in many cases linked to capitalist ideology and consumer practices Examining cases such as Eckhart Tolle's The Power of Now and Karen Berg's God Wears Lipstick Craig Martin ultimately argues that so called individual religion is a religion of the status quo or more critically an opiate of the bourgeoisie Capitalizing Religion Ideology and Opiate of the Bourgeoisie is a landmark publication in critical religious studies The Chaldeans Yasmeen Hanoosh, 2019-05-30 Modern Chaldeans are an Aramaic speaking Catholic Syriac community from northern Iraq not to be confused with the ancient Mesopotamian civilization of the same name First identified as Chaldean by the Catholic Church in the sixteenth century this misnomer persisted developing into a distinctive and unique identity In modern times the demands of assimilation in the US together with increased hostility and sectarian violence in Iraq gave rise to a complex and transnational identity Faced with Islamophobia in the US Chaldeans were at pains to emphasize a Christian identity and appropriated the ancient pre Islamic history of their namesake as a means of distinction between them and other immigrants from Arab lands In this the first ethnographic history of the modern Chaldeans Yasmeeen Hanoosh explores these ancient modern inflections in contemporary Chaldean identity discourses the use of history as a collective commodity for developing and sustaining a positive community image in the present and the use of language revival and monumental symbolism to reclaim association with Christian and pre Christian traditions

Dressing with Purpose Carrie Hertz,2021-12-21 Dress helps us fashion identity history community and place Dress has been harnessed as a metaphor for both progress and stability the exotic and the utopian oppression and freedom belonging and resistance Dressing with Purpose examines three Scandinavian dress traditions Swedish folkdr kt Norwegian bunad and S mi g kti and traces their development during two centuries of social and political change across northern Europe By the 20th century many in Sweden worried about the ravages of industrialization urbanization and emigration on traditional ways of life Norway was gripped in a struggle for national independence Indigenous S mi communities artificially divided by national borders and long resisting colonial control rose up in protests that demanded political recognition and sparked cultural renewal Within this context of European nation building colonial expansion and Indigenous activism traditional dress took on special meaning as folk national or ethnic minority costumes complex categories that deserve reexamination today Through lavishly illustrated and richly detailed case studies Dressing with Purpose introduces readers to individuals who adapt and revitalize dress traditions to articulate who they are proclaim personal values and group allegiances strive for sartorial excellence reflect critically on the past and ultimately reshape the societies they live in Diaspora in the Countryside Royden Loewen,2006-01-01 From the 1930s to the 1980s the North American countryside faced a profound cultural transformation in which a once unified rural society became fragmented and dispersed Families wishing to remain on the farm were required to accept new levels of automation while others unwilling or unable to make the change migrated to nearby towns or regional cities The cultural reformulation that resulted saw the emergence of a genuine rural diaspora The growing cultural and physical separation was especially true for close knit ethno religious communities Mennonites in particular Forced into regional cities the kaleidoscopic urban culture further fragmented the Mennonites into disparate social entities In Diaspora in the Countryside the phenomena of rural fragmentation is examined by comparing and contrasting two closely related but distinctive Dutch Russian Mennonite communities located in different parts of the continent Kansas and Manitoba respectively By systematically comparing these communities two distinctive responses to the mid twentieth century Great Disjuncture are made apparent Royden Loewen also contrasts the cultural changes of these farm families to the cultures their kin adopted in nearby towns and cities Loewen charts not only the dispersion of two rural communities but follows their former residents as they reformulate their lives in new settings Tokyo Life, New York

Performing Action Joseph R. Gusfield,2015-03-31 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricouer Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory The Rise and Fall of the Ethnic Revival Joshua A. Fishman, Michael H. Gertner, Esther G. Lowy, William G.
