New Nationalisms and China's Belt and Road Initiative Julien Rajaoson, R. Mireille Manga Edimo, 2022-10-29 This book is a treatise on cultural globalization and the global political economy. By introducing the transnational public domain in the study of China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI), the book goes beyond existing theoretical frameworks involving both the clash between civilizations and the time-worn division of the world into North and South. It advances a new focus on the theoretical and empirical elements that canvass global cultural behaviours and reactionary attitudes to the expanding Chinese economic norms, cultures and values in different national contexts. Readers of political theory, global political economy, globalization, international relations, political sociology, cultural sociology, public policy and foreign policy analysis will find interest in the book. Whereas new nationalism couples with globalism, both concepts are rediscovered through various socio-economic contexts of BRI policy discourses which produce conflicts, solidarities, new economic partnerships and cooperation and resistance as types of contemporary nationalism. The new nationalism is approached as a dual-sided relational and dialectical phenomenon which readers will capture by paying particular attention to both the global and local scales of the social responses to the BRI.

Critical Landscape Planning during the Belt and Road Initiative Ashley Scott Kelly, Xiaoxuan Lu, 2021-09-29 This open access book traces the development of landscapes along the 414 kilometer China-Laos Railway, one of the first infrastructure projects implemented under China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and which is due for completion at the end of 2021. Written from the perspective of landscape architecture and intended for planners and related professionals engaged in the development and conservation of these landscapes, this book provides history, planning, pedagogy and interdisciplinary framing for working alongside the often opaque planning, design and implementation processes of large-scale infrastructure. It complicates simplistic notions of development and urbanization frequently reproduced in the Laos-China frontier region. Many of the projects and sites investigated in this book are recent firsts in Laos: Laos's first wildlife sanctuary for trafficked endangered species, its first botanical garden and its first planting plan for a community forest. Most often the agents and accomplices of neoliberal development, the planning and design professions, including landscape architecture, have little dialogue with either the mainstream natural sciences or critical social sciences that form the discourse of projects in Laos and comparable contexts. Covering diverse conceptions and issues of development, including cultural and scientific knowledge exchanges between Laos and China, nature tourism, connectivity and new town planning, this book also features nine planning proposals for Laos generated through this research initiative since the railway's groundbreaking in 2016. Each proposal promotes a wider landscape approach to development and deploys landscape architecture's spatial and ecological acumen to synthesize critical development studies with the planner's capacity, if not naive predilection, to intervene on the ground. Ultimately, this book advocates the cautious engagement of the professionally oriented built environment disciplines, such as regional planning, civil engineering and landscape architecture, with the landscapes of development institutions and environmental NGOs Road Funds and Road Maintenance Asian Development Bank,2003 Singling out roads as an important factor in economic development this report presents the findings of a regional technical assistance inquiry carried out to examine the problem of road funding in Asia with the aim of proposing case specific solutions Particular attention is paid to the data collected during road assessments performed in the Kyrgyz Republic Pakistan Uzbekistan and Vietnam Also discussed are a number of possible strategies for combating road maintenance neglect across Asia The Belt And Road Initiative In The Global Context Linggui Wang,Jianglin Zhao,2019-05-16 This book explores a wide range of topics related to the policies and implementation of the BRI The topics include the associated risks and challenges new opportunities for multilateral cooperation and approaches to promoting the BRI among participating countries The book analyzes how people and governments in Russia Egypt Pakistan the US Malaysia Turkey Singapore India and 22 other countries respond to the BRI and BRI s impact on the dynamics of national regional and global development The book s chapters are based on papers presented at the International Symposium of the Belt and Road Initiative in the Global Perspective co organized by the National Institute for Global Strategy of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and Beijing Foreign Studies University in Beijing A total of 39 experts from more than 30 countries have contributed to this book Woman's Work for Woman ,1902
